Peruvian Quake: 55 Seconds to Strike, Years to Recover

CALLAO, Peru (AP) — It took nature only 55 seconds to strike the Peruvian port of Callao a blow from which it won't recover for years.

At 4:42 p.m. Monday, Callao was bustling with the activity that goes with being Peru's major seaport and the maritime gateway to Lima, seven miles to the east.

By 4.53, the shock wave from a massive earthquake a few miles offshore had struck the city with unbelievable force and 32 persons were dead or dying. Most were children crushed when roofs of the makeshift huts in the slums known as barriadas collapsed.

More than 70 persons were hospitalized. Another 250 had minor inuries.

Glass, plaster and walls of buildings tumbled into the streets or collapsed inward, trapping some residents.

Panic spread, then mounted as a rumor flashed through the city that a tidal wave was rushing toward the coast. There was a tidal wave, but it headed out into the Pacific, not inland, and dissipated.

Pedestrians were warned away from buildings with gaping cracks in the walls along the main street. Homeowners and shopkeepers swept up glass and plaster and piled debris at the curb to wait the refuse trucks.

Life was returning to normal today. But the cracks in the buildings remained, foretelling widespread demolition that will be necessary as the damage is catalogued.

The quake was Peru's most savage in years. By unofficial count, 101 were killed and 1,000 injured, but casualty reports were incomplete. The U.S. Embassy in Lima said no Americans were among the killed or injured.

Was Once Beehive of Activities

Plan Demolition For UR Projects

Downtown buildings which were beehives of activity during the lush industrial years of the Delaware and Hudson canal, of thriving railroads, bluestone, limestone and brick industries, will in the near future no longer stand as reminders of an era which built a city.

They are to go down to make way for the urban renewal which lies ahead, and as decadent as some of them have become they will be missed.

Blighted By Fire

Among them is the sturdy former Cornell building on Ferry Street, which last July was blighted by more than time when it was damaged by an incendiary fire. It had been acquired by the County of Ulster and was once considered for housing its Welfore Department. It is to go down because it is on the site of the Broadway East urban renewal project, and was most recently sold to the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

The late Joseph F. Sullivan, former city historian, and an employe of The Freeman for most of his life, in a 1960 Freeman article remembered it well. He then wrote:

"As I read about the Ulster County Welfare Department arranging to occupy quarters in the Cornell Building on Ferry Street at the foot of Broadway, there came to me many memories of younger days.

"What a beehive of activity that office building was at the peak of the Cornell and Coykendall interests. Many of them were founded by Thomas Cornell, and continued and expanded by his son-in-law, Samuel D. Coykendall, and his six sons, while others were founded by S. D. Coykendall himself.

"In this building were the headquarters of the Cornell Tow-

Vols Schedule September March

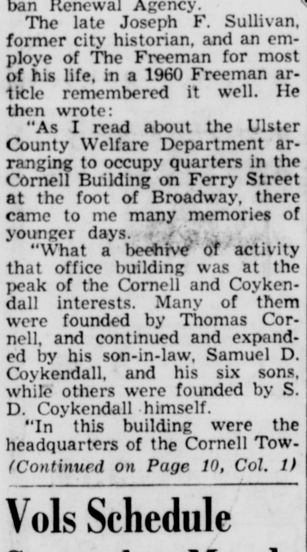

Due to heavy traffic conditions which exist in the Ellenville area, the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night voted to hold the annual county firemen's parade Sept. 9, after Labor Day, but to hold its annual convention business session in July.

Twenty-five fire companies voted for the change and seven opposed. The annual banquet and entertainment will be held on Thursday, Sept. 7. No place has been decided upon at this time.

Still Climbing

A total of $179,055 has been pledged to date for the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest campaign.

Pledges represent 59.7 per cent of the goal set at $299,600, leaving an outstanding balance of $120,545.

NEW YORK (AP)—"They got him out didn't they? He's all right isn't he?" The fireman's wife asked. Her voice was convulsed with fear and her eyes already hated the answer that she knew would come.

But there was no reply. Without speaking, the other firemen's faces dropped and Virginia Galnaugh collapsed against the chest of one of her husband's friends.

Father, Now Husband

Twelve years ago, it had been her father, fireman Vincent John Laurance, who had died in a choking tenement fire. Now it was her husband, James, who was dead, one of the 12 firefighters killed Tuesday in the department's worst disaster.

Galnaugh, a quiet man who liked to give guitar lessons in his free time, left an 11-month-old son. Fifty other children lost their fathers in the seething basement of a 19th - century Broadway commercial building where the fire raged with blast-furnace force for almost 12 hours.

"Grief is grief," said Msgr. Merritt E. Yeager, the department's senior chaplain. "There is no easy way to explain tragedy. We tried to break the news softly."

Fire-Fighting Family

Grief came with special force for the parents of rookie Daniel L. Rey, 26, who was answering his first alarm. He had grown up in a fire-fighting family that included his brother, Thomas, and his father, Alfred, a fireman for 30 years and now curator of the department museum.

"I'm doing great," Rey had told his mother Monday, "but I haven't had the Big Fire yet."

The cause of the fire still was

War Critics Join Wellington Turnout

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — President Johnson got a colorful but restrained welcome to New Zealand today after leaving American soil 8,000 miles from Washington in exotic Pago Pago, a South Seas beauty spot never before visited by a U.S. chief executive.

Johnson's crowd in this capital city of New Zealand was quite small by campaign standards back home, numbering in the thousands rather than the tens of thousands. But the crowds were friendly and often enthusiastic.

Expression of Friendship

For the President, the New Zealand stop represented an expression of friendship for a longtime U.S. ally and a return visit to a country where he spent some time as a Navy officer during World War II.

Pago Pago, in American Samoa, afforded Johnson an opportunity to call attention to a tiny island that he regards as a showplace for what can be done to boost the fortunes of a poor and rather primitive people.

By all odds, the Samoan stopover was the most colorful yet during the President's journey, which will take him to at least five more countries during the next 15 days.

Honolulu Crowds Biggest

The biggest crowd turned out Monday in Honolulu, where perhaps 200,000 people gave Johnson a warm sendoff on his Asian "mission of hope" to meet with allies in the Viet Nam war and discuss prospects for a prospering, peaceful Asia after the guns fall silent.

Along those showing up for the President's arrival motorcade in Wellington were several hundred critics of the war, waving placards expressing their dissent. At one point along the route they filled nearly a full block.

With wife Lady Bird at his side, Johnson first set foot in New Zealand at the Ohakea air

Torraca Calling Some on Friday, Children Victims

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca said today that an Ulster County Grand Jury will investigate a fire that destroyed a frame building on the Harold Wold farm on Willow Tree Road, Milton, claiming the lives of two children.

Others Next Week

The district attorney said some witnesses will be heard by the grand jury on Friday and others will be called next week to probe the deaths of Anna Marie Clark, 4, and her brother, Raymond (Randy) Clark, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, employes at the Wold farm.

Coroner William S. Keyser gave a verdict of accidental death due to esphyxiation and third degree burns.

The two children were in the living quarters of their parents on the farm at the time the fire broke out Monday morning. It was reported that wooden matches was found beneath the bodies.

Funeral Held Today

William Eckrot discovered the fire as he was working in the farm's packing house and smelled smoke. State Police investigated the fatal blaze.

Funeral services for the two children were held at 11 a. m. today at the Milton Methodist Church.

Governor Unveils Plans for $5 Million Heart Research Institute in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— Gov. Rockefeller unveiled plans for a 5 - million Institute for Heart Research to be located here as he campaigned in western and northern New York today.

The institute, Rockefeller said would be adjacent to Roswell Park Memorial Institute, the state's cancer-research center.

The Republican governor's announcement highlighted the second day of a three-day Upstate campaign swing —the last major effort Rockefeller plans in the Upstate area before the Nov. 8 election.

Setting a sizzling pace in his quest for a third term, the governor's schedule listed stops today in Fulton, Lowville, and Watertown, following morning visits with labor leaders and newspaper executives here.

Thursday, Rockefeller's schedule calls for stops in Binghamton, Bainbridge and Norwich before returning to New York City Thursday night.

The itinerary followed a vigorous 15 - hour jaunt Tuesday that began in New York City and included major appearances in Rochester and Syracuse before ending here about midnight.

In Rochester, the governor was cheered by endorsements from labor leaders representing about 60,000 members. Included was that of the 40,000-member State Conference of Musicians, AFL-CIO and 12 Rochester area local unions.

The 58 - year -old governor stoutly defended his administration's attack on water-pollution and held that critics— notably his Democratic opponent Frank D. O'Connor, — were not accurate in assessing the project.

Rockefeller indicated that the state's future tax picture would depend on the amount of increased state aid to education. A secondary factor, the governor said, might be the anti-narcotics program.

But Rockefeller was explicit in saying that he would not commit himself one way or the other on taxes.

"I did that once," he said, referring to his pledge in 1962 not to raise taxes. A pledge the Democrats have recalled frequently during this campaign.

Syria Recruiting, Tries To Ease Border Tensions

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian government began recruiting civilians today for a volunteer defense army against Israel, but diplomatic sources reported it also has given private assurances it will try to halt terrorist commando raids into Israel.

Spark Debates, Threats

Guerrilla raids by Assifa — Forces of the Tempest — commandos based in Syria have sparked a debate in the U.N. Security Council and threats and counterthreats by Israel and Syria that the border tension could plunge the Middle East into war.

Diplomatic sources here said the assurances that Syria would try to curb the raids came only a day after Syrian Premier Youssef Zayyen declared Oct. 11 that Syria had no intention of curbing the commandos.

Nerves Remain Taut

The Syrian government called for civilians to volunteer for a defense army as the Middle East's war of nerves remained taut.

"Following recent aggressive threats by Israel we call upon the citizens to volunteer to carry arms in a popular defense army which will share with the regular armed forces the honor of defending Syria against any aggression," Damascus radio said Tuesday night in a series of broadcasts.

Tension High on Border

It said 20 recruiting centers would open in the capital today.

Tension continued high along the Syrian-Israeli border, scene of a series of incidents in the past two weeks. In New York the U.N. Security Council was debating an Israeli charge that Syria is trying to incite a new Arab war against Israel.

Despite supervision by a U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission, the boundary between the two countries has been the scene of increasing air, ground and sea incidents during the last year. Both sides accuse the other of aggression.

Israel blames the Palestinian terrorist organization Assifa for many of the attacks and charges it is supported by the Syrian government.

On July 14 Israeli planes attacked a Syrian post in retaliation for repeated Assifa attacks. A subsequent Syrian request for a Security Council resolution condemning Israel for the attack failed by three votes.

Syrian jets and Israeli patrol boats clashed in a brief battle in the Sea of Galilee Aug. 15. After several communiques both sides agreed to a cease-fire.

Scores of lesser incidents have been reported in the past 12 months.

Israel went to the Security Council last week after an anti-tank mine laid by Arab infiltrators killed four Israeli border policemen Oct.8. Israel charged Syria is openly inciting other Arab states to make war on her by sending guerrillas into Israeli territory on missions of murder and sabotage.

The 12-nation Arab bloc countered with a charge that Israel was trying to use the council to create a suitable atmosphere for aggression against Syria.

Panel Airs Proposal On Housing

Proposed Local Law 11 designed to eliminate sub-standard housing in the city was the subject of a lively discussion during a well-attended meeting Tuesday night sponsored by the Kingston Commission on Human Relations.

The meeting was held at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway.

The law was presented by Vernon Murphy, Corporation Counsel, and a panel of experts: Harold Larson from the Department of Welfare; Guido Napolitano, attorney; Harold O'Connor, realtor; George Radcliff, building inspector; William Ryan, Housing Code Commission and Harry Rigby, banker. The meeting was chaired by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, chairman of the Kingston Human Relations Commission.

Bill Read, Explained

The bill was read and explained in detail to the audience by Murphy. Basically, the legislation provides that a tax be assessed against sub-standard housing in an amount sufficient to remove violations affecting the health, welfare or safety of the tenants. If the tax is paid the city uses the money to rehabilitate the premises. If the tax is not paid the city can foreclose the tax lien and apply for a receiver of the premises. During the receivership the gross rents of the property will be used to remove violations or repay loans incurred in this connection. In the meantime the premises are taken off the tax rolls and the tenants, as long as they take care of the property and pay the rent are not subject of dispossess without a permit from the Building Department.

The bill was originated by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan

Store Magnate Dies; Infirmities of Age

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Sebastian S. Kresge, millionaire chain store owner, died at East Stroudsburg General Hospital Tuesday night at age 99.

A hospital spokesman said Kresge, who retired as board chairman of the Kresge chain earlier this year, died of infirmities of age. He had been in the hospital since July.

Kresge, once a Pennsylvania Dutch farm boy, will be interred in a $75,000 mausoleum he had built two years ago outside nearby Kresgeville — a town named for the Kresge family.

A company spokesman said all 930 Kresge stores in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico will be closed Friday when funeral services will be held from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Methodist church in Mountainhome, Pa.

Kresge's life was marked by frugality.

"I've never spent more than 30 cents a day for lunch in my life and it hasn't killed me," he once told a newsman.

As a philanthropist, the man who entered the dime store business with $8,000 and left it with more than $200 million contributed up to $65 million to his own foundation.

Kresge was born July 31, 1867, on a farm near Bald Mount, Pa., where, at the age of 14, a neighbor gave him a beehive.

In five years the youngster had five beehives, and gave the profits to his father. During the depression years of the 1890's, Kresge restored rusty stoves and managed to save $8,000.

He invested this in a store with J.G. McCrory in Memphis, Tenn. A year later, they bought a store in Detroit, and in 1899, Kresge traded his share in the Memphis store for complete control of the Detroit branch. This was the beginning of the Kresge chain.

In 1924 Kresge divorced Anna

Cong Mauls Viets In Mekong Battle

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist forces badly mauled South Vietnamese troops in a Mekong Delta battle today as seven Cabinet resignations shook the government in Saigon.

About 1,500 government troops were locked in heavy but inconclusive fighting against an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong 105 miles southwest of Saigon. Viet Cong gunners shot down three U.S. Army Huey helicopters and damaged several others in the early stages of the battle, which started Tuesday.

Lull Persists Elsewhere

Elsewhere, the general lull persisted in ground fighting.

For the fourth straight day, monsoon rainstorms cut heavily into U.S. air blows over North Viet Nam Tuesday and American pilots flew only 44 bombing missions, about a quarter of the recent daily average.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said the Mekong Delta battle was continuing today with heavy contact. He said government casualties were moderate, indicating the South Vietnamese force was hard hit by the outnumbered Viet Cong.

After the U.S. helicopters supporting the South Vietnamese were hit, South Vietnamese Skyraider fighter-bombers were called in to bomb and strafe the vast marshland area long dominated by the Viet Cong.

Jets, Allies Rake Area

Then U.S. Super Sabre jets joined the attack, and 38 allied planes raked the area.

U.S. B52 bombers struck today at North Vietnamese base camps and assembly areas just south of the demilitarized zone in northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Pilots attacking North Viet Nam Tuesday flew about 150 individual strikes, well below the 400 to 500 sorties they were flying daily less than a week

HAA Letter Notes Local Authority Must Decide Bids

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville), today released a copy of a letter sent to the Kingston Housing Authority by the Housing Assistance Administration in New York City, which, Resnick says, completely supports his views on the controversy concerning the awarding of an electrical contract for the Rondout Gardens Urban Renewal Development.

Alexander Yosman, director of the local authority, had been quoted in the Freeman Oct. 13, as saying, "It is not our (KHA) responsibility to tell HAA what to approve or disapprove. We merely give them the facts and act on their recommendation."

Local Responsibility

Resnick had maintained that the primary responsibility was with the KHA and not the New York Federal office.

The issue revolves around a complaint to Resnick by Jack Goldstein, president of ERA Electrical Construction Corporation, the low bidder on electrical work on the Rondout Gardens Project, who said his bid was being rejected by KHA and awarded to the second low bidder, Whitman Electrical Company.

Resnick demanded a reason from the KHA in a letter of the 13th of October as to why ERA, as the lowest, responsible bidder, was not awarded the contract.

The fact that ERA was the lowest bidder was not questioned, its bid being some $3,000 under the Whitman bid. However,

RVCS Slates Vote Nov. 1 On New Rosendale School

Purchase of a 35-acre site in the Town of Rosendale for the construction of a new elementary school will be put before the voters of the Rondout Valley Ceneral School District Nov. 1.

It was originally intended by the school board to add on to the present Rosendale building and funds for the addition were approved in last November's bond issue vote. However, the needs of the Rondout Creek flood control project have made this solution impossible. A new site had to be found for the needed construction.

Many sites were studied by the Board of Education and the Citizens Building Committee, and the choices were narrowed down to two. These sites, located on Joppenbergh Mountain and on the Lucas Turnpike near the Cottekill intersection, were studied by a consulting engineer and the New York State Department of Education. The Joppenbergh Mountain location was rejected because it would be too costly to develop and would present a hazard to children, either on buses or walking to school.

The Lucas Turnpike site was Accord in New York City Strike, But...

Musicians' Dissatisfaction Spreads From Symphony Halls to Discotheques

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Musicians form symphonic halls to discotheque dance floors are threatening in increasing numbers to lay down their instruments if their demands for more money and better working conditions are not met.

Dissatisfaction has spread from New York's night clubs and show spots to San Francisco's Concert Hall and in many cabarets and opera houses the show hasn't gone on.

The result has been empty orchestra pits, darkened stages and 11th- hour bargaining.

Still to Be Ratified

In New York City, a strike by members of Local 802 of the of Musicians ended Tuesday night after the city's hotel association agreed to reduce their work week from six to five days and grant salary increases to a base pay of approximately $167.

The agreement, yet to be ratified by the membership, also provides arbitration of job security disputes, a major stumbling block.

During the two-day walkout the entertainment rooms and dance floors of some hotels were closed and Maurice Chevalier sang without accompaniment at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Members of the Philadelphia Orchestra have been on strike since their contract expired Sept. 15.

Twelve concerts in Philadelphia and one in Baltimore have been canceled. Orchestra members held a benefit concert Friday, led by conductor Leopold Stokowski, and raised $15,600 for the strike fund.

The members now make a minimum of $10,000 a year, plus a $2,000 recording fee, but they want $16,000 annually. The orchestra association has offered a five-year pact with a total minimum pay of $14,500 the last year. Negotiations have been sporadic.

Not All Unhappy

Musicians in the San Francisco Symphony threatened a strike two years ago and the season was reinstated only after the Musicians Union signed a three-year contract providing $190-a-week for a 30-week season. There have been indications of trouble when the contract expires.

Not all musicians are unhappy. Harmony was reported in Seattle, Wash., Boston, Los Angeles, Louisville, Ky., Atlanta, Tenn. Chicago, Detroit and Dallas, Tex.

Identify 3 Yank Fliers Held by North Vietnamese

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam today released pictures of three men who it said were U.S. pilots shot down during raids into North Viet Nam in the past two months.

Hanoi's Viet Nam News Agency identified the pilots in a caption as:

— Hubert E. Buchenan, 25, Lt. (j.g.) U.S. Navy, service number FV 3148, shot down Sept. 16 while flying an F4.

The Defense Department announced Sept. 19 that Air Force Lt. Hubert E. Buchanan was missing in action.

— U.S. Air Force Capt. Norman Louross Wells, 33, 355th Tactical Air Wing, shot down and captured in Quang Binh Province Aug. 12.

Birth Control Aid

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of Planned Parenthood — World Population says the Defense Department, with President Johnson's approval, will issue birth control devices to the wives of armed forces personnel who request them.

The program will begin Jan. 1, Alan Guttmacher, told the group at its 50th anniversary banquet Tuesday night.

He said President Johnson "has defined U.S. policy in this crucial area and has used his leadership to implement it."

Asks North Viets Counter Action On Bombing Halt

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States called on North Viet Nam Tuesday night to spell out what it would do if U. S. air attacks on the Communist state are called off.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg posed the challenge in the closing minutes of the General Assembly's marathon policy debate which has centered on the war in Viet Nam.

Issues Reply

Replying to Communist and nonaligned member states who have been calling for a halt in the bombing as an essential preliminary to any peace negotiations, Goldberg said:

"We have considered this advance and having considered it, we would like to know from Hanoi privately or publicly what would happen if we followed it."

Replying to Communist demands for a withdrawal of U. S. troops in Viet Nam, he said:

"We have said repeatedly that we do not seek a permanent military presence in Viet Nam and have offered to agree to a time schedule for supervised, phased withdrawal of all external forces — those of North Viet Nam as well as those of the United States."

Goldberg noted that the United States had made a commitment to a political solution of the Viet Nam issue and stands ready to enter into immediate talks whether they be formal or informal, public or private.

Offers First Step

"Similarly we have offered to take the first step toward deescalation: to order a prior end to all bombing of North Viet Nam the moment there is assurance that there would be a response from North Viet Nam," he said.

Goldberg said that the peace proposals the United States made before the assembly were genuine and "they remain open."

For four weeks, delegates from 108 member nations have chorused demands for an end to the fighting in Viet Nam. The tone of their speeches ranged from denunciations of the United States to appeals that Communist aggression be smashed in Southeast Asia.

The debate served as a sounding board for a variety of formulas designed to bring the issue from the battlefield to the bargaining table. There was no sign that any of them were acceptable to both sides in the struggle.

Trial Lawyers to Plan $2,500 Scholarship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York State Trial Lawyers Association has established a $2,500 law-school scholarship designed to bring more Negroes and Puerto Ricans into the legal profession.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey was among those participating Tuesday at a ceremony establishing the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship, in honor of the present solicitor general and former federal judge.

The association awarded an initial scholarship two years ago on an experimental basis to Emanuel A. Moore of Queens, a Negro, who completed New York Law School with honors and now is a lawyer in the Justice Department.

READING LESSON AT CP CENTER — Dr. John K. Local CP Center Figures In International Parley

BY JEAN F. DOLAN
Freeman Staff Writer

Experiences gathered at the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center at 400 Broadway figured in the third annual International Initial Teaching Alphabet Workshop and Conference held this year at Churchill College, Cambridge, England.

Dr. John K. Duffy who has been speech and hearing consultant at the local center since 1953 was one of the featured speakers at the international sessions and one of the few Americans chosen to participate. He spoke on The Role of ITA in the Development of Language and Speech in the Very Young Deaf and Hard of Hearing Child.

Meet With Pitman

A professor at Brooklyn College and a staff member at Lenox Hill and Kings County Hospitals, Dr. Duffy serves as consultant to a number of other CP centers. He has long been interested in the Initial Teaching Alphabet developed by St. James Pitman as it applies to aiding youngsters with speech and hearing difficulties. After extensive study of ITA including a meeting with Sir Pitman, he recommended it for use at the local treatment center.

The unique teaching method employs 44 symbols instead of the conventional 26 letter alphabet. The additional symbols aid the beginning reader in recognizing individual sounds. For example the 22 seperate ways of spelling the sound in "I", "eye" etc., is represented by only one ITA symbol.

The consistent spelling in ITA has been a boon to children in regular early reading classes and it has been noted that the transition to the traditional alphabet is made with little or no difficulty.

Improves Skills

With children suffering from speech and hearing problems, ITA has proven an excellent therapy to improve articulation and language skills. Dr. Duffy in his dissertation at the conference, cited the value of ITA as a symbol system which can be used for both speech training and as a foundation for learning all communication skills.

"A young hearing impaired child using ITA can, after early rudimentary language training, learn to read, speak and write simultaneously. Speech and language need not necessarily precede reading but may develop concurrently with it. Early training through ITA will accelerate the development of language and speech," he reported.

Provides More Material

In the case of children with articulation difficulties, Dr. Duffy noted, nonsense combinations are often used to work out particular speech problems. With ITA, the clinician can write out any number of these combinations with ITA, thus providing the child with a great variety of practice material.

Thus the local center for the treatment of handicapped children in Ulster and Greene Counties provides the most up-to-date methods available for dealing with speech and hearing problems, benefiting from an international exchange of ideas.

Peace Corpsmen In Nigeria Have Some Problems

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP) — With help from a local political crisis, U.S. Peace Corps members in Nigeria have won postponement of a cut in their living allowances. But some of them say their bosses still don't understand them.

Peace Corps Director Jack Hood Vaughn, who rushed to Nigeria three months ahead of schedule after the volunteers threatened to strike, announced Tuesday no changes would be made in living allowances "until the situation in Nigeria returns to normal."

Tribal hostilities are threatening to split the nation. Observers feel it will be a long time before local politics returns to normal.

The corps members threatened last month to strike after reports that their living allowance of about 149 a month would be cut $5 to $15. With about 700 volunteers, the mission in Nigeria is the second largest in the world.

Since his arrival Oct. 8, Vaughn has held 19 meetings with the volunteers. He plans several more before leaving Oct. 25 for South Korea.

He said Tuesday that the proposed cut in living allowances would be postponed because prices are fluctuating so rapidly in the current uncertain political situation that it is impossible to work out a formula based on the cost of living.

Made in Desperation

The volunteers said the strike threats were made "in desperation" to get policymakers in Washington to hear their complaints. They protested that decisions were being made without consulting workers in the field.

"I think the Peace Corps missed the point of protest," said Joe Foster, 23, of Carmel, Calif. "They have been treating us like high school kids."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 19, 1966

AMENDMENTS 1 AND 2

The purpose and effect of proposed Amendment No. 1 is to increase from $50 million to $75 million the amount of state debt authorized to finance construction of new industrial or manufacturing plants in New York State or for the acquisition, rehabilitation or improvement of former industrial or manufacturing plants in this state.

The New York Job Development Authority, which was created in 1962, makes loans to non-profit corporations to finance the industries.

Amendments No. 2 would permit monies from state guaranteed Authority bonds to be used anywhere in the state whether or not the employment situation is critical. In 1961 the Constitutional Amendment, which approved the $50 million borrowing authorization, included language to require that these industrial plant loans be used to provide additional employment in those areas of the state in which unemployment is or may hereafter become a critical problem.

Although the New York Job Development Authority seems to have ample borrowing capacity at this time, there is no assurance that in the near future that requests for loans will not increase.

The loans made at low interest are for the purpose of matching competitive conditions in other states. This should be done without regard to location of the industrial plant receiving the loan with New York State.

We should do everything possible to hold our present industries and to attract others to locate in the state.

We recommend support of both Amendments No. 1 and No. 2.

One of the worst traffic hazards is "hypothalamus exhaustion." We knew why when we learned that it meant falling asleep at the wheel.

TOPS AT THE WHEEL

Joe Snazzy was the best driver in his crowd; everybody said so. No one else could touch Joe when it came to bucking rush hour traffic and generally tooling around town. Joe was tops.

It wasn't that he drove fast. He'd never been caught speeding, not once. It was just that Joe was good at the wheel—kept his mind on his driving all the time, and acted like a shot to cash in on the brakes. He really handled that car of his.

There was just one thing about Joe Snazzy: he was over-confident. It got so he began depending on skill alone instead of skill plus judgment to get him out of tight squeezes. One day the squeeze was just a little too tight. Yep, Joe was the best driver in his crowd; everybody said so. They all miss him.

McNamara is optimistic about the way its' going in Viet Nam. Considering his earlier moments of optimism, that means things look pretty bad.

THE UFOS UNDER STUDY

By engaging the University of Colorado to undertake a thorough study of unidentified flying object sightings, the Air Force has done what it should have done quite a long time ago. Its unscientific and unimaginative program of keeping tabs on the UFOs has not been adequate to deal with phenomena observed by numerous people in many parts of the country over the past two decades.

A far more skilled and painstaking study of these persistent reports of strange objects in the sky is in order. This conclusion is not predicated on the belief that there really are "flying saucers" bearing visitants from elsewhere in the universe. Perhaps there are; perhaps not. The essential point is that when so many people see things that seem inexplicable in familiar terms, there ought to be a serious effort to get at the bottom of the matter.

Presumably the University of Colorado project under the direction of the well known physicist, Dr. Edward U. Condon, will be such an effort. Specialists in a variety of fields—astronomy, meteorology, psychiatry and so on—are to evaluate reports of UFO experiences over a 15-month period. Data on earlier reports also will be available to them for analysis.

Air Force sponsorship and financing of the study project may occasion some distrust, since the Air Force seems to have been entirely candid about the UFO sightings in the past. According to the plan, however, the university alone will be responsible for whatever conclusions are drawn. There seems no reason to think that any essential findings will be withheld. In any case, the initial report on these findings will be awaited with the greatest interest.

'These Days'

LET 'EM EAT EGGPLANT

Can it be that the Democrats are going to bat on election day with the slogan of "Let 'em eat cake"?

This query is prompted by a recent statement coming from Esther Peterson, President Lyndon Johnson's special assistant on consumer affairs, who has apparently never heard of Queen Marie Antoinette's role in touching off the French Revolution by suggesting that the Paris proletariat eat pastry if it couldn't get bread.

Mrs. Peterson's advice to the American housewife is to begin doing without meat and potatoes. "Variety and planning," she said, "is the key. Housewives want to buy and make the most for a dollar. They need to get off the old meat and potatoes routine. It's expensive."

So help me, this advice to give up meat seems to have passed without a murmur from the Republicans. The Peterson statement is, beyond any doubt, the most abject admission yet made that our contemporary economic policies have finally succeeded in burying the old American standard of living six feet deep. A nation that has been on a meat diet for practically the whole of its existence is now told, in effect, that it must turn to eggplant or some such substitute tricked up with continental European sauces. This might be all right if we could make the sauces, but we have no real talent along those lines. So the Peterson statement is just as empty-headed as Marie Antoinette's. The difference between Marie Antoinette's day and ours is that the French had some spunk. They reacted against the adice to live on cake by throwing the Queen out of office, so to speak. But our reaction against Mrs. Peterson's adjuration to do without hamburger is nil. The Democrats apparently think it is just another routine guideline. The Republicans are comatose. The only explanation for the failure of the Republicans to rise in wrath is that they have been out of office so long that they wouldn't recognize a good sirloin if they saw one.

Seriously, I think the whole country is going nuts. To combat inflation, learned economists solemnly propose that the way to cut down on spending is to suspend the seven per cent investment tax credit. The idea is that repeal of the credit will cause great industries to order fewer machine tools and to stop building new factories. So they may. But the cut-back, in the nature of things will begin to take effect a couple of years from now. The capital goods programs now under way will go merrily on, they have already been budgeted for. And it is fortunate that they will continue, for it is the upbeat of the investment cycle that keeps people in sufficient funds to function as consumers.

Two years hence the Vietnam War will either be over or it will have become an episode in a bigger war. In case it is over we will be entering the peace with no capital goods spending in the works to pick up the economy. Unemployment will be terrific. And prices, without an increase in productive capacity to bring them down, will be more inflationary than ever. In the event that Vietnam has become a bigger war, the government will be moving heaven and earth to get new investment going to support heavy war production. So the whole investment tax credit repeal idea makes no sense on any supposition.

Common sense would tell a half-demented woodchuck that the way to combat inflation is to stop creating new money. But the Administration economists go all around Robin Hood's barn to avoid offering in inflationary government spending. We are offered poultices and the cancer keeps on growing.

And just wait until we have an income tax increase next year. Since practically everybody outside the poverty program now has middle class wages, the tax increase cannot avoid hitting a majority of the people. The yell from high-price union labor for higher wages to sustain its "take-home" pay will be louder than the combined roars of all the lions in all the world's zoos. There will be strikes all over the place. And wage and price controls, with their inevitable inefficiency and stagnation, will soon follow.

H.L. Mencken, you should be alive today. The booboisie that you so enjoyed poking fun at now includes just about eerybody. And, speaking of zoos, you wouldn't know which side of the monkey house is which.

You Can Learn to Survive Effects of Catastrophes

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Major catastrophes in the form of hurricanes, fires and floods have always been with us, but ever since the threat of a thermonuclear explosion there has been a marked increase in public awareness of the need for disaster planning.

Early efforts at such planning stressed the evacuation of large segments of the population from target areas but the impracticability of such plans soon became apparent.

Another phase—the training of doctors and nurses in the operation of aid stations and emergency hospitals—has proved its worth in the handling of mass casualties resulting from the Texas City oil fire and several hurricanes.

The next step in disaster planning was the designation of shelter areas in large public buildings and the encouragement of home owners to build shelter areas on their property. As a necessary supplement to this program the Office of Civil Defense, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service, has prepared an excellent course in medical self-help.

In any major catastrophe many persons and family units will be, temporarily at least, cut off from professional medical service. The aim of the self-help program is to train at least one member of each family in the principles of emergency health care.

The materials for the course are available free of charge though state and local health departments for use by industrial organizations, churches, civic clubs, schools and other interested groups.

Originally this course of 11 lessons was built sufficient to train an instructor for the course, around a series of film strips. One short session is Sound films have now replaced the film strips. They are available in English and Spanish. The instructor's kit contains a projector and screen and other supplies, including a final examination and graduation certificates.

The lessons cover (1) radioactive fallout and shelter, (2) healthful living in emergencies, (3) artificial respiration, (4) bleeding and bandaging, (5) fractures and splinting, (6) transportation of the injured, (7) burns, (8) shock, (9) nursing care of the sick and injured (10) infant and child care and (11) emergency childbirth. Lesson 11 is optional.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT

NEW YORK (NEA)—A key thing about the New York governorship race is that some of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's old dogs are showing they can learn new tricks.

That they have brought off this feat accounts in large part for the justly heralded efficiency of Rockefeller's campaign for a third term effort which all soundings suggest now has him nose-to-nose with Democrat Frank D. O'Connor.

Last winter an influential New York Republican told this reporter:

"The governor is so far behind that we'll never get him elected again with the same old team doing the same old things. We need new people and fresh ideas."

Nobody called in Joseph Napolitan, practitioner of the new politics with its stress on spending pots of money for high quality polls and advertising. But, remarkably, the old hands all began acting as if they had taken a crash course at somebody's School for the New Politics. Says one of the crew:

"We spent many a sleepless night trying to figure out what to do to save the situation."

The package of campaign innovations they came up with would do credit to the brightest young specialist anywhere on the horizon. Though one or two Rockefeller veterans gave ground slowly, the acceptance of the package by all was a tribute to their flexibility.

The elements of the effort are now well-known—clever, amusing television spots which are on and off screen before the viewer knows he has been politicked; matching literature spread about in enormous volume; a fleet of highly mobile propoganda wagons, under constant, direct voice control from headquarters, which can strike in New York City wherever voters dare to gather in tempting numbers; area deputies, new organizational middlemen, who put fresh zip in an old party lineup.

Central selling point in all this is not Rockefeller the man but the governor's record. The television commercials, done by Jack Tinker and Partners, leave him out. The assumption is that the bloom is off the peach.

In fact, he still can turn on his old "hiya, fella!" charm with voters, but he himself is busy selling his record. The great goal is to persuade New Yorkers, especially the irritated upstate Republican variety, that state "medicaid," educational expansion and other programs are cheap at the price of his unpopular tax increases—and are inescapable in a time of rising needs.

All these doings since 1959, plus his divorce and remarriage and party conservatives' dislike of his liberalism, were supposed to have made the Democratic nominee in 1966 a living cinch. But O'Connor is in deep trouble.

Hardly a politician or observer in New York state can be found who thinks O'Connor can stage a needed blitz in the final weeks. They see his organizational disarray as incurable. They give him no big issues. And they find him wanting in political zing. One comment:

"He's coming across like a Queens district attorney."

The general judgment is that Rocky's carefully stretched-out string of union endorsements hurts O'Connor more than he admits.

Worst of all, of course, is the bite threatened by Liberal party nominee Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. into Democratic voting blocs. Nevertheless, one or two appraisers interpose caution. Though O'Connor has the shorts on money, he will try some kind of television saturation. He will hack at Roosevelt. Old Irish leaders to whom he is a last hope will press hard. And Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will give him a big closing push. In a race where wide popularity eludes all, O'Connor still could wind up ahead.

Discontent Can Hurt Party In Power During Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Discontent throughout the country at election time can hurt the party in power, and there's plenty of it accumulating today. But to call it "White Backlash" is misleading. For there's a "Black Backlash," too, and a "Housewife's Backlash." All this is reflected in the large number of Democratic voters who are classified in the polls today as "undecided" because they dislike to reveal their feelings. But many of them will be casting ballots in the Republican column when they get to the voting booth.

The causes of the nationwide discontent have not been accurately appraised by the Democratic leaders, including President Johnson. He rightly urges "tolerance" on the race issue, but apparently doesn't realize that racial prejudice, while considerable, is by no means the real cause of the prevalent unrest in America. Nor is "poverty" or "lack of education" or "slum conditions" or any of the other seemingly plausible reasons that have been offered as an explanation for the discontent.

Tolerance in South

As for "tolerance," "there are probably more Americans in the South who are "tolerant of Negroes than there are in the North. It depends, of course, on what is meant by "tolerance." The people of the South have lived with the Negroes for decades, and the many instances of deep friendship and assistance cannot be brushed off as exceptional or as relic of the "master and slave" relationship. Negroes who are good citizens and are considerate of others in the community get along with whites in the south, and the respect is mutual. Also, there are plenty of Negroes who deplore the street demonstrations and riots and the emphasis on racial consciousness such as has been intensified by cries for "Black Power."

The real cause of the friction today is that the federal government is trying to produce conformity by coercion — as, for instance, the enforced intergration of public schools by busing children to and from distant neighborhoods. "Open housing," which failed of passage in Congress this session, is as much resented in the rest of the country as in the South. Are all those who object "bigots" or "racists," or are they people who feel that the readjustment of Housing conditions cannot be worked out precipitately and has to take time?

The racial problem, however, is by no means the main factor in the so-called "backlash." Discontent over many other adverse developments in American life will be responsible for the defeat of certain members of Congress in both parties. The tendency naturally will be to vote against the "in's."

What is the "backlash" or protest movement really based upon? Here are some of the components that may turn millions of votes from the party in power:

First, there is the crime wave. People are fearful of attack in their own homes at night. Women are afraid to venture across the street to visit a neighbor. What has the administration done about it? Billions of dollars have been appropriated for social welfare, and some of the projects have been to a certain extent necessary. But many voters are asking: couldn't a few billions have been set aside for a nationwide system of law-enforcement especially concentrated in the state and local governments?

Discontent Substantial

Second, the Viet Nam war. This involves a mixed reaction. The discontent, however, is substantial. Although many voters think the administration has done as well as could be expected with this tough problem, others feel it has not been vigorous enough from the start. No war is ever popular with the voters.

Third, the cost of living stands out as a prime cause of unrest. Prices have risen and costly strikes have been called to try to keep up with the upward curve of living costs.

There are other grievances, but to blame it on racial friction and to describe the discontent as merely "white backlash" is to fail to see the forest for the trees in present-day politics.

Not always is the protest vote as big in off-year elections for Congress as it is in presidential-campaign years. It is clear that, if Mr. Johnson were running in November, he would have a hard time winning. Numerous polls support such an analysis.

It has been true in the past that the party in power loses ground when the nation is dissatisfied, discontented and disillusioned. The politicians mistakenly look to a few large blocs for support but forget the biggest bloc of all — the independent voters.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

A lot of students of journalism write in asking for the commandments of reporting. Mr. Stanley Walker, then city editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, wrote them in the summer of 1934. Like most commandments, they are ageless:

(1). Don't be afraid to try something that isn't in the book of rules.

(2). Observe the laws of good taste, something which is impossible of exact definition, but which most gentlemen and ladies know by instinct.

(3). Be fair. It is not sufficient for an article to be libel-proof. Try to get the other side of the story and tell it.

(4). Rarely is there such a thing as too much of a good story. When a chance comes let the readers have it fully and ungrudgingly.

(5). The lead should always be clear, provocative and simple. If it has a sharp adjective or adverb, so much the better. It should be a promise of things to come, and the promise should be fulfilled.

(6). News accounts are improved by quotes. Speech should be quoted exactly as spoken. Improvised quotes are a lazy reporter's way of covering up a lack of specific information.

(7). An important story doesn't have to be long. Don't pad it.

(8). Sentences and paragraphs should be short. Few writers can evolve a long newspaper sentence that flows and conveys its sense clearly.

(9). Select adjectives as you would a diamond or a mistress. To many are dangerous. Because one is as revealing as a lighting flash, don't think that ten will make the story ten times as good. Adjectivitis is as common among newspaper reporters as dipsomania—maybe more so.

(10). Do not be overly impressed when you get an important assignment. If so, it will show in your copy and you will be caught wandering in verbal flubdub.

(11). Go directly to the source of every story. It can't all be done with a typewriter. Use your legs. Most so-called Big Men are as approachable as a peasant and much more inclined to articulate their views.

(12). Leave no reasonable questions unanswered. Do not assume that the reader knows the background of the story. He he is no better informed than you make him.

(13). Be polite; be a gentleman. Do not behave as cinema reporters do. And yet, do not be servile. Few attitudes are more sickening, and such reporters should try other pastures.

(14). Get everything, including the last small details. If the Senator wears button shoes with plush tops, that's news. So is a wig.

(15). Don't be afraid to write facts on the assumption that "everybody knows that." Write it. Never permit a ball of lead to repose in your hip pocket.

(16). Most stories are improved by a time element. This doesn't mean that you should say an accident occurred at 2:15½ p. m., but it is laziness to say that it occurred "yesterday."

(17). Once you are satisfied with the lead, don't quit on the story. Each paragraph should blend naturally into the one that jerks, no interruption of thought. It can be well constructed that no editor can kill one phrase without injuring the product.

(18). Even if you have a degree from Oxford, never despise the homely, the familiar, the sweaty. The average reader should be able to identify with the story, and sometimes will say: "This could have happened to me."

(19). The ancient taboo of not mentioning products by name is passing. If a gambler is driving a Duesenberg, say so.

(20). The writing of obituaries is always difficult. There is rarely need to present the deceased as a saint or a monster. Be realistic, even salty, without being unfair. The dead man's friends should read it and be able to say: "That's Tom to the life."

(21). Never insult a race. Don't write "Four Italians were arrested." You can mention race, where it is necessary to the story, but not to hold it up to ridicule.

(22). Never write kittenish whimsy. Don't make dogs and elephants talk. A crow can count to three, but he doesn't know what it means.

(23). Don't abust the weapons of your trade.

Stanley Walker was a top-flight editor. So far as I can see, he forgot only one commandment: Get a job...

Old Diamondback Dies

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Oscar, reportedly the oldest rattlesnake in captivity, is dead at age 28.

The old diamondback died recently at the home of Dr. Herbert Hechenbleikner, head of the biology department of the University of North Carolina Here.

The San Diego Zoo verified Oscar's longevity record several years ago.

When to Duck, Often Problem

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Oswald: "It is mighty easy to recognize a situation which calls for a duck play where you hold the ace or ace and king of a suit. Players seem to miss them with less obvious holdings."

Jim: "Here is a case in point. I watch a pretty good player mangle this hand because he could not resist the impulse to capture East's jack of spades with his queen."

Oswald: "He could count three top tricks in hearts plus two in spades after he made that play. He needed to knock out both minor suit aces to get to nine and I suppose he made the wrong guess at trick two and led a club."

Jim: "That's exactly what he did. East took the trick with his ace and led a spade. South played the eight and West's nine forced dummy's ace. South took three club tricks and led a diamond whereupon West rose with his ace and set South with three spade tricks."

Oswald: "If South had started after diamonds instead of clubs he would have breezed home with the hand but the minor suit play at trick two was an absolute toss-up. The play at trick one was just an error."

Jim: "If South had recognized the unusual duck situation and let East hold that first trick he would have had no further problems. He would win the second spade and knock out either minor suit ace with safety. The only thing that could hurt him would be if West held both aces but in that case the chances are that West would have opened the bidding as dealer."

Lehigh to Operate Cross-Country Freight

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Lehigh Valley Railroad, in cooperation with the Norfolk and Western and the Union Pacific Railroads, plans to operate transcontinental freight trains, Lehigh's president said Tuesday night.

Buffalo will be a focal point of the new operation, John F. Nash told 200 members of the Buffalo Traffic Club at a dinner meeting here.

"These solid coast - to -coast freight trains will pick up from 24 to 48 hours on the present eight - day approximate schedules," he added.

Nash said the railroad was in the process of studying schedules and that "we should be in a position to announce them within the next two weeks."

Improve Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 4.2 million more families will soon have their mail delivered to their doorsteps.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said Monday he is rescinding a three-year-old ban on door-to-door mail delivery in many residential areas.

But his order will not affect some five million more homes where service is restricted to mail boxes at the curb because they are in more isolated areas or in subdivisions not sufficiently developed.

O'Brien says the local postmasters will determine where and how door-to-door service may be substituted for motorized curbline delivery.

The ban on expanded door-to-door deliveries was put into effect in 1963 to relieve a growing burden on post offices in expanding communities.

CBS Special:

'Cages' Underline Dreary State of Prison Failures

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" in a carefully made documentary on prison and prisoners graphically illustrated changing concepts about punishment Tuesday night and forcefully revealed the face of crime.

The hour called "Men in Cages," was shot almost entirely inside federal, state and local prisons. These ranged from modern institutions where busy inmates learn useful trades to lock-ups where men are herded together with little or nothing to do.

Favor Separation

The program's emphasis was on increased efforts to restore convicted men to society. It also underlined the dreary statistics of failure — three million Americans who have served prison terms and a current prison population of 350,000. Three-quarters of all crimes are committed by persons who have previously been arrested and convicted, it noted.

One man serving a long sentence said flatly that young prisoners should not be allowed to associate with older, more experienced criminals, "like me."

Roger Mudd, the narrator, repeatedly said that there is no evidence that imprisonment has proved a deterrent of crime, but suggested that some men can be made useful members of sociey if given help — education, a vocation and a chance.

'Dragnet 66' Coming

NBC obviously is very high on "Dragnet," the series that was so popular in the 1950s. Jack Webb has made a two-hour film called "Dragnet 66" so it won't be confused with the old series still around on reruns. It also has a new batch of the series in the works. It could replace at midseason one of two NBC series reported to be in serious ratings troubles.

Webb will be playing Joe Friday again, but his sidekick this time will be Harry Morgan, late of "Pete and Gladys," since Ben Alexander of the old series is busy playing a cop in ABCs "Felony Squad."

Raymond Burr was to have made his first television appearance since the demise of his long-playing "Perry Mason" series in an episode of "The Road West."

He was tossed from a horse in an early scene, however, receiving minor but painful injuries and Victor Jory replaced him.

Udall Rejects Idea

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall rejects the idea that he run for the U.S. Senate in 1968, the year Barry Goldwater expects to try a comeback.

Udall, a former Democratic congressman from Arizona, said Monday night that he hopes ailing Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., will run again in 1968.

Udall told the Phoenix Press Club: "Under no circumstances — and I want to underline the word "no" — will I be a candidate for the Senate in 1968."

List Pawling Sponsors For Nixon Dinner

POUGHKEEPSIE — Richard M. Nixon, former vice-president of the United States, will focus on the Hudson Valley and its problems in his talk Sunday night at the Holiday Inn, Fishkill, the dinner committee announced today.

Nixon is the main speaker at a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Citizens Committee for Hamilton Fish Jr., and the Dutchess County Republican Committee. Harvey Dann of Pawling and Mrs. Robert Hoel Jr., Hyde Park, are co-chairmen of the dinner committee. The dinner begins with a reception at 6:30 p. m.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Fred Lohrey at the Headquarters for Fish in the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Dann said.

Dann has made known a partial list of sponsors and contributors to the dinner, all from Pawling. They are Egbert T. Green Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Arnuf Muller, C. Ross Daniels Jr., Mr and Mrs. William R. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Walsh, Mrs Helen Daniels, Dr. George Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. William Dierdorf, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William McLaughlin, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart Jr., Matthew Dann, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sample, Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, Gordon Braislin, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frink, Mr. and Mrs. Killian Umscheid, Mrs. William Griffiths, Arthur Sullivan, Mrs. Thelma Mayer, Raymond Thornburg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dubock, Harold Wright, Mrs. Walsh McDermott, Fred Turner, John Rintoul, and Mr. and Mrs. James Green.

Warns Some Registrations Expire in Oct.

County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft urges residents of Ulster County whose motor vehicle registrations expire in October to make their applications for renewal at his office as soon as possible.

Punch card registrations forms were sent out from the Motor Vehicle offices in Albany about two weeks ago. Motorists who have not received their punch cards should come to the County Clerks Office and fill out paper applications.

Mr. Craft pointed out that, unless owners possess the so-called special or initial plates issued directly from Albany, the renewal applications should be processed in his office, rather than sent to Albany headquarters of the Department.

He also said if local motorists put the completed application, together with a check for the fee printed on them and the renewal half of their present registration certificate in the mail by October 25, the new certificates and stickers which validate the present plates for another year will be mailed back to them in a few days. Otherwise they should come to his office to complete the transaction.

Not Killed in Battle

Sitting Bull was not killed in battle. Because he was suspected of urging the Indians to renew their war on the white men, Indian policemen were sent ot arrest him and he was killed while resisting arrest.

LIGHTING UP THE BATTLEFIELD is an increasingly effective technique in night air operations over Viet Nam with the aid of a powerful airborne light source. Providing for the first time a constant, long-lasting light covering a wide area, the system from an altitude of 12,000 feet is capable of illuminating an area two miles in diameter four times brighter than full moonlight. It is shown being tested by a C-123 Air Force transport over Greenville, Tex., where it was developed and produced by Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc.

Glad He Looks Older Than 33; Is Agency Chief

By STEPHAN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's at least one man in the United States who is glad he is bald: Stephen N. Shulman, new chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

At 33, Shulman is one of the youngest agency chiefs in Washington, and he is just as happy to look older.

Comes Early

To Shulman, a graduate of Harvard University and Yale University Law School, responsibility has come early.

At 28 he was an executive assistant to then Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

At 29 he was a deputy assistant secretary of defense in charge of personnel, industrial relations and civil rights.

By the time he was 32, Shulman was general counsel of the Air Force.

Several weeks ago he took over the post vacated when Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. resigned to campaign for governor of New York.

Has Shulman found any resentment from the many older government employes — including generals and admirals — who have worked under him?

Was Great Help

"I never found that to be a problem," he said in an interview — his first since becoming commission chairman. "I think the fact I'm bald is a tremendous help."

But Shulman said he was embarrassed "when a full colonel or a general called me 'sir.'"

Shulman now is in a young agency — it's only about a year and a half old. Its personnel is also mostly young. Shulman believes the average commission employe age to be younger than that of other agencies.

Facing this new commission is a backlog of about six months' work. About 2,000 of 9,000 complaints received by the commission in its first year haven't cleared initial screening.

At Various Stages

Other cases are at various stages, with the six-month jam in the area of conciliation — getting employers to stop discriminatory practices.

It is the commission's job to enforce the provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which bar employment discrimination based on race, religion, national origin or sex.

The commission screens cases for probable discrimination. If it finds there has been some, it attempts to get the employer to stop discriminating. If this fails it can refer the case to the attorney general or the complaining employe can file his own suit in court.

Rome to End Pollution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The city of Rome, N.Y., will construct a sewage-treatment plant by June 1, 1970, to end its pollution of the Mohawk River and the nearby State Barge Canal.

City officials agreed to that deadline at a State Health Department hearing Tuesday.

Home Builders Convene Today For Four Sessions

Upwards of 1,000 members of the New York State Home Builders Association are scheduled to convene at Kiamesha Lake for four full business session days—Today through Oct. 23, it was announced today by Vincent Brancato, president of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley.

President Brancato added that a large delegation of the local builder organization is planning attendance to "participate in one of the most important programs ever to be scheduled by the state group in a period when 'tight money' has so seriously affected the building industry." "No one," he said, "has been hit harder for so long a period, during the past several months, than those in the residential construction and development business." "Mortgage money," he added, "is so completely short or extremely expensive that both builder and potential home buyers are faced with a damaging impasse, a deterrant to progress and community development."

The state host association has scheduled a panel program of experts on Thursday, Oct. 20, to discuss the c ation that reaches across the nation Brancato reported. Appearing on the panel, to be moderated by past State President Walter G. Stackler of Long Island, will be John K. Lundberg, Deputy Superintendent, N. Y. S. Banking Department; Charles F. Kenny, president and director, Island Federal Savings and Loan Association; Kevin E. Keegan, Agency manager, Federal National Mortgage Association; James G. Smith senior vice-president, Franklin National Bank; Thomas O. Waage, vice president, Federal Reserve Bank of New York; Albert F. Martin Jr., president, Schenectady Savings Bank.

Builders in attendance will have an opportunity to question each of the panelists and, as President Brancato indicated, "learn at first hand what each qualified representative of the different types of banking institutions project for the future of the industry."

On Oct. 21, the State group will release its 1966 Housing Report which, after a full year of study, fact finding and recommendations, sets forth all housing needs and problems of New York State projected into the 1980's. To review the report and comment, another panel of experts will be assembled. It will consist of ranking representatives of State Association of Towns, Conference of Mayors, Governor Rockefeller's Regional Planning Office, a professional planner and the editor of "House and Home."

Chairman of this year's convention is Malvern Cunningham, Kingston, former treasurer of the New York State Home Builders Association and a present director of the State unit.

Charged for Alleged Theft of Bath Tub

Local police this morning apprehended two men on third degree burglary charges for alleged theft of a bath tub from a downtown house owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

They are Edward Johnston, 59, of 77 Hasbrouck Avenue, and Vidal Getierrez, 36, of Esopus, and were lodged in jail pending court hearing Thursday.

The two were apprehended by Officer Curtis VanDemark, who spotted them while cruising downtown in a patrol car.

Police has received several reports recently of other thefts from downtown houses now owned by the KURA, and which are due for demolition. It is alleged that the tub was taken from a house at 75 Hasbrouck. Copper pipe has been reported missing from other houses.

Was Once . . .

ing Line, Ulster & Delaware Railroad, Kingston - Rhinecliff Ferry Company, Kingston City Railroad Company, Hudson River Bluestone Company, Rosendale Cement Company, Rondout Savings Bank and the Grand Hotel. In the adjoining building was located The Kingston Daily Freeman.

"When these industries were prospering, they paid a very larg part of the taxes of the city besides furnishing employment for hundreds of men. Many skilled artisans in different trades were engaged in operating these activities.

"In the management and accounting departments in the Cornell building, large forces were engaged. Old timers remember among others, J. H. Jons, superintendent of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad, with A. A. Benson as his assistant. Later Richard O'Sullivan, for many years occupied that post. Then Nathan Sims, passenger agent, Herbert Stickles and James McGinnis as train dispatchers and William Hussey as paymaster. Number 20, a combination of locomotive and passenger car, took officials up the road, and is well remembered by many.

"With the Cornell Towing Line, the name of Superintendent Isaac M. North is the best remembered, along with his assistants, John D. Schoonmaker and Charles Pfrommer. For many years these men were prominent in the life of the community in other fields as well as the towing business.

"In the legal branch of these companies were the Hon. A. T. Clearwater, Henry Soop, Amos VanEtten and Hon. Harry H. Flemming.

List Executives

"Isaac M. North was at one time president of the Rondout Savings Bank with Jacob Derrenbacher, L. L. Osterhoudt and William H. Kniffin as associates. Graham Rose was manager of several enterprises including the ferry line, coal and cement business.

"Other well known men employed in the office building were Thomas Flemming, Martin F. Netter, O. L. Eastman, Andrew J. Barrett, Remson DuBois and L. J. Spangenberger, who operated a private 'tonsorial parlor' for those employed there. Many more whose names do not readily come to mind, were engaged by the companies whose affairs were conducted from these quarters, which was the center of the business life of Rondout for so many years.

"To older residents, who recall the activities of the past, it will be a welcome sight again to see these offices occupied and being put to useful purposes."

Soviet Launches Space Satellite; Divided Reports

BERLIN (AP)—The Wilhelm Foerster Observatory in West Berlin said the Soviet Union launched a space satellite today but the observatory at Bochum said it had been in orbit since Monday.

A spokesman at Bochum, who discounted the earlier report, did not say how he knew the satellite was launched Monday. There has been no Soviet announcement of such a launching.

The spokesman at Wilhelm Foerster Observatory had said he could not tell if the satellite was manned but that it was sent up from the Soviet launching area at Baikonur in central Asia.

There have been reports from Communist sources that the Russians were planning a multiman shot sometime this week.

Information on the reported launching was not immediately available in Moscow.

See No Effect In Beirut Bank's Money Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials foresee little, if any, disruption of international financing as a result of the run on the Intra Bank at Beirut, Lebanon.

In fact, they view it as nothing more than an isolated, old-fashioned run on a bank and with absolutely no connection with the U. S. balance of payments program or high interest rates in this country.

The Intra Bank, one of the major financial institutions of the Middle East with assets of about $230 million, closed last Saturday after a run of withdrawals. Subsequently 93 banks and the Lebanon stock market also were closed.

The run was confined to the one bank — a factor U. S. officials saw as proof that this country's policies had nothing to do with the matter. If U. S. balance of payments policies or interest rates had been involved, one official said, other banks undoubtedly would have been affected.

U. S. officials could give no exact reason for the run but said it apparently stemmed from withdrawals from the Intra Bank by oil-rich Kuwait, presumably in Lebanese pounds.

Woman Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carol C. Laise a career State Department officer, has been sworn in as the fifth woman ambassador named by President Johnson.

She is going to Nepal.

At Tuesday's swearing-in ceremony, Secretary of State Dean Rusk called her "one of our very best diplomats." Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey looked on.

Miss Laise, 48, has served at the United Nations and New Delhi, India, and has worked on Near Eastern and South Asian affairs since 1962.

Other Johnson-named woman ambassadors serve in Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark and the United Nations.

WE Talks Resume

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bargainers for Westinghouse Electric Corp. and four unions resumed contract negotiations today with moderate progress reported in talks with three of the unions.

Federal mediators encouraged the fourth union to remain at the bargaining table after it at first broke off negotiations.

Ike Says Substantial GOP Gains Necesssary

CULPEPER, Va. (AP) — Former President Dwight Eisenhower says substantial Republican gains in the November elections are necessary for the nation because "the only way to keep politics policed is to have one party strong enough to watch the other."

Eisenhower said Tuesday, "I'm certainly hoping for gains, especially in the House. We have to have a two-party system. A system of self-government such as ours is seriously damaged if one party gains complete control of all branches of government."

He was among those attending a sale of Angus cattle at nearby Brandy Rock Farm, owned by retired Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Eisenhower raises Angus cattle on his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., and Gore on his farm at Carthage, Tenn.

HAA Letter Notes

ERA's responsibility was questioned, mainly on an admitted defaultment by Goldstein on a job at the State University College at New Paltz.

Reveals Text

The text of the HAA letter, dated Oct. 17, to the KHA says in part: "In connection with your submittal of the electrical bidding, the Regional attorney has advised me (Herman Hillman, assistant regional administrator of the HAA) that the laws of the State of New York require the awarding body to make a determination of the responsibility of the lowest monetary bidder and where the public body proposed to award to a higher monetary bidder it became incumbent upon the said body to first determine that the lowest monetary bid was not submitted by a responsible bidder and therefore is rejected. Counsel further advises that the Kingston Housing Authority action, as evidenced by extracts of your September 30th bid, does not meet the test laid down in New York State Courts."

A copy of that Sept. 30 meeting was furnished by Congressman Resnick's office. A resolution at that meeting was introduced by Commissioner Oscar V. Newkirk, seconded by Commissioner Dorris Dabney and unanimously approved by the members present which included, according to the Resnick copy, Robert P. Slover, secretary to the KHA, Yosman, George Yerry Jr., chairman, and Harry Gold, counsel.

The statement said: "It is hereby resolved that the Kingston Housing Authority hereby recommends that the bid of the Whitman Electrical Company in the sum of $162,333 for electrical work to be done on the construction of Rondout Gardens be accepted in lieu of the low bid submitted for such work by the ERA Construction Company."

Notes Letters

"The recommendations to award the bid to Whitman Electrical Company is based on certain letters which have come to the attention of the Kingston Housing Authority as follows: letter dated Sept. 27, from the State University Fund, letter dated Sept. 28 from Albert Edward Milliken, architect, and a letter dated Sept. 29 from Robert J. Mariner, attorney for Rhinebeck Central School.

The copy also stated: The awarding of said bid to Whitman Electrical Company is subject to the approval of the Housing Assistance Administration.

Congressman Resnick today repeated his call for a full-scale investigation of the Kingston Housing Administration by the Housing Assistance Administration. "I will not be satisfied with just the awarding of the contract to the ERA Construction Company but will insist upon a full explanation of this attempted fraudulent action."

A spokesman for the HAA in New York said today that his agency was requesting another hearing on the case by the Kingston Housing Authority.

Yosman Disputes Statement

Yosman told The Freeman today. "I think the public is getting the wrong idea about the amount of power we have in granting of contracts. For instance, on the ERA contract, whether we recommend for or against it the HAA still has the right of review and the final approval is theirs."

Yosman disputed a statement by Congressman Resnick in The Freeman Oct. 14 in which Resnick said that the ERA is bonded by a reputable insurance firm and as long as the ERA is bonded it is a qualified bidder for the electrical contract and that the city is protected.

Yosman said that the ability to be bonded was not only criteria and that fact was specifically stated in the bid offerings to the contractors.

ago. Most of the targets were in the southern panhandle.

Pilots reported destroying or damaging 25 barges, eight antiaircraft gun positions, eight trucks and nine storage areas.

The U.S. command reported that Viet Cong guerrillas attacked the command post of the 173rd Airborne Brigade Tuesday night with claymore mines, small-arms fire and grenades. The command said the 15-minute attack caused light damage to equipment and aircraft and light casualties at the command post about 15 miles north of Saigon. The spokesman would not say how many aircraft were hit.

11 Engineer Family Escape From E. Germans

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Two couples with their six children and a grandmother have engineered a family escape from Communist East Germany, Bavarian police reported today.

The children are aged 1 to 12 years. The two youngest were given sleeping tablets and carried across the border into West Germany in rucksacks on the backs of their fathers, police said.

The escape, on a foggy night, was made by crawling across a minefield "death strip" on planks of wood. As the families came to the end of one plank, a second was gently pushed forward to probe for any mines. They then crawled on. After the minefield the fathers cut their way through a barbed wire barrier.

"The good Lord was with us, the fences were not electrified," said one of the fathers.

Police also reported the escape today of a 32-year-old Czechoslovakian army officer who had been on duty along the border between East and West Germany.

Floral Spelling Of Lady Bird Is Samoa Greeting

By FRANCES LEWINE

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — Joy plants in vivid red spelled out "Manulele Tausala" — Lady Bird — as Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson dedicated a Samoan school where children are taught by television.

The whole island was agog for the brief visit Tuesday of the President and his wife, and 300 school children gathered to sing songs they wrote in honor of the Johnsons.

Mrs. Johnson stepped under an arched entrance to snip a ribbon of pretty floral leis in the ceremonial dedication of the Lady Bird School. The children had planted the bank of flowers to spell out the new school name and proudly watched the big event.

The consolidated village school named after the First Lady is the 22nd of 26 which are being built to reorganize the 45 former village schools into a compact educational television complex.

Samoa has 8,000 school children.

President Johnson in his airport arrival speech hailed the television pilot program and said with it Samoan children are learning "twice as fast as they once did."

He praised "outstanding Gov. Rex Lee and the very able director of the U.S. Information Agency, Leonard Marks" for helping to get it going in this island populated by only 22,000 persons.

Lee, 52, Idaho-born and a longtime administrator in Washington's Bureau of Indian Affairs, is credited for much of the new beautification and revitalization of American Samoa and for getting the educational television system under way.

He came here in 1961.

Seize 17 in Indiana On Car Theft Charges

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Seventeen persons were arrested by FBI agents and Indiana State Police Tuesday in what authorities termed a car theft ring which stole according to customer specifications.

Police sought five other persons charged in an indictment returned last Thursday by a federal grand jury.

Being sought are Wyvon Hornburg, 33, an escapee from jail, described by authorities as the ringleader; his girl friend, believed traveling with him, Betty Keene, 24; Curtis Williams, Urbana, Ill.; Edward Gullagher, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; and William Piper, San Jose, Calif.

James A. Manahan, assistant U.S. attorney, said about 200 cars were stolen and 26 have been recovered.

Manahan said the ring worked in pairs, visiting new car dealers in West Memphis, Ark.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Danville, Ill.; Lousville, Ky.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Richmond, Franklin, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Anderson, Columbus and Bloomington Ind.

Forgot Their Wives

SPANISH FORK, Utah (AP) — Many men take their wives for granted. Two unidentified Salt Lake City men stopped at a Thistle, Utah, gas station Tuesday for information and then drove off.

It wasn't until they were stopped by Spanish Fork police officer Howard Zabriskie that they realized something was wrong.

The men had left their wives at the service station and had driven 13 miles before Zabriski caught up with them.

196,226,000 of Us

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau today estimated the total resident population of the United States at 196,226,000 as of Sept. 1. This was 9.4 per cent higher than the 1960 census count and 1.1 per cent above the same time last year.

Including servicemen abroad, the total population as of Sept. 1 was 197,223,000, the bureau estimated.

Officials expect the population to reach 200 million by the end of next year.

Think Hanoi May Time New Thrust Around Vote Day

Saigon, South Viet Nam (AP) — Some top U.S. military men think North Viet Nam may time a new thrust across the demilitarized zone to coincide with elections next month in three countries fighting the Communists in South Viet Nam.

The objective could be to spur sentiment against the war in the United States, Australia and New Zealand.

The weather will be right for such a move. The monsoon rains already have started sweeping into the region where North and South Viet Nam meet.

Rainy, overcast weather is considered to favor the Communists because it cuts down U.S. air and helicopter operations.

After a period of heavy combat along the demilitarized zone, action has settled lately to sporadic contact and limited fighting.

TV Revenues Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio and television broadcasting revenues jumped 9.2 per cent in 1965 to more than $2.7 billion, says the Federal Communications Commission.

Industry profits compared to 1964 were up 8.1 per cent to 525.7 million. Radio accounted for 29 per cent of broadcast revenues but only 15 per cent of profits, said the report compiled from industry figures.

Wilson Offers Data On Vote Questions

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County today released the sixth in a series of informational articles on the 12 state-wide questions which will be appearing on the ballot this November. In this article Wilson outlines the various provisions of the eighth and ninth amendments to the State Constitution which have to do with changing the regulations for absentee registration for voters, and the question of fiscal independence for the City of Buffalo.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the present terms of the State Constitution allows a voter who will be away from his or her home at the time of registration because of business or any other valid reason to file an absentee registration. He explained, however, that such an absentee registration could only be made if the voter was to be out of the state and that it did not apply to persons who were merely to be in another part of the state. The Assemblyman said the proposed amendment to the Constitution would permit the filing of an absentee registration if a voter's business or other duties required them to be in another county at the time of registration, rather than out of the state.

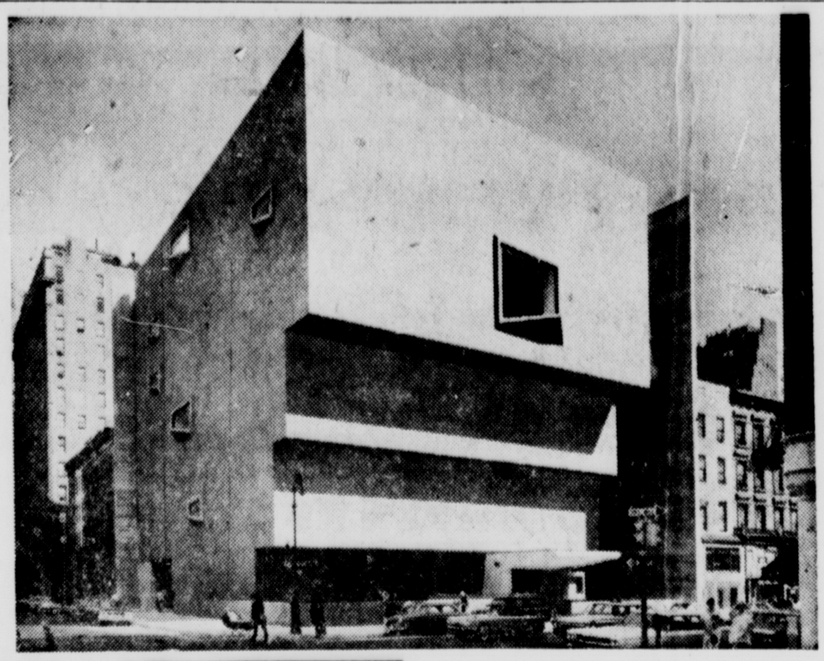

The ninth amendment to the Constitution is one which concerns the City of Buffalo, but since it involves a change in the Constitution, the matter has to be put before all of the voters of the State. Wilson said the amendment would, if approved by the voters, permit the City of Buffalo and the Buffalo City School District to levy and collect taxes independently of each other, as well as incurring various forms of indebtedness on an independent basis. It was further noted that the city school districts in the larger municipalities such as Albany, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Yonkers, and New York City are all under the direct administration of the government of the city in which they are located, and not operated as separate systems such as the school districts in Ulster County. Assemblyman Wilson added that if the amendment is approved by the voters this November, the matter will then be referred back to the voters in Buffalo for a local referendum before any such change is actually put into effect.

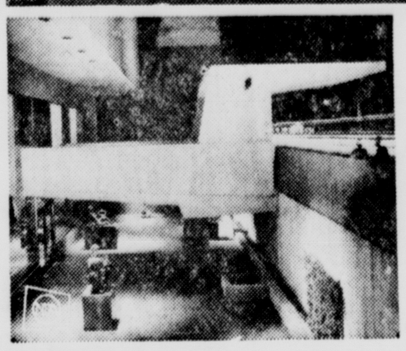

$5 Per Vote

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The "$5 vote" is "common knowledge" in cities everywhere, says a member of Albany's Catholic Interracial Council.

The council rejected Tuesday night a resolution to condemn what was called the "open and notorious practices" of paying $5 each to many Albany residents to influence their votes. Council President Walter Langley had submitted the resolution.

The measure was defeated 20-12. James Warren, a member, declared it was "wrong and false' to single out this Democratic-controlled city concerning the "$5 vote" when "it is common knowledge that it is done in every other city."

Pickets Withdrawn, Return to GE Posts

PITTSFIELD, Mass., (AP) — The American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFTE) withdrew pickets from six gates today and nonstriking electrical workers returned to their jobs at General Electric Co.'s Pittsfield plant.

The pickets, representing striking draftsmen, were replaced at the six gates by "observers" so that members of two locals of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) would not be obligated to respect a picket line.

However, the Draftsmen's Union retained pickets at a dozen other gates of the big plant.

The decision to drop the pickets at the six main gates was reached Tuesday at a meeting of the unions. The IUE members, who number 5,000 had stayed away from their jobs Monday and Tuesday out of respect for the picket lines, although IUE reached a contract agreement with GE Sunday.

The draftsmen, who number 400, have been on strike since Oct. 3 in a dispute over seniority and other local issues.

Still on strike at GE's Ashland, Mass., plant are 2,000 members of local 205 of the United Electrical Workers Union (UE) who seek local improvements in wage standards.

Ether was first used in surgery in 1846.

Gubernatorial Candidates Differ on Addicts Status

NEW YOR K(AP) — A poll of three of the four gubernatorial candidates on various issues found them differing most sharply on the question of compulsory commitment of narcotics addicts.

The New York Civil Liberties union asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Frank D. O'Connor and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to comment on six questions ranging from the police review board referendum to abortion law reform. The replies were released today.

Answered All

O'Connor, the Democratic candidate, and Roosevelt, who heads the Liberal party ticket, responded to all the questions. Rockefeller replied with a statement that referred to three of the questions.

O'Connor said compulsory commitment of addicts "implies criminality. It disregards the holdings of our courts and the findings of physicians that a typical addict is a sick person not a criminal."

He called Rockefeller's compulsory commitment program "self defeating" and said it was "incompatible with methadone therapy, one of the more exciting recent developments in the treatment of addiction."

Roosevelt also opposed "the Rockefeller program for compulsory commitment of narcotics addicts who have not been convicted of any crime." He said he favored intensified research on narcotics substitutes such as methadone.

Defended Program

The governor strongly defended his new program, noting that more than 80 per cent of those eligible spurned voluntary treatment under the old system.

O'Connor supported the "stop and frisk" law. Roosevelt did not like it and Rockefeller did not comment on the issue.

But neither O'Connor nor Roosevelt said they would favor changing the present law to make it illegal for a citizen to resist an unlawful arrest or assault by a policeman.

Roosevelt noted, "Good law enforcement depends on respect for the traditional rights of the individual; it will not be helped by cutting down time-honored protection against arbitrary police methods."

Rockefeller did not comment on the question of abortion law reform, but both of the other candidates said such reform should be considered.

O'Connor proposed that a joint legislative committee be established to conduct public hearings on the question. Roosevelt found the present abortion law "unduly restrictive."

On parochial school aid both O'Connor and Roosevelt emphasized the importance of the constitutional provision for separation of church and state.

Roosevelt said he was "for the fullest possible federal aid" within the framework of that doctrine. O'Connor said he felt the state constitutional convention would find a compromise that would preserve the church-state separation "without depriving our citizens of needed state aid to promote their health, education and welfare."

All three candidates agreed that the city's civilian review board should be maintained but Roosevelt added that he would favor a similar board for the state police.

O'Connor and Roosevelt said they believed in the Ombudsman concept and Rockefeller found the idea "worthy of serious consideration." The Ombudsman would investigate citizen complaints against government officials or agencies.

OCS Slates Public Hearing On Tax Relief for Elderly

Onteora Board of Education has scheduled a formal public hearing Monday, Nov. 14, to discuss the new tax exemption law for the aged. The meeting will be held in the high school cafeteria at 8 p. m. and will include a presentation of the details of the new permissive legislation, followed by a question and answer period.

School Board members are urging each organization in the area to study all available information on the new Real Property Tax Law and to send one or more members of the organization to the public hearing to express the consensus of the group.

According to the new statutory requirements, persons 65 years of age or over, who own real property, could be entitled to a 50 per cent exemption from taxation on the assessed valuation of their property, providing they have an income of $3,000 or less yearly and, providing the School Board, after the public hearing, adopts a resolution providing for such exemption.

Dr. George R. Sullivan, superintendent of Onteora Central Schools, noted last July that Board members in the OCS district have been interested in relief for elderly taxpayers with low incomes for many years. The matter was again a major topic at a midsummer Board meeting and Dr. Sullivan was instructed to determine the procedure for implementing the permissive law which would provide some school tax relief for the aged property owners.

As long ago as 1959, a study was made locally to determine community feeling for such a program. Over 90 per cent of the more than 2,000 replies received indicated a desire to provide relief to these senior citizens. However, the lack of state legislation at that time prohibited further programs on the matter. Each year since then, OCS Board endorsed proposed state legislation but each year the legislation was defeated until this year.

The public hearing next month will help the Board to decide whether to implement the law or not on the basis of whether or not feeling has changed in the matter since 1959.

It should be understood that a resolution allowing the exemption by the Board of Education would apply to school taxes only and would not apply to town, county or state property taxes in the school district.

The Town of Woodstock remains one of the few governmental units in all Ulster County which has not either held a public hearing on tax relief for senior residents or adopted a law to make the law effective in the township.

Room Mothers Listed by P-TA

"Let's get acquainted" was the theme at an afternoon coffee hour last week at Bennett School. Room Mothers, a P-TA project in cooperation with teachers, is being headed this year by Mrs. Mary Stahl, home room representative. Room mothers were given booklets describing their responsibilities and introduced to their assigned teachers. The following Room Mothers have been selected for the 1966-67 school year:

Mrs. Hua-Tung Lee, Kindergarten, morning session; Mrs. Anatol Aleksandrowicz, Kindergarten, afternoon session; Mrs. Bernard Stahl and Mrs. Carl Olsen, Grade 1; Mrs. Earl Proper and Mrs. Edward Wiederspiel, Grade 2; Mrs. Harold Weber and Mrs. Edward Roser, Grade 3; Mrs. Robert Henderson and Mrs. Edward Hammers, Grade 5; Mrs. Andreas Farstad and Mrs. Pat Dodge, Grade 6, and Mrs. Bradford Kelder, Special.

This P-TA project has been most successful as the room mothers relieve the already busy teacher by doing the following:

Providing parental assistance for field trips; providing refreshments for room parties; providing help for plays and assemblies; assisting during the evening of the Open House program; assisting with registration for kindergarten in the spring; assisting with opening day of kindergarten in the fall.

This Room Mother project is an excellent way to become better acquainted with school and class activities and, by informing others, create a stronger support for the school program in general.

Vote Purchase Of 15 Plectrons

Woodstock Fire Chief Duncan Wilson has reported that the month of September saw only three fire alarms sounded here. He has also announced that the second portable radio, which will tie in with the Ulster County radio system, has arrived and will be installed in the local tank truck.

Wilson made both statements at the October meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 at the firehouse recently. During the meeting, company members voted to purchase 15 plectron units to tie in with Woodstock's recently inaugurated fire alarm system, giving the company plectron coverage, through 23 firemen this year.

Three new members have been voted into active membership, including Anthony DePaola, Ralph Tripicco and Verick Graver.

Announcement has been made by Raymond Cocks, chairman of the dinner committee planning a testimonial fete to honor Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman for their long years of service in sounding night fire alarms, that tickets are now available to the event. These may be purchased from Raymond Cocks, George Haythorne or Richard Mellert. The dinner honoring these two dedicated Woodstock residents is open to the public and will be held Saturday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p. m. at Deanie's

The next four-company meeting will be held this coming Monday at 8 p. m. at Woodstock Fire Co. No. 1.

Overlook Church Received Eleven Members Sunday

New members received into the fellowship of Overlook Methodist Church last Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewell Cagle, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LeFevre, all of Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. Kenton Knickmeyer, Dorothy and Kent Knickmeyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thomason, all of West Hurley; and Mrs. Arnold Reynolds of Bearsville.

Sermon topic for this Sunday will be "What Is Your Religion Worth?". Worship hour is 11 a. m. and a nursery is available for infants and toddlers. Senior choir is under direction of Lawrence Stowe and organist is Mrs. Richard Jeffery. Sunday, Junior Choir will sing for the first time this fall. Directors of Junior Choir are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brooks and Mrs. Roy Irving. New members will be received and the sacrament of Baptism will be administered.

The L & M Senior High Fellowship will meet at 5 p. m. in the church hall at Overlook Methodist; and the Junior High Unity Circle will meet at 5 p. m. at Christ Lutheran hall.

Prayer groups on Tuesday. Church league bowling Wednesday at 6:45. Choir rehearsal on Thursdays with Junior Choir at 6:45, Youth Choir at 7 and Senior Choir at 7:30 p. m.

A Prayer Vigil will be held in the church on Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 8 a m.. to 9 p. m.

New officers of the Junior High Unity Circle Fellowship, a united group of young people from the Methodist and Lutheran churches in Woodstock, are: Mark Grazier, president; Beth Fisher, vice president; Debbie Moyer, secretary, and Linda Moseman, treasurer.

The responsibility for recreation and refreshments will be rotated each week among members of the group. Counselors for this Junior High group are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Woodstock, and members of Christ Lutheran Church.

Kick Off Dinner Begins Drive for $75,000 in Funds

Ray Heller, member of the Finance Commission of Overlook Methodist Church, announces a congregational dinner will be held Saturday at 5:59 p. m. at the Wittenberg Sportsman's Club. All members and friends of the church are cordially invited.

Purpose of the dinner is to "kick off" the second major Building Fund Drive and the 1967 Budget Canvass. The program will have many special features and there will be extra entertainment for children.

Those attending are asked to bring their own silverware and a favorite "covered dish." In order that those planning the dinner and program may have some idea about who is bringing what sort of "dish," those attending should call Mrs. Raymond Heller or Mrs. John Marcato.

Harry Mirick, chairman of the Stewardship and Finance Commission, anticipates that this latest effort will surpass the achievement of three years ago when $50,000 was pledged for a three year period. Mirick says he feels confident the same generous spirit that prevailed at that time will insure success during the present campaign. The Special Campaign Committee, which includes Harry F. Jopp and Richard Jeffery, has been working and planning for the campaign for some time.

The Rev. James W. Cook, pastor, commenting on the fine cooperation that has marked the efforts of the church in its continued effort to minister to the community, says he believes the goal of $75,000 for the building fund for the next three years and $21,310 for the 1967 current expense budget will be attained as members and friends of the church join in this present challenge.

Answers Letter From Bermpohl On Peace Vote

Florence Hubbard, a long-time resident of Bearsville, who has been active in many civic endeavors in Woodstock over the years, has forwarded a letter to this column in answer to another which appeared in a local weekly newspaper recently. The Hubbard letter concerns certain points involved in the upcoming general election in November and is quoted below in its entirety:

"I would like to answer the letter of Charles Bermpohl which appeared in a local paper last week. I, too, strongly disagree with Congressman Resnick about our present American policy in Viet Nam. We have no moral right to be in Viet Nam and we should withdraw as quickly as possible.

"However, I am strongly against the so-called peace candidacy of Eric Lindbloom. I feel that the Lindbloom candidacy will seriously hurt the cause of those who seek peace in Viet Nam.

"As a third party candidate, it is unlikely that Lindbloom will receive even 5 per cent of the votes. On Nov. 9, the day after the election, newspaper columnists will state that a candidate opposed to the war in Viet Nam has been decisively defeated. This will be interpreted as meaning that the vast majority of the voters support Johnson's policy. Actually, the reason why Lindbloom will be badly defeated is because our nation has a two-party tradition and candidates lacking major party support just don't win.

"Even if Lindbloom should receive an outstanding 10 per cent of the vote, it will still be interpreted as a defeat for the "peace" position on Viet Nam.

"In addition, it is likely that the 5 per cent of the votes Lindbloom receives could be the margin which defeats Congressman Resnick. The conservative press will have a field day here. They will note that a very liberal Democrat was defeated by a conservative Republican, while a peace candidate was overwhelmingly repudiated by the voters. This will be interpreted as a mandate in favor of those who oppose progressive social legislation and those who seek further escalation of the war. The 28th Congressional District will have lost the services of a Congressman who is one of the outstanding liberal voices in Washington.

"For these reasons, I feel that the Lindbloom candidacy, although well intentioned, is a bad mistake. With the conservative trend which is appearing today at the polls around the nation and with the ugly appearanec of the white backlash in elections, it is important that we re-elect a Congressman who has led the fight for civil rights and civil liberties. To help elect Resnick's conservative Republican opponent wou'd be to punish ourselves and our nation."

Town Bord Has Special Meeting

At a brief, special Woodstock Town Board meeting held Tuesday morning, supervisor William R. West Jr. moved to eliminate one piece of red tape which, otherwise, would have cropped up yearly in the Water District.

The action concerned the bond which had been drawn up previously in the amount of $40,000 to cover the cost of drilling new wells in the Water District during the tight water emergency periood of several summers ago. As drawn at that time the bond had to be renewed by the board each year. Uhder a new resolution, it will no longer be required to make the renewal each year and the bond will be paid off automatically.

One payment has already been made against the $40,000 total, leaving a balance of $32,000 yet to be paid, a balance which will not now have to be renewed.

In other action Tuesday morning, the supervisor proclaimed Oct. 24 as United Nations Day in the Town of Woodstock and Nov. 4 as Muscular Dystrophy Day in the town.

Battle Malaria

BELEM, Brazil (AP) — Health authorities are battling a malaria epidemic which they say has taken more than 1,000 lives in the Muana region of Marajo Island, at the mouth of the Amazon River.

State medical authorities said that lack of medicine is hampering the fight and federal government aid will be needed to control the epidemic.

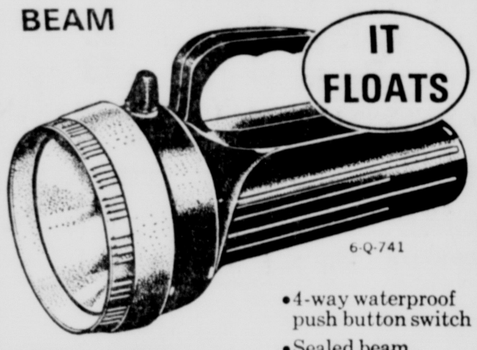

Body of Greene Man Found in Schoharie Creek

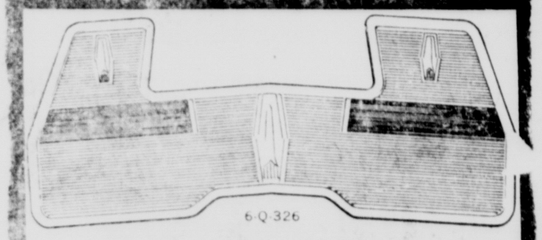

PRATTSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The body of Frank A. Schaefer, 64, of this Greene County community, was found late Tuesday in 2 feet of water in Schoharie Creek.

State Police said Schaefer, who had been seen minutes earlier, apparently fell down an embankment above the creek and suffered a head injury.

Coroner Joseph Hudes withheld a verdict pending an autopsy.

Camaro Sport Coupe

Camaro SS 350 Convertible with Rally Sport equipment
Look how far you can go!
Besides looking like that, Camaro comes with all this standard:
Strato-bucket seats. Carpeting. Rich-vinyl upholstery. Fully synchronized 3-speed transmission. A 140-hp Six or a big-car V8 (210 hp!), depending on model. New safety features: GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column, four-way hazard warning flasher, folding front seat back latches, shoulder belt anchors and others.
Rally Sport: a Camaro with hidden headlights and a lot more—
Pull the switch "on" and headlights appear at both ends of the full-width grille on a Camaro Rally Sport. What else you get: special trim, sides and rear, and RS emblems. Something else you can order on every Camaro: a Custom Interior with color-accented bucket seats, special door panels, sports steering wheel and more.
Camaro SS 350: scoop-styled hood, bold striping, a 350-cu.-in. V8!
Besides Camaro's biggest V8 (295 hp!), SS 350 comes with the special hood, rally striping around the grille and big, fat red stripe tires. On this or any Camaro, you can also specify front disc brakes, a 4-speed, center console, Strato-back front seat for three, 8-track stereo tape system. Camaro's your idea of a car!

Weeks Declines Schools, Requests Viet Assignment

Marine Pvt. Arden Alan Weeks is home on a 25-day leave after completing initial Marine Corps training at Parris Island, S. C. and advanced training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

While at the former camp, Pvt. Weeks declined chances of going to language schools and data processing school and instead volunteered for infantry duty and requested assignment in Viet Nam.

After completion of his leave, Pvt. Weeks will report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for processing and transfer overseas.

He is a 1966 graduate of Kingston High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Weeks of RD 2, Box 44, Kingston.

PALTZ DEMO DINNER—Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia and Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick were among the Democratic dignitaries attending the New Paltz Democratic Club dinner Sunday night at American Legion Hall, Stone Ridge. The dinner was held in honor of the congressman. Among those on hand for the event seated (l-r) were Robert Mandia, candidate for the 1967 Constitutional Convention; Rep. Resnick, Mrs. Rose Hogan, vice-chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee and Speaker Travia. Standing in the usual order are Supervisor George Majestic, candidate for Assembly; Horace Graham, candidate for State Senate from Dutchess and Ulster Counties; Glenn Van Bramer, candidate for the Constitutional Convention and Eric Winkky, dinner chairman. BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actor Clifton Webb, 76, was eulogized as -a man who hated arrogance and pomposity, characteristics he displayed to perfection on the movie screen.

Funeral services for Webb, who died Thursday after a heart attack, were attended Tuesday by 150 mourners at All Saints Episcopal Church.

Drive for $982,000 Troy Methodists Start

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The Troy Methodist Conference will begin a campaign next April to raise $982,000 for the expansion of church facilities and programs.

Delegates to a one-day meeting Tuesday approved plans for the three-year drive for the conference, which numbers 400 churches in eastern New York State and Vermont.

Of the total goal, the delegates earmarked:

— $360,000 for church expansion, including the purchase of at least three new sites.

—$300,000 for a home for the elderly.

— $242,000 for family camps and a church conference, on a year-around basis.

— 80,000 for promotion of the Methodist Church.

— $8,000 to build an interdenominational chapel at the Vermont State Hospital, Waterbury.

The delegates, presided over by Bishop Lloyd M. Wicke, resident bishop of the New York area, defeated a motion to limit the use of government funds to construction of the home for the elderly.

Upstate Youth Killed

BROCTON, N.Y. (AP)—Thomas Titus, about 17, of nearby Portland, was injured fatally Tuesday night when an automobile in which he was a passenger struck a tree on South Webster Road, just south of this Chautauqua County village.

Planning Board Report

Progress Is Nil On Overall Plan for County

Benjamin L. Webster presided at the Ulster County Planning Board meeting held Monday at the Planning Board Offices in Kingston.

The meeting was held a week early in order to leave members free to attend the New York State Federation of Planning Officials Conference to be held in Ulster County this year at the Nevele in Ellenville. Deyo Johnson, Ellenville, urged local planning boards members to attend the conference.

Gives Report

John Scribano, chairman of the Master Plan Committee, reported that no progress had been made on the Planning Board's proposal to prepare a County Comprehensive Plan. The proposal had been referred back to the Industrial Development Committee at the September 15 Board of Supervisors meeting. Scribano also reported that the final interview of consultants that have prepared preliminary proposals to prepare property maps for the county was held last month by the interviewing committee composed of the chairman of the Board of Supervisors, chairman of the Tax Base Study and Industrial Development Committees of the Board of Supervisors, president of the Assessors Association, and several county planning board members.

The Planning Board unanimously moved to pass on to the supervisors all the necessary material for their deliberation on this matter. Scribano also noted that the Data Book has been distributed to libraries, schools, Chambers of Commerces, planning boards, and other institutions free of charge, and that copies are available at the County Planning Board Office, third floor of the county office building or by writing to the Board, PO Box 483 Uptown, Kingston. A fee is requested.

Draft Transcript

Webster noted that the transcript of the Conference on Natural Beauty had just been typed and will be edited in the next month. The transcript of the all day conference held at the State University College at New Paltz in its rough draft contains some 200 pages of dialogue pertaining to what should and could be done in Ulster County to preserve its present amenities for the future. No date has been set as to when the edited transcript will be available for publication.

Other routine business included the acceptance of the Engineers and Water Resources Committee report on recent progress on the inter-municipal county water needs study.

The chairman of the County-Planning Board wishes to solicit the interest of Ulster County residents in the Planning Board's future programs, interested citizens can write to Ben Webster, PO Box 57, Woodstock or to Richard Ehlert, county planning director, PO Box 483 Uptown, Kingston to learn about the role they can play in county planning. In addition, all interested county residents are cordially invited to the Planning Board meetings held at the Planning Board Office, on the fourth Monday of each month at 8 p. m.

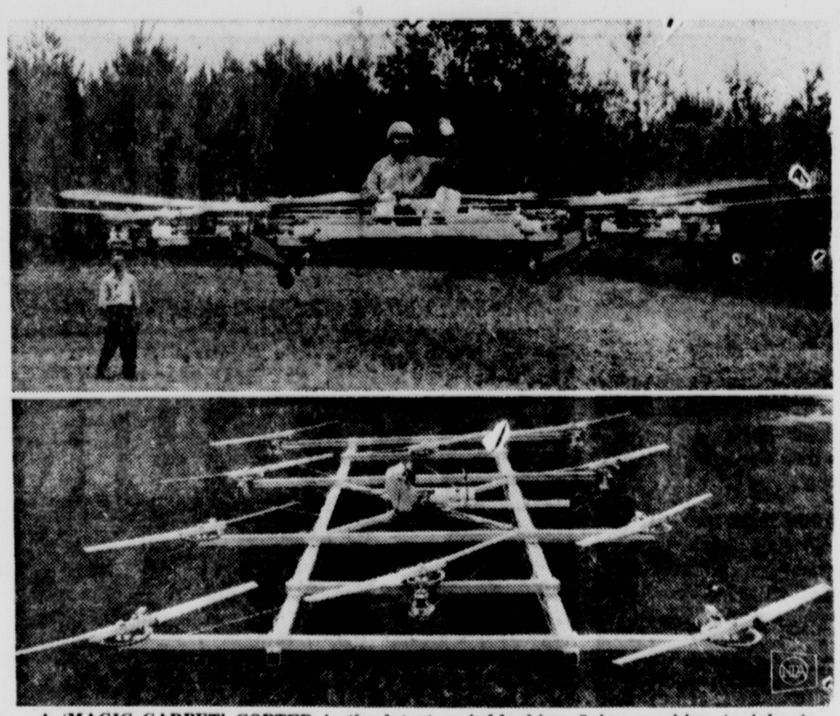

Find No Leads On Sadistic Killer of Spike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police, looking for "a sadistic killer" who bludgeoned prominent theologian and civil rights leader Dr. Robert W. Spike to death, say they have no substantial leads.

Detective Capt. Tom Sawyer, reporting no solid clues in the Monday slaying, said, "It's surprising. There were 10,000 students walking around this place and no one is coming up with anything."

Dr. Spike's body, clad only in a raincoat, was found on the floor of a guest room at a new religious center just off the Ohio State University campus.

Here to help dedicate the United Christian Center Sunday, the 43-year-old Chicagoan was struck in the head with a blunt object which the coroner says may have been a hammer.

A 'MAGIC CARPET' COPTER is the latest weird-looking flying machine to take to the air from designers' drawing boards. Consisting of aluminum scaffolding only two feet high, the craft was developed by Bensen Aircraft Corp. of Raleigh, N.C., as an airborne tractor for farm use. With a lifting capacity of 350 pounds, it can transport pesticides, liquid fertilizer, a pig or a calf. Powered by 10 independent engines driving two blade rotors, it can fly in all directions, reach speeds up to 45 m.p.h. and hover 20 feet in the air.

Hare Resignation Is Regretfully Accepted by LBJ

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — President Johnson accepted "with genuine regret" today the resignation of one of America's top career diplomats, Raymond Hare.

Hare rose through the Foreign Service to hold ambassadorial and other senior positions in a career spanning nearly 40 years. Recently he has been assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs.

In an exchange of letters made public by the traveling White House, Hare told the President he intends to become head of the Middle East Institute in Washington. He has long been an expert on Middle East affairs.

Hare, 65, said he has passed the retirement age and feels "it is time to step aside" in favor of the "many fine younger officers" on their way up.

Check Burning Wires

Local firemen were called at 8:45 a. m. today to check burning wires on Abeel near Wurts Street. A unit from Central Station responded with Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was also notified and dispatched repairmen. Operation of the traffic light at the Rondout Creek Bridge was briefly interrupted.

Court Puts Off Merger of Rails

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has blocked the planned Nov. 1 merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads pending the hearing of arguments on Jan. 9, and a final decision on various objections.

The merger thus will be delayed at least until mid-January, and probably much later depending on how fast the high tribunal can reach a decision and prepare its opinion or opinions.

The merger would create the nation's largest rail system with assets of more than $4 billion and nearly 20,000 miles of track.

The court issued a two-page printed statement Tuesday announcing its grant of a stay as requested by a group of railroads, eight Pennsylvania and New Jersey towns and Milton J. Shapp, Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

They asked the stay after a special three-judge federal court in New York refused by a 2-1 vote Oct. 4 to delay the merger plan. The Interstate Commerce Commission last April 27 approved the merger, but the agency has scheduled hearings beginning Oct. 31 on the still unsettled financial conditions to be imposed.

WINNING THE RACE against rising waters, Egyptian workers set in place a giant head of Ramses II at the new location of the temple of Abu Simbel high above the Nile River. An international effort is under way to move the temple, one of the wonders of the ancient world, from its site of centuries on the river bank to a cliff top to escape flooding when the new Aswan High Dam backs up the Nile's waters.

Mohican Trail District Stages Durham Campore

Representing nine Scout troops from Greene County and Saugerties, 120 Boy Scouts and some 15 adult leaders gathered last Saturday and Sunday for the Fall Camporee of the Mohican Trail District of Rip Van Winkle Council, BSA.

Held on the property of the Stiefel Laboratories on Route 145 in the Town of Durham, the Camporee enjoyed excellent fall weather and an interesting array of weekend activities. In charge of the operation, serving as Camporee chief, was Thomas Nolan of Saugerties, member of the District Committee and Advisor to the Order of the Arrow. Supervising program events was John Carlson, also of Saugerties, District Commissioner for the District.

Started Friday

Most troops arrived Friday evening with three others joining them on Saturday morning. After the Camporee's opening flag-raising, the order of the day on Saturday morning was Scoutcraft skill events, participated in by patrols. The chariot race was directed by John Steffens, neighborhood commissioner of Blue Mountain, and featured pioneering skills of lashing and knot-tying. Kurt Stade, neighborhood commissioner from Saugerties, was in charge of a compass course. The always popular string-burning contest, under the direction of Carlson and Nolan, featured the elements of both rudimentary axemanship and firebuilding.

Search and Rescue

After Saturday's lunch there was a Search and Rescue instruction and practice session, handled by William Poythress, advisor to Explorer Post 30 of Saugerties. After receiving instructions on the theory and procedures involved in conducting a search for a missing person, the Scouts had the opportunity to practice what they had learned.

Saturday night's program was a giant campfire, produced under the supervision of Henry Schmitt and the boys of Troop 45 of Coxsackie. The campfire program, which was MC'd by Scouts Mark Feldbin and Mike Jones, featured stunts and skits by all Troops in attendance and a songfest led by John Mullaney, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 32 of Saugerties. The Troops were bedded down in plenty of time to be prepared for the rain which came during th night on Saturday.

On Sunday morning, Scouts and leaders of Catholic faith attended Mass at St. Mary's R. C. Church in East Durham. At the same time, the Rev. Glenn Sattlemeier, pastor of Oak Hill Lutheran Church, came to the Camporee grounds and conducted a Protestant service. After church time on Sunday was given over to Troop activities, preparation of lunch, and striking tents and packing gear prior to returning home.

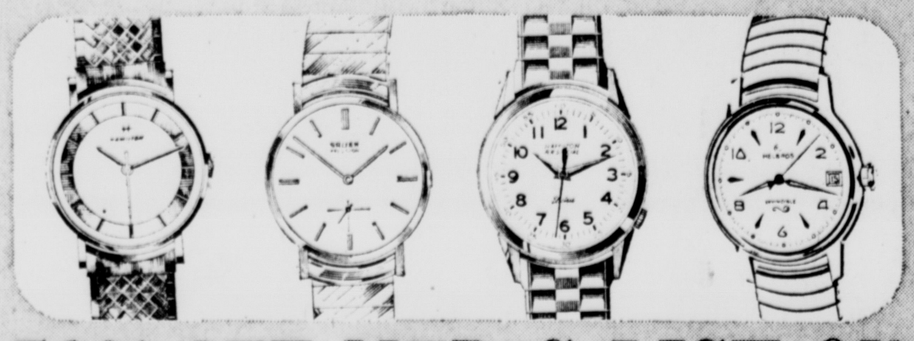

Awards Given

Inspection of Troop sites at various times throughout the weekend was carried out for the purpose of judging the Troops' camping skills and abilities. At the closing ceremonies held on Sunday at 1 p. m., ribbons were awarded in three categories, as follows: First Award, indicating proficient camping skills—Troop 41 of Catskill, and Troop 45 of Coxsackie; Second Award, indicating the maintenance of standard camping skills—Troop 32 of Saugerties, 42 of Greenville, 4 of Catskill, 130 of Saugerties and 141 of Catskill. Third Award, or participating ribbons were awarded to Troops 100 of Palenville and 101 of Durham.

Cablevision Has Office Manager

JOHN A. MORE

The appointment of John A. More as office manager for Kingston Cablevision Inc., has been announced by Richard (Dick) Allwork, general manager.

More, a native of Oneonta and graduate of Oneonta High School prior to assuming his new position here was employed by ITT Data Services at Paramus, N. J.

A graduate of Clarkson College of Technology, Potsdam, with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree, More served in the U. S. Navy as a commissioned officer aboard the USS Kearsage anti-submarie aircraft carrier. He joined ITT Data Services in 1962 following his Navy service.

More and his wife, Marilyn, will make their home in the Town of Ulster.

"The addition of Mr. More to our staff will greatly assist in implementing Cablevision's program of added service to our growing list of subscribers in the Kingston and Woodstock areas," Allwork said. Recently instituted innovations in the business office, he noted a discount for customers who pay annually in advance, and provisions through which customers may pay monthly service charges at all branches of the Kingston Trust Company and the Rondout National Bank as well as at the Cablevision office at 2 Jansen Avenue.

Area Dem Lawyer Committee Will Back Frank Sedita

The following area committee has been named to serve as a Lawyers' Committee for the election of Frank Sedita, mayor of Buffalo, as Attorney General of the State of New York: Aaron E. Klein, chairman; Catherine Carlson of Shokan; John Joseph McCourt, of Marlboro; Franklin P. Gavin of Woodstock, John J. Schick of Kingston, and Manuel Dittenheimer and Irving Weinsoff of Ellenville.

In making the appointment of this committee, Klein, County Democratic chairman, pointed out that it was particularly within the competence of attorneys to make recommendations for the office of Chief Attorney of the State of New York. All too often an office such as that of Attorney General becomes a refuge for political worthies and merit is not necessarily a yardstick by which these positions are filled.

Klein said, "The office of the Attorney General should be above politics. The legal staff of the Attorney General should be paid adequately but should be entirely restrained from private practice (even on weekends and in the evening). This would result in the building up of career men with this important Department and there will never be any questions of political motivation of any kind."

FBI Reports Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports 97 per cent of the cases it investigated last year resulted in convictions.

The bureau said in its annual report today that 88.8 per cent of the 13,023 convictions in the year ended last June 30 were on guilty pleas. The total of convictions was a record for a peacetime fiscal year.

The report also said the FBI had located 14,323 fugitives — including 20 who had appeared on its "10 most-wanted" list — and had recovered a record 21,154 stolen motor vehicles.

The FBI also reported that at year's end its identification division had 179,775,988 fingerprint cards on file.

Nursery School To Hear Speaker

Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Margaret Casson will speak on Block Building to the Huguenot Street Nursing School parents and board members.

Mrs. Casson is an associate professor at the State University College at New Paltz. She teaches kindergarten and has been a consultant to various Head Start programs around the county. She has also taught kindergarten at the Campus School at the University of Florida, and she has given talks for the Association for the Education of Young Children on Block Building.

Anyone who is interested in nursery school education may attend. This includes fathers, as well as mothers. The program will take place in the nursery school rooms in the Education Building of the New Paltz Reformed Church.

For further information Mrs. Joan Davison or Mrs. Lucille Snow may be contacted.

Korean Student Is Enrolled Here

Hong Jeun Uk, an eleventh grade student at New Paltz High School, is a native of South Korea, where she spent the first ten years of her life. She also spent several years in Germany where her father, an American, is studying medicine and where her mother and father now live. Hong Jeun made the flight across the Atlantic Ocean alone and spent the summer in Washington, D. C. In New Paltz, Hong Jeun is living with the Richard Petersons, who invited her to spend a year in the United States attending an American high school.

Hong Jeun likes her high school life in New Paltz very much .She is particularly impressed by the number of activities and courses that are available to the students to help them develop their talents and interests.

Urges Grain Be Released to Area

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced that he has requested Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to release Government owned grain to livestock owners in Ulster County.

In a statement this morning Congressman Resnick said, "Federal law permits the government to make these grains available at reduced cost to livestock owners where the situation warrants, and last Summer's drought has certainly resulted in smaller crops of silage, hay, and other forage crops within Ulster County."

The applications for permission to purchase government-owned grain at lowered price has been recommended by the Disaster Committee of Ulster County, and was forwarded to the New York State Disaster Committee in Syracuse, who in turn have recommended that the Governor request Secretary Freeman to grant this assistance to Ulster County's livestock owners.

The term used to designate the monetary system of the United States is the decimal system.

Town of Olive Democratic Club

Ashokan, New York

Town Board,
Town of Olive,
West Shokan, New York

The Town of Olive Democratic Club wishes to condemn the Olive Town Board's short-sighted management of the Olive Dump.

We are wondering upon what basis the Town Board feels justified in using taxpayer's money to hire personnel to keep the Town Dump open at little-used times when the same tax money could be used to keep the dump open evenings and week-ends.

Also, how can you justify using Olive taxpayer's money to build a fence and hire personnel to maintain and patrol the dump when the Town neither owns the property, nor, as it appears, even had any written agreement safeguarding these expenditures. This could have been costly speculation had the owners decided not to sell.

With the threat of Olive taxes perhaps doubling in the near future, it seems that the least the Olive Town Board could do would be to inquire as to the needs of the Olive residents as to the time they would want the dump open, rather than paying personnel to keep the dump open at the time that the Town Board tells the Olive residents is best for them.

While we work for honest government in the Town of Olive, we remain,

Sincerely,
OLIVE DEMOCRATIC CLUB

P.S.: Perhaps you'd care to comment on these at the Town Board Special 1967 Budget hearing tonight at 8 p. m. in the Town Garage?

SIDE GLANCES By GILL FOX

"Don't expect too much, if I had any sense, I wouldn't be here!"

Tax Questions, Answers

Q—I just quit my summer job to go back to school. When is my employer supposed to give me a Form W-2?

A—In your case it should be within 30 days of your final pay day. Be sure to file the Form W-2 with your 1966 tax return. If your total income was under $600 for the year you still have to file to get a refund of income taxes withheld.

Q—I'm making much more money this year than I expected. Can I change my declaration of estimated tax?

A—Yes you can. On the reverse side of the estimated tax installment notice you receive there is a place to make a change. Instead of using the next notice form you may take a copy of Form 1040-ES (Amended) which you may obtain by dropping a post card to your IRS district office and send that in.

If the change occured after September 1, the amended declaration should be filed by January 16, 1967.

Wants Talk With IRS

Q—I disagreed with the agent auditing my return and told him so. I then received a letter suggesting I take my case to the Appellate Division of the IRS. Can't I also ask for some other sort of conference with the IRS?

A—Yes you can. In some cases however, where it seems likely that the issue cannot be resolved at a district conference, IRS encourages taxpayers to go directly to Appellate.

If you want to present your case at a district conference first, however, contact the district director and he will arrange it.

Q—How do I go about setting up a pension plan for myself and my employees? I have a small unincorporated repair business.

A—This is explained in the free Document No. 5592, Retirement Plans Self-Employed Individuals, which is available by dropping a post card to your IRS district director.

Q—Will your Teaching Taxes program be offered to schools again this year?

A—Yes it will. Notices on the program are being sent to junior and senior high schools as well as some business schools and colleges. Schools wishing to participate will receive their free materials the first of the year when the 1967 tax forms and instructions are available.

Children Liable for Interest

Q—I'm buying Series E savings bonds for my child's education. Do I have to report the interest on my return or can I put it on my child's return since he is the owner of the bonds?

A—If your child is listed as the owner of the bonds then he or she is liable for the interest. If your child elects to report the increase in bond value each year, the child should file a return showing this interest and any other income he might have the first year. Then no further return need be filed until the child has $600 income a year. If this election is not made the interest is reported when the bond is cashed.

Keep a copy of that first return to show that the interest has been reported.

Q—My boss told me that if I knew how to take shorthand I'd be promoted to secretary. If I took a course for this would the cost be deductible?

A—No, since educational expenses incurred to obtain a promotion or a better job do not qualify. If a course is required by your employer to keep your present job the costs would be deductible.

Rondout Valley Lists Plans for Education Week

Robert A. Robertaccio, assistant superintendent of schools for pupil personnel services, has been named chairman of the American Education Week Committee for the Rondout Valley Central School District.

American Education Week will be observed nationwide from Nov. 6 through Nov. 12. This year's theme is Education Adds Up.

Working with Robertaccio are the following committee members: Mrs. Rita Blanchard and Mrs. Jessie Carr from the Accord Elementary School; Miss Rita Cushner, Kerhonkson Elementary School; Peter Hengstenberg, Marbletown Elementary School; Miss Susan Hornaker, Rosendale Elementary School; and Mrs. Austie Mayberry, Rondout Valley High School.

Following the custom of past years, each school in the district will hold open house. The Rosendale open house is scheduled for Nov. 2; Accord's will be on Nov. 3; Kerhonkson's on Nov. 9; High School, Nov. 15 and that of the Marbletown School Nov. 16. Further information on each school's open house program will be released at a later date.

American Education Week is sponsored nationally this year, as in former years, by the United States Office of Education, the National Education Association, the American Legion and the Parent - Teacher Association.

Hungarian Rule Edgy on Revolt's 10th Anniversary

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this dispatch has covered the news in Hungary at intervals in the last 17 years. One of several AP reporters there at the time of the 1956 revolt, he was arrested and expelled in mid-December that year. Since then he has been back to Hungary several times.

By ERIC WAHA

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — "You from the West did not help us in 1956 — why are you interested in the Hungarian revolution now?" the former revolutionary asked bitterly.

At the Hungarian Foreign Ministry a spokesman said the great majority of people have all but forgotten about the 1956 uprising.

A taxi chauffeur, after making sure nobody else was within earshot, spoke up. "Long live free Hungary."

These three stands seem to reflect the attitude of the Hungarians 10 years after this Communist-ruled country tried to shake off communism.

Fighting in 1956

The revolution broke out Oct. 23, 1956. There was a brief span of jubilation before the Russians smashed it Nov. 4.

The impact of the Soviet action was resounding. Thousands of Western Communists tore up their party cards. Demonstrations were held in various western capitals and many Communist party offices were ransacked. World communism suffered a setback. In Austria, the Communists were wiped out in Parliament and have not succeeded in coming back.

The Foreign Ministry refuses to arrange interviews with leaders involved in the revolution or visits to factories such as the huge plant of Csepel Island which had a role in the uprising. Without approval, such interviews or visits to plants are in fact barred.

Avoid Embarrassment

Western observers here agree the regime's apparent jitters are not due to fears of unrest on the anniversary date. But the regime obviously feels that even small incidents could be embarrassing. There are signs of increased police activities on the roads to and from Budapest.

About 200,000 Hungarians fled to the West after the 1956 revolution. The Foreign Ministry says about 50,000 have returned.

The number of Hungarians seeking refuge in other countries now is down to a few hundred every year. A modernized Iron Curtain studded with electronic gadgets plus barbed wire and minefields on some stretches makes it hazardous to try to escape to the West.

But an increasing number of Hungarians defect during tourist trips abroad.

Hungary today seems much better off than before the uprising, but liberalization has slowed down in the past two years.

Life Less Restricted

The Communists did partly meet a basic demand of the revolutionaries for more freedom. In the years 1956-63 life here undoubtedly became less restricted. Party chief Janos Kadar set the line with his statement that "anyone who is not against us is in fact for us."

Nonparty members were given top jobs in the economy. A boom on foreign travel started. Tens of thousands of Hungarians were given passports to visit the West. Such Western travel has stagnated since 1965. Officials explain one reason is lack of foreign currency.

Grange Members Meet Freeman On Recent Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Everett, Grange deputies of Ulster County, were among the guests at the reception and banquet held recently in honor of U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman at the Echo Hotel in Ellenville.

Judy Bruning and Mrs. Charles Clark of the Plattekill Grange and Patricia Schreiber and Eleanor Crilley of the Huguenot Grange participated in the Rose Drill of the 6th Degree conferred at the special session of the State Grange held at Ockawamick Central School in Philmont, last week.

Others attending were Nathaniel Dawes, Plattekill Grange master, Mr. and Mrs. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daino, Charles Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Eber Smith and Mrs. Grace Bernard.

The regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange will be held on Saturday at 8 p. m. The program Halloween Fun Night will consist of games, recreation and a demonstration of seasonal table decorations. Mrs. Clark, lecturer, will be assisted by Mrs. Burton Ward, Mrs. Philip Rappalyea, Mrs. Walter Lofink, Arlene Bernard, Mrs. George Lare and Mrs. Anthony Siciliano. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Vau Dusre will be chairmen of the Social Committee.

Plans are underway for the annual Turkey Dinner to be held at the Grange Hall on Saturday, November 19, with servings from 4 to 8 p. m. with music for dancing by the Kentucky Moonshiners from 8-12 p. m.

Guide Disabled On Employment Is Topic of ARC

A topic of interest to area residents will be discussed at the first general meeting of the Ulster County Chapter, Association for Retarded Children on Thursday, 8 p. m. at George Washington Cafeteria.

Miss Catherine M. Grace, supervisor of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Poughkeepsie office, which serves Ulster County, has been asked to speak on vocational counseling and guidance in helping people with disabilities to enter suitable employment. The services of the DVR office also help to provide training of people for proper jobs. The local chapter, an agency of Ulster County Community Chest, has begun plans for the establishment of a sheltered worshop in the Kingston area.

It is essential to provide persons with disabilities a means for suitable employment, once completing educational requirements set up by the State Department of Education. The DVR is part of the New York State Education Department.

Miss Grace has been in the Poughkeepsie office, which serves four adjacent counties, since March 1966. Prior to her coming to this area, she worked in the Albany office.

All area residents are invited to this general meeting.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

Saturday, Oct. 8, 1966 was one when men like the late John Burroughs (1837-1921) the famous naturalist, enjoyed, Slabsides, his home, in West Park. Slabsides is a rustic sturdy cabin built for outdoor men, by Burroughs for himself and many prominent men who visited him, like the late Henry Ford. They now have a very interesting rustic sign at the foot of Burroughs Drive reading Burroughs' Sanctuary. To enjoy the location, it is best to walk up the hill, slowly. It is winding with many trees all now turning a golden color and the sun shining through it. There is a silence which is strange at first, yet one can hear an occasional plane above. I did not see any small animals about, even squirrels, and birds seem to be silent, yet the land is rocky, wooded and should be the home of many of nature's pets, I think.

This time, (I have visited there two other times,) I came upon a back road, and saw the large rock formation against which the Slabsides cabin stands through all these years. There was never any need for a lawn mower up around that way, for there are no spots of green grass or level ground. It has to be seen to be appreciated and enjoyed. The large porch can be reached by two entrances, and on one side it is much wider, perhaps for a table and refreshments during good weather. It has a good roof and over-hang. This building was of John Burrough's own design, and through these many years it stood up to the weather very nicely. It is the type of retreat harrassed businsesmen dream about to retire to, or vacation at. At this spot John Burroughs wrote his articles and books which are as popular on the west coast as here in his home country.

Saturday, Oct. 8, 1966 was open house as members of the John Burroughs Memorial Association and the John Burroughs Natural History Soceity welcomed the some 100 visitors who came there to see the famous cabin. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley, John Burroughs granddaughter, and a graduate of our own Kingston High School was there to greet everyone. She also has written a book on her grandfather which is very interesting, and I read sometime ago and hope to again. She also gave a talk on her grandfather which I missed.

When I was there Augusts Upitis of Poughkeepsie, a professional photographer was taking pictures for the Central Hudson brochures which comes out with the bills, they told me. The Griffin Paper Co. of Kingston, has some colorful post cards of Slabsides one of which I have from Mrs. Kelley. There is also another one of the fire place. The uprights on the porch are made from trunks of trees showing the stubs of branches. The fireplace outside chimney is made with flat stones, as no doubt found around the premises. Everything touching the ground, each post is supported with a number of stones so they do not touch the earth and therefore, I take it have been preserved. Everyone knows and recognizes this cabin from its picture, who ever heard or read Burroughs writings.

Closer Red Ties

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Closer ties with Communist bloc countries and increased Arab pressure against Israel are the foreign policy aims of Syria's revamped Baath Socialist party government.

Premier Youssef Zayyen announced these aims Monday night in his first statement since the anti-Western regime's Cabinet was reorganized Sunday. Four ministers were dismissed and eight new ones appointed to form a 23-man Cabinet.

Zayyen said the new government believes that a "liberation war" is the only course to recover Palestine from Israel. He announced the government would seek to "develop the war power of the Syrian armed forces."

base 97 miles north of Wellington. After watching a colorful Maori ceremony there the President and the First Lady flew to the capital with Prime Minister and Mrs. Keith Holyoake.

Speeches, Toast, Dinner

There were the customary airport speeches and later conviviality and a round of toasts at a dinner and reception given by the governor general, Sir Bernard Fergusson, and Lady Fergusson.

Thursday Johnson will lay a wreath at a war memorial, meet with opposition leader Norman Kirk, who would like to unseat Holyoake in the Nov. 26 parliamentary election, and appear on television with Holyoake.

Australia Next

Then the Johnsons will be off to Australia for three days of visiting before flying to Manila for his Oct. 24-25 conference with leaders of six countries allied with the United States in the Viet Nam war.

In his arrival speech at Ohakea, the President recalled his last visit as a U.S. Navy officer in 1942 and said the United States and New Zealand then were "allied in a grim moment of history" and now in Viet Nam are allied in another "grim if small conflict."

Recalls Wartime Association

He recalled his wartime association with New Zealand again at the Wellington airport an hour later, saying he had been seriously ill in Fiji and "it was New Zealand doctors who pulled me through."

In Pago Pago, the Johnsons were received by Samoan chiefs with the royal ava ceremony which — according to the script — required them to drink the bitter juice brewed from the root of the ava tree.

The President merely touched the cup to his lips, but Mrs. Johnson sipped most of hers, reporting later that it had "a slightly medicinal taste."

The Johnsons then drove into the junglelike countryside where she cut a ribbon of flowers to dedicate the Lady Bird School — one of a number of consolidated elementary schools being built on the island.

A feature of the island school system is educational television, and the Johnsons watched television classes in operation.

lenville, asked that the change be made. It was stated that in July traffic conditions were such as to make the holding of a parade impossible in the area and Morton Finch, chairman of the board of directors of the Association moved, and Donald Sullivan seconded, a motion that the suggestion of Williams be approved. The regular business session and election of officers will take place in July but the parade will be postponed until the Saturday after Labor Day.

The County volunteers met Tuesday night at West Camp, guests of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company. A welcome was extended by Franklin P. Clum, president, and Robert Kuhar, president of the County Association, presided at the meeting, which was attended by approximately 150 members. Thirty-three companies were represented.

In the opening prayer by Past President Adam Ulrich he referred to the fire tragedy in New York City in which 12 firemen lost their lives in fighting a fire at 23rd Street and Broadway and later in the meeting the Association adopted a resolution that the Board of Directors of the County Association prepare a suitable resolution and forward it to Fire Commissioner Robert O. Lowery of New York, expressing the sentiments of the local firemanic association to the wives and families of the deceased firemen.

Accepted into membership was the newly-formed Alligerville Fire Company, Milton Makowsky, president. The application of Sherman R. Curry, Pioneer Engine Company of Ellenville, was also acted upon favorible by the Association.

Hurley Next Meeting

Reports were submitted by Ellenville, Port Ewen, Saugerties, Modena, New Paltz, Ulster Hose No. 5 and Hurley on the Fire Prevention programs in their areas. Drills were held, firehouses were opened to the public and fire prevention materials were distributed to schools of the area in an effort to aquaint the public of the danger of fire and methods for prevention of fires.

The meeting on Nov. 15 will be held in Hurley as guests of the Hurley Fire Company.

Subpoena 2 made today by Noel Tepper, attorney for Eric Lindbloom, and members of the Independent Committee supporting Eric Lindbloom as an Independent "peace" candidate for congress from the 28th Congressional District.

In Second Week

The statement that subpoenas for the two would be issued came after the matter had gone into its second week in Albany where Judge Mino, appointed by the Supreme Court to hear the matter, has been holding hearings on the validity of signatures to the Lindbloom petition. Karchmer challenges some 2,900 of the 5,400 signatures on the Lindbloom nominating petition.

Tepper said he would also subpoena all of Karchmer's records and all the records Congressman Resnick or his office may have that related to the challenge. The records will be used, Tepper said, as evidence for a motion he is bringing to dismiss the challenge because Karchmer "is not the real party in interest to this action but a front man for someone else."

Testified 5 Hours

Nancy Marx, co-chairman of the Independent Voters Peace Committee, was only the fourth witness to testify before the court in the hearing which is now in its second week. She was on the stand for five straight hours Tuesday to testify to the good faith and practices of the signers on the nominating petitions.

Karchmer, an employe of Channel Master Corp., who brings the action challenging the Lindbloom signatures, still has not appeared in court although aides from Congressman Resnick's office has been present.

Happy to Testify

In New City, a radio newsman said Resnick told him in a phone conversation from Washington that he would be "happy to testify if need be."

Resnick said "many good people had been hoodwinked into signing what they thought was a peace petition.'

However, he said, you can't subpoena a congressman while Congress is in session, "as any schoolboy should know."

and has passed the Common Council. Its enactment awaits a public hearing and approval by the mayor. In the discussion period which followed no one opposed the bill in principle. The principal areas of discussion were the extent of the tax moratorium and the methods of financing the rehabilitation. Many speakers pointed out that the key to the successful enforcement of the legislation was the cooperation of local banks and federal agencies with the means to advance funds for the necessary jobs of restoration.

In the audience were Councilmen Joseph Epstein, John Machione and George Margolis; Walter Donnaruma, tax consultant and appraiser; Joseph F. Saccoman, realtor; Joseph Avis, attorney; Oscar V. Newkirk, postmaster and former mayor; the Rev. Patrick D. Carney of Poughkeepsie representing the Human Relations Commission of that city; the Rev. Richard R. Guice, the Rev. Vernon Douglas and the Rev. S. B. Chappell of local churches; Albert Brown, president of CORE and Everette Hodge, president of NAACP; Eddie A. Parker of the Rondout Citizens Advisory Committee; Ralph Marello and Ward Tongue of Urban Renewal. Also present were Human Relations Commission members Mrs. Herbert Shein, Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman and Avan Holland.

At the conclusion of the meeting the chairman disclosed that the bill had provoked widespread interest and on behalf of the Commission congratulated Mayor Garraghan and the Common Council on the conception of a truly imaginative and novel approach to an old and distressing problem.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market faltered early this afternoon, halting a rally part way through its third straight session.

From a modest gain at the start, the market went to a definite loss in most indicators. Trading was fairly active, the heaviest of the week in the morning.

Profit takers had moved into clip prices and there was little in the way of overnight news to stimulate investors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 286.5 with industrials off .8, rails off .9 and utilities up .4.

The utilities were continuing a good performance which has attracted much favorable comment in Wall Street recently.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.90 at 789.97.

General Electric was up about 1½ at the start as it continued to respond to intervention by Washington to stop walkous against GE but the stock erased almost all of this gain.

New York Central fell more than 3 and Pennsylvania Railroad more than 2 in reaction to the Supreme Court ruling which delayed their proposed merger until at least Jan. 9.

Polaroid sank nearly 3 points despite a sharp gain in sales. Xerox lost more than 4.

Car Out of Control

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — An automobile driven by an 80-year-old man ran out of control at Main Street and Broadway Tuesday in heavy, downtown traffic, struck three moving vehicles and shoved a parked car into the window of a tavern.

Frank A. Webb of Oneonta, driver of the runaway car, was reported in critical condition today at Albany Medical Center Hospital. He suffered multiple fractures, apparently after a heart attack.

The parked car crushed a bicycle as it hurtled forward. Webb's careening car hit one vehicle three times. No one but Webb was injured.

recommended for three reasons:

It is large enough for an elementary school and for future expansion; the cost of the land and its development will not put a heavy burden on taxpayers; and the site is in an area of prospective growth and a school located here will serve the Rosendae, High Falls, Cottekill and Binnewater areas, relieving overcrowded conditions at the Marbletown School.

The cost of $28,000 represents only a small increase in school costs. Figures for carrying the $28,000 over the next 20 years have been estimated as follows:

Marbletown — 7½ cents per $1000.

Rochester—6 cents per $1000.

Rosendale—13 cents per $1000.

Warwarsing — 10 cents per $1000.

(The differences in the figures are due to differences in assessments in the four townships.)

The school board contends that an affirmative vote Nov. 1 will provide the district with the needed land for present and future requirements. The need for long-range planning has been demonstrated many times. The use of temporary units to take care of the periodic lack of classroom space is costly and provides only a short-term answer at best. Intelligent planning for the future will help eliminate makeshift measures and provide the best educational facilities for the district's children.

Residents will vote on Tuesday, Nov. 1, from 2 to 9 p. m. in the high school gymnasium.

Twentieth Century-Fox Is Making Money

Q) "On the strength of the earnings report, I bought 100 Twentieth Century-Fox at 35. Then it dropped sharply and I wonder if I should continue to hold it."—R. C.

A) Yes, you should. Speculative potential is attractive, looking ahead for the next two or three years. Shares had a good rebound, coinciding with the completion of a $19.5 million licensing agreement with American Broadcasting for the televising of 17 movies, including Cleopatra. The latter will probably appear twice for TV home viewers over the next four years.

Meanwhile the dollars continue to roll in from The Sound of Music, which is rapidly catching up with filmdom's No. 1 moneymaker—Gone With The Wind. The sharp drop in TF which disturbed you resulted from a temporary snag in the premiere showing of its newest spectacular, The Bible. While it is too early to judge its box office appeal over a wide area, company expects it to boost revenues for 1967.

Q) "It was recently brought to my attention that the dividends paid by certain utility companies are exempt from Federal income tax. Is this correct?" —J. C.

A) Yes, it is, but not to the extent that total exemption is allowed nor a flat rate set up. The so-called "tax shelter" feature varies from company to company, because it results from certain accounting practices within the company.

On the basis of allowances on 1965 tax returns, here is a sampling of well-known companies with exemptions above 50 per cent: Arizona Public Service, Consolidated Edison, Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line, Orange & Rockland Utilities, Pacific Power & Light and Puget Sound Power & Light.

Exemptions under 50 per cent were allowed on dividends paid by Atlantic City Electric, Duquesne Light, El Paso Natural Gas, New England Electric System, Niagara Mohawk Power, Potomac Electric, Tennessee Gas Transmission, Union Electric and Washington Water Power and a number of others. Similar exemptions are looked for again this year, but of course there is no guarantee.

Women's Health Club Heralds YMCA Family Center Concept

BY HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman Staff Writer

The concept of the YMCA as a family service organization gains more credibility every day as the local 'Y' steps up its programs for women and girls. One of these programs, and perhaps one of the most important, is the Women's Health Club.

This organization, inaugurated last year, already boasts over 100 members and threatens to rival the membership of its opposite number, the Men's Halth Club, which has been in existence for almost as long as the local YMCA.

Was Haven for Men

This long tradition of the YMCA as a haven for men is one of the problems the present directors must overcome in setting up their family-type concept of memebrship.

Many women are hesitant about participating in the YMCA's programs for them because of the dominant idea that it is strictly for men. Men themselves haven't been too keen, until recently, to allow their wives and daughters to become active members of the YMCA.

One can not really blame the YMCA for the early problems it had recruiting women members. The YMCA is, and always has been, a community service organization. As such it offers the services and programs it feels the community wants and needs.

When the local "Y" was opened in 1892, the needs of the community it was serving were vastly different than today.

The YMCA of those days was definitely a Young Man's Christian Association with participation by women or girls either barred or strongly frowned upon. A woman would no more think of going in the YMCA than in a bowling alley.

The boys participated in YMCA programs with their fathers while the women and girls had to seek separate recreational facilities and join the YWCA which opened here in 1923.

This system of separation of family members began to take its toll with fathers working all day and finding their recreation with a night out with the boys; mothers doing the housework, or working, or as in post World War II years, doing both; and children left to shift for themselves. Children grew to maturity without parents ever getting to know them and vice versa.

The YMCA has long recognized the benefit of recreational programs for children. It has perhaps the most outstanding program of any service organization in this country in this field.

The idea that a family that plays together stays together has taken hold in recent years and is being implemented nationally into the YMCA program.

The Women's Health Club of the local "Y" is just such an example of the "Y's" new concept of a family center.

It is now conceivable that on any given day a mother, father, daughter and son in a family could be enjoying and benefiting from the facilities of the YMCA.

Well-Planned Program

The Women's Health Club offers a well-planned program of exercise, swimming and sauna to help take off those extra pounds.

One of the features of the program is that everyone works at their own pace. It is no Army basic training sort of thing where constant pressure is exerted. In fact, the scale hidden discreetly in the corner, is known to read at least 10 pounds underweight.

The club has been set up for women and features many facilities women would find attractive. For instance, there is a baby sitting service provided by the YMCA at a nominal fee. While mother is downstairs regaining her girlish figure the children are being carefully supervised by Mrs. Helen Vogt, herself a mother of five school-age youngsters.

Hair Dryers

The hair dryers are another example of the women's touch at the YMCA. There are three of them in service along with magazines to interest the women.

The physical aspect of the Women's Health Club is not its sole attraction according to Mrs. John Wilkie of Stone Ridge, the YMCA's Women's Health Club Committee chairman.

"It's the friendly, relaxed atmosphere that a lot of our members like," Mrs. Wilkie said. Most of our members just want to break the routine of housework or a job once or twice a week." If they lose a little weight, all the better."

The club meets Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and Tuesday and Friday night from 7-10 o'clock. The program sounds like a good deal for area women. After all, girls, What do you have to lose? Maybe a few pounds.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Gertrude Berg, who died Sept. 14 at the age of 66, left an estate estimated to be worth $346,000.

Her will was filed for probate in Surrogates Court Monday.

Mrs. Berg, whose greatest fame was in the role of Mollie Goldberg, left half of her estate to her husband, Lewis Berg. He was named executor.

Mrs. Berg left $10,000 to her secretary, Gannie Merrill, and $1,000 to a servant, Louise Hoff.

A daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. David Schwartz of West Nyack, N.Y., received one-quarter of the estate.

The remainder was left in trust for a son, Cherney Berg of Manhattan.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Hot money, cold noses and frozen instead of liquid assets is the way one New York banker described the situation that closed Intra Bank, Lebanon's largest.

This explanation skirts the motives, which could include Arab politics, or the reason for the too-late action by the bank, which could have resulted from an internal squabble that paralyzed decision making.

Hot money, in the parlance of banking, means cash that seeks out the highest interest rates regardless of many other factors. It moves for ⅛ of a point; it is big money and can make big profits from small fractions.

The cold nose helps sniff out the best rates. Intra had been paying high rates. But interest has been rising everywhere recently. Others matched Intra. Perhaps, in the depositors' views, other banks offered more security, too.

This was a situation that many banks could have lived with if they had been liquid; that is, if they could have quickly converted their assets into cash to meet sudden withdrawal demands.

Intra, however, reportedly had much of its assets tied up in Lebanese and foreign real estate and industry. It couldn't quickly convert them to cash. And if it tried, its desperation would be detected. The prices for its assets would drop.

"In other qords," said the banker, 'they committed the cardinal sin in banking: they borrowed short and they lent long." They had no long-term hold on their depositors' money; but they invested these deposits for a long period.

Although Intra's may be a special situation, it is tied to the current instability in world money.

Intra might have been able to remain open if money weren't tight. But money is in great demand. It isn't easily available anywhere now. The sheiks, who have it, could be choosy.

Why is this? Inflation has caused a profits squeeze for many corporations, thus preventing them from using their own money for expansion. They have been borrowing. Then credit controls have lowered the money supply.

Another factor is the U.S. balance of payments situation. In order to check the outflow of dollars, many American corporations expanding in Europe have raised money there instead of domestically.

The problem facing Lebanon now is to "encapsulate" Intra, to isolate the infection, to cut off Intra from the rest of the economy. Another possibility is to sell the bank to a large organization with liquid assets.

This might be hard on those with claims against the bank, but they have little choice. Intra reportedly has assets of 230 million and claims of only $170 million. Eventually, everyone might get his money.

The Central Bank of Lebanon then must watch for a run on other banks as they reopen Thursday. If nobody demands return of their deposits nothing may need to be done.

Red Guards Hit Out at Peking Party, Leader

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —The Red Guards of China poured into the streets of Peking today, thumping on drums in demonstrations against the Communist party Committee of Peking and its leader, Li Hsueh-feng, the news agency Tanjug reported.

Startle Foreigners

The official Yugoslav agency said the demonstrations startled foreigners in Peking because Li only Tuesday rode in a motorcade headed by Mao Tse-tung in a review of 1.5 million Red Guards. That turnout was designed as a rebuff to Soviet bloc criticism of the Red Guards movement.

The agency's dispatch from Peking also said Red Guards papers published an article entitled, "Twenty big crimes of Li Hsueh - feng," accusing Li of drawing up policies that counter Mao's line.

The dispatch reported that Vang Ne-mao, chief of the Sinkiang Province Communist party, also had come under Red Guards fire. It said a Red Guards poster from Sinkiang demanded that Vang be burned at the stake and that his Communist headquarters be bombed because the Sinkiang leadership had incited the masses against Red Guards students.

War Preparation Urged

Mao, who is China's Communist chief, and his No. 2 man, Defense Minister Lin Piao,are using the Red guards to enforce a purge throughout China.

In another dispatch, Tanjug reported that Premier Cho En-lai had told the Red Guards that China should prepare for another world war although chances for its outbreak are small.

The dispatch quoted Chou as saying the United States and the Soviet Union consider Red China their biggest enemy.

HOPE Visits Corinto

Last January, a gleaming white ship eased into the small Nicaraguan port of Corinto for a visit that was to last almost a year. She was the hospital ship Hope, a project of the American People-to-People Health Foundation, Inc., making her first call in Central America. On board were 130 American doctors, dentists, nurses and technicians. The Hope's mission ends in November, but she will leave behind a legacy of medical know-how and good will. By the time she sails, her staff will have used their skills to train some 600 Nicaraguan medical personnel and benefited more than 100,000 others through treatment, immunization and programs in nutrition.

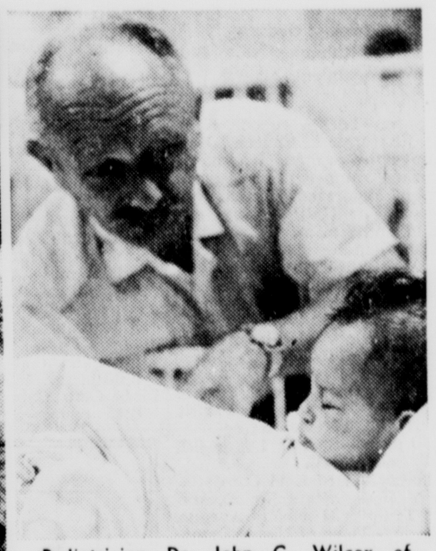

A Nicaraguan boy leads his blind father along the pier next to the Hope. Word of the mercy ship's visit quickly spread and people traveled hundreds of miles seeking treatment.

The gaily decorated pediatric ward delights children. Hope nurses receive only token salaries during the 10-month mission and each shares her medical knowledge by helping train a local nurse.

Dietitian Jane Mitchell of Plain City, Ohio, leads a discussion of good eating habits. The Hope's staff gives informal instruction in nutrition, sanitation and personal hygiene in homes, schools and clinics.

Pediatrician Dr. John C. Wilcox of Pomona, Calif., one of 150 U.S. physicians volunteering for two-month tours aboard the Hope, checks the progress of a Nicaraguan child.

Industrial Accidents

Industrial accident rates in the United States reached their highest peak during the first decade of the 20th century, about 1907. That year, 4,534 workers were killed in railroading and 2,534 men were killed in bituminous coal mines according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Mrs. Frances Gould, violinist of Lake View Terrace, New Salem began her concert schedule the latter part of September and has already performed in four concerts with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic under the direction of Claude Monteux. These performances were given in Poughkeepsie, Pawling and Newburgh.

Power Failure

MONTREAL (AP) — An overloaded circuit blew fuses in dozens of power stations today and blacked out half the Montreal metropolitan area for 50 minutes.

The overload occurred on a 300,000-volt transmission line between Quebec City and Montreal. Sixteen Montreal power stations were affected.

FEATURED IN KAPERS—The ever-popular banjo artist, Pete Mathews, proved to be a stellar hit again during Tuesday night's performance of Kiwanis Kapers at Kingston High School. Pete, flanked by Lynn Gallo and Pat Fenton, also is joined by Tony Pizzarelli, another well-known area banjoist in the comedy spoof which continues tonight and Thursday. The curtain will go up at 8:15 tonight and Thursday. (Powell photo.)

Manipulations Are Outlined On Bills Through Congress

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — You read that the House passed today a compromise bill to do so and so and you have a curious feeling that you read this story before, not long ago.

If you are a consistent reader of national news, you may be having that little tickle of memory oftener and oftener as the House and Senate plow through the remaining business to end a Congress' two-year work this week.

Action on Reports

Your memory is not tricking you. You have read something very similar, not long ago. What you are reading now is, technically, action on reports of conference committees.

Here is a rundown on the operation of such committees, made necessary by the makeup of Congress — a coequal House of Representatives and Senate.

Obviously there will be times when a bill that started in one chamber will be amended by the other, or when the two chambers, starting separately, will produce different versions of legislation on the same subject.

When this happens, the originating chamber, House or Senate, has the choice of accepting the changes made by its opposite number, or asking for a conference to try to adjust the differences.

Go Through Channels

Most major bills and most minor ones that are at all controversial go through the conference process. It follows from this that most of the important laws are written, in their final form at least, by a relatively small group of senior congressmen and senators.

A conference committee traditionally is made up of senior members of both parties, from the Senate and the House committees that handled the legislation. The majority party, at present the Democrats, has a majority of the conferees.

Conferences can be long and frustrating. The amendment made by one chamber to another's bill frequently is a total amendment — everything after the formal enacting clause is replaced by an entirely different legislative draft. The Senate, or the House, may limit its conferees' freedom to negotiate by voting to instruct them not to give in on this or that point.

Rider Explained

The House has a strict rule of germaneness — an amendment must relate clearly to the subject of the bill. The Senate has no effective rule of this sort. So the Senate has learned to hitch an entirely different bill — as an "amendment" — to an unrelated bill sent to it by the House. This is a handy way to rescue a bill that has fallen into the hands of an unfriendly committee or is otherwise held up at some procedural roadblock.

Somehow, conferences usually result in agreement and in reports which in turn are approved by the House and Senate — a process ordinarily spoken of as passing a compromise bill.

This suggests a little arithmetic that may reassure taxpayers who think Congress always acts hastily. A major program, foreign aid, for example, or housing, normally requires enactment of two bills, and the process goes like this:

The House passes an authorization bill setting the limit that may be spent. The Senate passes it, amended. There is a conference, which produces a report. The Senate and the House both approve the report. So far, four votes.

Then there is an appropriation bill actually providing the money. Same procedure. Total votes: eight.

Not necessarily perfect lawmaking — but not headlong haste, either.

Report More Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says disposable personal income — total income minus taxes — rose faster during the July-September period than prices.

This reversed conditions of the second quarter of 1966 when inflation more than canceled out the advances, the department said Monday night.

It reported that personal incomes rose to a record seasonally adjusted annual rate last month of $589.5 billion. During September alone, the department said, personal income increased $4.1 billion at an annual rate.

The department said all categories of income increased last month except for farm income which remained unchanged at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $15.4 billion.

Wages and salaries led the advance with a $2.1 billion increase to an annual rate of $399.1 billion. Pay raises and more hours worked were responsible for most of this advance.

Olive Baptists Greet Members

During the regular worship service of the Olive - Shokan Baptist Church, West Shokan the following people were presented certificates of baptism, church membership, Bibles and given the Right Hand of Christian Fellowship: Mrs. James Wilson, Alfred Wilson, Gail Nichols, and Miss Sherry Every.

The church also joined with churches around the world in observing World Literature Sunday. Conservative Baptist Churches send their gifts to Mr. Page an allegorical character who represents the production and distribution ministry of Christian literature around the world.

The special music was presented by the church choir. The message of the morning was God's Mission — My Mission.

Hits Land Mine

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An Israeli military command car today hit a mine near the Syrian border post from which an Israeli plane was fired on 24 hours earlier, a military spokesman reported.

He said one soldier was wounded when the car, on routine patrol in Israel territory, hit a mine about 500 yards from a Syrian post at Tel-Azaziat.

Israel was expected to protest both incidents to the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission. An Israeli charge of Syrian border aggression is now before the U.N. Security Council in New York.

C of C Supports 7 Amendments on Ballot, Downs 1

At their regular monthly meeting last week, the Board of Directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, officially endorsed recommendations made by the Chamber's State Affairs Committee concerning the proposition and eleven amendments which will appear on the ballot next month.

The recommendations of the State Affairs Committee, under chairman William E. Belser, followed a study of the issues by over 40 chamber members. The committee met on Stpt. 30, and, after discussion, developed the following recommendations:

Favors Recreation

Proposition 1—Bonds for outdoor recreation; would authorize the state to borrow $200,000,000 for a 10-year program to develop sites for outdoor recreation, state parks, forests, water recreation facilities and historic sites. Existing taxes on motor boat fuel and daily use charges for individual facilities would provide the income necessary to repay these bonds. Chamber recommendation: Vote — Yes.

Amendments No. 1 and 2 — Job Development Authority; these amendments would increase the amount available to the Job Development Authority for financing industrial expansion in New York State where new jobs would be attracted. The scope of the authority would also be expanded to allow loans in areas of the state where unemployment was not a critical level. Chamber recommendation: Vote — Yes.

Amendment No. 3—Concerning public housing and urban renewal; would permit local government bodies to base their debt for low housing, slum clearance and urban renewal on full valuation of the taxable real estate Debt limit is now based on assessed valuation. The amendment would allow a governmental body to raise more money for such purposes. Chamber recommendation: No Position Taken.

Amendment No. 4— Mental Health; would permit the State to loan money to private, nonprofit organizations for mental health facilities. Chamber recommendation: Vote—Yes.

Amendment No. 5—Concerning pensions for teachers' widows; would authorize the legislature to provide for increased pension payments of retired teachers who have been members of the State or New York City Retirement Systems. Chamber recommendation: No Position Taken.

Amendment No. 6 — Voting residence; would change the current one year minimum state residence requirement to three months for state or county or city or village. Would also eliminate the 90-day waiting period for newly naturalized citizens. Chamber recommendation: Vote —Yes.

Amendment No. 7—Lotteries; would empower the state to operate the lotteries only for the support of education. No provision has been made to limit the number or conditions under which the lottery would be operated. Chamber recommendation: Vote —No.

Amendment No. 8—Absentee registration; would broaden the ability for residents to qualify for absentee registration. Chamber recommendation: Vote—Yes.

Amendment No. 9—Buffalo fiscal independence; would allow Buffalo to decide by local election whether the city and its school district would have separate taxation and borrowing ability. Also would raise the tax limit from 2 per cent to 2½ per cent while leaving the present 9 per cent maximum on borrowing. Chamber recommendation: No Position Taken.

Amendments No. 10 and 11; would ease current limitations on the terms of judges in the State Court of Appeals and Appellate Divisions and would allow service beyond the present retirement age of 70. Chamber decommendation: Vote—Yes.

Belser announced that the Chamber's committee would provide detailed releases concerning each individual proposition and amendment prior to the November 8 election. Further, he noted that a fast sheet will be prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and distributed to its membership. This fast sheet will explain the issues, list the Chamber's position and provide a handy form for the member to use when going to the polls. Anyone desiring information about the issues to be decided by the ballot is urged to call the Chamber of Commerce.

Quash Crime Club

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)— City police say they have broken up a club of boys whose ticket for admission was to break the law by stealing or damaging property or committing other offenses.

Nine boys, ranging in age from 10 to 14, were taken into custody Monday, and police predicted that more arrests would follow. All of the youths, they said, came from upper -middle-class families and none had been in trouble with the law previously.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents, pending an appearance in Family Court.

Police said they had begun investigating the nameless club in July and estimated that about $1,000 in merchandise had been stolen by the youths toward a club "goal" of $2,400.

They said the boys were responsible for writing obscenities on the outside walls of 12 homes with spray paint, breaking windows of a school and stealing equipment from it, shoplifting and other offenses.

Police Chief John Paladino said the group had kept "very accurate records" of membership and unlawful activities.

Hints from Heloise
by Heloise Cruse

Many of you have written in regard to your synthetic fabric garments clinging to you because of static electricity.

Here is the solution that Miss Edna Schappert, the Educational Director of Man-Made Fiber Producers Association, Inc., has offered:

"Static is the force which causes the attraction of small bits or particles to an object after the object has been rubbed or exposed to abrasion.

"Sometimes in cold, dry weather, garments made from man-made fibers have a tendency to cling to the body, and this clinging is caused by what is commonly called static.

"This clinging tendency can be reduced in washable garments by adding a small amount of liquid detergent, fabric softener, or a special liquid antistatic agent to the final rinse water. Liquid antistatic agents can be obtained at notion counters in drug or department stores.

"Care and handling directions on labels and hangtags should, of course, be followed."

Can you imagine anyone being so nice to take the time to give this information for us housewives?

Dear Heloise:

Use a piece of leftover vinyl tile from your kitchen floor as a cutting board.

It is lightweight an easy to handle, and can be washed so easily and left out for the lazy ones in the house who are always cutting food on the counter top without bothering to haul out the heavy wooden cutting board.

Dear Heloise:

A lipstick with probably a third of its goodness unreachable in a tube has always been a challenge.

Last week I struck on this idea.

Using a letter opener, I gently pried out the imbedded lipstick and put a wad of cotton in the tube. I replaced the lipstick and presto, at least a third more usage...

Dear Heloise:

A fashion hint....

Always wear a taffeta slip under those lovely knit dresses and suits, as taffeta doesn't cling and skirts hang much nicer!

Dear Heloise:

I sometimes take that oversupply of metal clothes hangers from our clothes closets and make one stronger hanger out of four, by taping them neatly together. I also tape that little cardboard cover on to some of the "foursomes" for men's and boy's trousers.

I find this helps in keeping the closets neat, and of course if a shortage of hangers occurs, you can make four out of one!

Dear Heloise:

What to do with the leftover roast after sheing it cold, the hot sandiwches and the hash... and there is still some left?

Just slice this meat thin and pop it in the kettle to simmer along with your favorite spaghetti sauce.

Delicious.

Dear Heloise:

I grew weary of buying new sets of dishes to replace old broken sets...for everyday use.

I went to a second-hand store and bought avariety of dishes.

Nothing matches.

The children love the assortment.

Now, when something breaks, I just go back to the second-hand store and buy only what I need, making sure it doesn't match either!

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint for the ladies who like to use skin freshener or astringent, but dislike to have to take a cotton pad, wet it, wring it out and wet it again with the freshener...

Here's what I do:

I buy a box of cotton squares, take about a hundred of them and wet them with cold water. I then press the water out completely with the palm of my hand and pack them in a wide-mouth, squat jar.

I pour freshener over these coton squares until they are completely saturated, and put the cover on tightly.

Whenever I need to freshen up, I have my astringent pads handy with no mess or fuss.

Proposals Would Ease and Simplify Vote Requirements

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A proposal to relax and simplify the residency requirements for voting in state and local elections will be put before New York voters on Nov. 8.

It is one of 12 questions on which the electorate will be asked to make decisions in addition to balloting for state and local offices.

$200 Million for Parks

Eleven of the questions deal with proposed changes in the state Constitution. The remaining proposal would authorize the state to borrow $200 million to expand and develop its parks.

Under terms of the proposed amendment on voting, there would be a standard, three-month residency requirement for voting in the state, county, city or village in which he or she wishes to cast a ballot. In addition, he or she must have lived in the election district for at least 30 days.

The change, if adopted, would permit any U.S. citizen age 21 or older to vote, provided he or she had fulfilled the New York State residency requirements.

This procedure would eliminate the existing, 90-day waiting period imposed on naturalized citizens.

Existing constitutional standards are more stringent and more complicated.

For instance, a would - be voter must have been a citizen for 90 days, a resident of the state for a year and must have lived for four months in the county, city or village in which he or she wishes to cast a ballot. In addition, he or she must have lived in the election district for at least 30 days.

Case for Proposal

Those making a case for the proposed change say it is needed on the ground that:

— 90 days is a sufficient period of time for an otherwise qualified person to familiarize himself with the issues and take an informed position.

— The 90-day waiting period for naturalized citizens discriminates unfairly against those who have provided their ability to become full-fledged citizens.

— The state's population is growing increasingly more mobile and approval of the amendment would permit more persons to vote.

Opposing the amendment are those who contend it would encourage irresponsibility at the polls.

The opposition argument holds that a single 90-day residency requirement would not give a new resident enough time in which to become acquainted with the issues. Accordingly, a vote cast in ignorance of the facts would be harmful to the state, the argument goes.

Other proposals on the Nov. 8 ballot would:

— Permit a would-be voter to register to vote even though he or she may be required to be out of the county at registration time. Existing constitutional provisions now permit such absentee registration by persons who are out of the state during the registration period.

Schools in Buffalo

— Permit the voters of the City of Buffalo to decide whether the school district of that city should be given fiscal independence — taxing and borrowing powers separate from those of the municipal government. Supporters of the proposal note that all school districts in the state, except those of the six cities with populations of more than 125,000, are fiscally autonomous. They argue that it is unreasonable to deny independence to school districts in the big cities, while granting it elsewhere. Opponents say it would be poor fiscal policy to require a city to earmark funds for education without regard to the city's total needs for services.

— Permit retired judges of the Court of Appeals — those age 70 and older — to be designated by that court, the state's highest tribunal, to return to the court, if needed for three additional terms of two years each.

Retired Judges Called

Proponents of the change observe that retired judges of the Court of Appeals already may continue to serve as Supreme Court justices for up to six years. They may do so in case a regular judge is ill and when crowded court calendars require the services of extra judges.

Dissenters from the proposal argue that the Constitution already provides amply for designation of additional judges when regular judges are unable to act or when the court calendars become overcrowded.

— Authorize designation of retired Supreme Court Justices for service on the Appellate Division, provided that these judges had served on the Appellate Division immediately before their retirement. Virtually the same arguments applied to the question of retired Court of Appeals judges have been advanced on this issue.

Among the points of conflict is whether a judge suffers some loss of his mental powers beyond age 70.

Okays State Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has completed congressional authorization of the $5.5-million Congewango Creek agricultural conservation water project in western New York State.

The Senate Public Works Committee gave final approval Tuesday to the project, in Cattaraugus and Chautauqua counties, which is estimated to cost $4.9 million in federal funds and $1.6 million in state and local funds.

Theory Is Given On High Paying Jobs, Crime Rate

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—As city residents move into increasingly higher paying jobs, two sociologists say, "the per capita crime rate for certain segments of the population will increase."

Paul Eberts of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University and Kent Schwirian of Ohio State University said Tuesday a study indicated crime rates were higher in cities where the upper income population outnumbered lower income residents.

They said the study was based on a theory that the number of crimes depends on the relation of the lower working classes to other classes in the community and the degree to which they feel deprived.

The analysis of crime in 200 metropolitan areas differed from past studies, Schwirian and Eberts said, in that it examined the relationship between groups instead of the usual procedure of investigating factors affecting a specific group.

The study indicated that as communities developed economically and occupationally, with large proportions of people moving ahead, it was probably that those left behind would feel deprived.

Some of these would work harder to achieve a higher status, the social scientists said, and some would strive to achieve their ambitions through criminal activies.

Others, unable to cope with their frustrations, would release them through aggressive, violent, personal actions.

Dear Abby . . .

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband finds out one of our kids went to a dentist he hits the ceiling. He says I'm throwing out money, all dentists are crooks and nature will take care of everything. He says when he was young, folks went to a dentist only when a tooth ached, to have it pulled.

He's lucky, he was blessed with good strong teeth, but our kids have soft teeth (like me). I am 43 and have plates, and now realize if I had taken better care of my teeth when I was young I'd have them today. My husband makes good money but he hates to give a dentist a dollar.

I can't go on feeling guilty every time I send the kids to a dentist. And I'm tired of hiding the dentist bills. What do you do with a man like that? ASHTABULA, O.

DEAR ASHTABULA: Quit sneaking around, cowering, hiding the bills and feeling guilty. You are within your rights to provide your children with regular dental check-ups to insure total good health. And if he hits the ceiling, learn to tune him out. It's hard to believe a person could be so ignorant in this enlightened era.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What advice would you give a 12-year-old boy who has ambitions to be smart. HAS AMBITIONS

DEAR HAS: I would say READ! Read, read, read. In books there is a world of information just waiting to be discovered. The person who DOES NOT read has no advantage over the person who CANNOT read.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this question which has puzzled me for a long time. When a person has taken his own life, should the whole incident be ignored as tho nothing had happened, out of kindness and consideration for his family? There are some in my family who believe that this is the best course to follow. What do you think? NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: When a dear one is lost, his family suffers a loss, whether he has taken his own life or not. The "cause" should, of course, not be mentioned, but the friends of the family should acknowledge the loss and send words of comfort just the same.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SCARED TO DEATH" IN PROVIDENCE: No, you should not have "socked" him. You should have very quietly slipped out of your chair and reported the man to an usher. If you couldn't find an usher immediately, the ticket-taker, the manager, or any employe of the tehatre should have been alerted. Characters like the man you describe should not be allowed to get away.

LBJ Proclaims Thanksgiving Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, in a proclamation fixing Nov. 24 as Thanksgiving Day, said Tuesday Americans should share their blessings with their less fortunate brethren abroad.

"Simple justice and a concern for our fellow man require that we be ready to offer what we can of our food, our resources, our talents, our energies, our skills and our knowledge to help others build a better life for themselves," he said.

The proclamation was released by the White House one day after Johnson had left on a 17-day Far Eastern trip to discuss the Viet Nam war.

A new Pope can choose any name he wishes. Usually he picks the name of a predecessor with whom he feels some affinity.

Mothers Choice Is Blamed for Population Boom

NEW YORK (AP) — "The real cause of the population explosion in the United States is the average American mother who is today choosing to have between three and four children," a Buffalo doctor and developer of birth control devices said today.

The problem of family planning in the United States, he said, "is primarily sociologic, for we must convince the American mother to choose to have two to three children instead of three to four."

Dr. Jack Lippes, medical director of the Planned Parenthood Center of Buffalo, N.Y., and a pioneer in the development of birth control devices made the comments for a seminar on the second day of a two-day conference marking the 50th anniversary of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

Dr. Lippes challenged the popular belief that the large families of the poor are responsible for the population explosion in the United States.

The five million poverty stricken families who might use birth control devices if they were available "are certainly not responsible for the United States producing 3.5 to 4 million babies a year," he said.

He urged the United States to "somehow or other subsidize the purchase or production of birth control pills in developing nations."

Also participating in the seminar were representatives of India, Nigeria, Hong Kong, Chile and France.

Moderate Progress In Westinghouse Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Federal mediators reported moderate progress in Westinghouse Electric contract talks as bargaining sessions prepared to resume today.

The Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Union, representing 14,000 clerical and technical workers at 50 plants, broke off talks Tuesday because of what it said was the company's "adamant attitude."

But mediators said later the union had agreed to meet with the firm again today.

Westinghouse resumed talks with three other unions Tuesday and recessed the talks overnight.

Mediator William Rose said, "The meeting was very constructive."

The other unions are the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), and the independent United Electrical Workers (UE).

It was reported the company offered a 10½-cent hourly cost of living agreement as part of a three-year package. The insertion of a cost-of-living clause had been considered one of the chief issues in the talks.

The federation, IUE and UE are free to strike at any time. The IBEW contract runs through Oct. 31.

Dies in Fire

EDWARDS, N.Y. (AP)—Leon Cobb, 59, perished early today in a fire in his house trailer about 1½ miles from this St. Lawrence County village.

Firemen said Cobb apparently was trying to fill an oil stove.

His trailer was on the Glen Burdick farm, along the Edwards-Russell Road.

Set Model Rail Show Nov. 16-13

The annual railroad show presented for the past 29 years by the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. will be held this year from Nov. 6 through Nov. 13. The show is open to the public two Sundays from 2:30 until 9 p. m. and week nights from 7 to 9 p. m.

The club's "Hudson Valley Lines" is a complete miniature railroad system in action, and is built to the scale of one-quarter inch to the foot. It is the oldest operating scale model railroad in the eastern United States, according to Lewis R. Wallace, club president.

Wallace also emphasized that the model railroad is definitely not a toy in any sense of the word. It is built to scale following actual prototype practice and is worth many thousands of dollars.

A feature of this year's show will be the operation of an old-time circus train. Years ago the large circuses of the country toured on 80-foot railroad cars, and models of these cars complete with the wagons and tractors familiar to the circus enthusiast of years gone bye will be in action on the Hudson Valley Lines.

Entrance to the exhibition, located at 541 Broadway next to the old West Shore freight house, by automobile is from Pine Grove Avenue over Susan Street, while pedestrians may reach the club quarters from the Broadway underpass and the concrete steps.

President Wallace also said that camera fans are most welcome at the exhibition, and club members will endeavor to cooperate with them in their efforts to obtain the pictures they desire.

See Minor Flu Outbreak in '66 Winter Months

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Although major outbreaks of influenza aren't expected this winter, U.S. Public Health officials have advised persons over 65 or with certain types of diseased to get their flu injections anyway.

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center said Monday the vaccine is "in the range of 60 per cent effective" in preventing influenza. "But we think it is extremely effective in prevently mortality and reducing the severity of the disease," he said.

"Vaccine should begin as soon as practicable after Sept. 1 and ideally should be completed by mid - December," said the spokesman.

Flu occurred in 49 of the 50 states last winter, the spokesman said. The winter and spring of 1965-66 were noteworthy in that sometimes sharp and extensive outbreaks of both types A and B influenza occurred.

The spokesman said both types occur in cycles. Type A occurs about every two to three years and type B about every three to four years.

"Because of the widespread recognition of both types A and B influenza viruses in 1965-6 and the characteristics of infecting strains, it is felt that relatively little influenza activity will be recognzed in 1966-67."

Bob Hope Hosts Sixteen Comics For TV Special

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I like to laugh; it's the best tonic I know," says Bob Hope by way of explaining why he is sharing his television show with 16 other comics tonight.

The Hope comedy special is called "Murder at NBC," and it costars, in alphabetical order, Don Adams, Milton Berle, Red Buttons, Johnny Carson, Jack Carter, Bill Cosby, Wally Cox Bill Dana, Jimmy Durante, Shecky Greene, Don Rickles, Rowan and Martin, Soupy Sales, Dick Shawn and Jonathan Winters.

How is Hope going to work in all that comic talent? The story line has him playing Leopold von Smirch, a mad scientist who tangles with a variety of agents, counter-agents and counter-counter-agents.

Taking his ease at Lakeside Country Club one noon, Hope discussed the reasoning behind the show.

"Look — I've been on television 16 years now, and it's time I offered something different,' said the funnyman-tycoon. "We had great luck with the first show, in which I got together all my leading ladies. I was told that it would be impossible to assemble them all and keep them happy.

"But it worked out just great and everything was happy, including the ratings.

"I had no trouble getting the comics; they all were enthusiastic about the idea. And there was no problem in keeping them happy. Each of them has his moments. The great thing about a show like this is what it does for my writers. It gives them a fresh challenge, and they enjoy it."

The question was raised: What happens to Hope when he plays host to such an assemblage of funnymen? Is he reduced to the position of straight man?

"That doesn't bother me," he replied. "You know something? When a scene is going well, it doesn't matter whether you have the punch lines or not. As long as the laughs are coming, you're a comedian."

List 59 Students In Paltz Autumn Workshop

Fifty-nine students from three counties, Dutchess, Ulster and Orange are currently participating in the five Talented Art Workshops, funded to the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The cost of materials, transportation, insurance and instructional craftsmens' salaries are accounted for by the legal appliant for this Title III project, Ulster County BOCES, which is the legal recipient of monies for the Regional Center composed of 5½ counties. The fall 1966 program encompasses the five craft areas of silversmithing and enameling, weaving, ceramics, in Woodstock Studios; ceramics and sculpture, and print making at Rock Tavern, Orange County.

The following students were selected by their school system and the Regional Center to participate in the Fall 1966 workshops: Arlington public school, Dianne Drews; Middletown non-public school; Jeannie Guertin, Susan Scott and Elaine Speranza; Campus school, New Paltz: Connie Culver, Janet Fishburne and Jennifer Jewett; Marlboro non - public school: John Esposito; Hyde Park Central School: Teddi Burnett, Walter Chahanorich, Deborah Herman and Linda Sause;

Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director and J. Terry Carlisle, assistant director, announced that the Fall Workshop will continue until Dec. 17. The Spring 1967 Workshops will be initiated following the third series of Workshops.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 19, the 292nd day of 1966. There are 73 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1781, the American revolution ended with the surrender at Yorktown, Va., of the British under General Cornwallis. Peace, however, was not formally declared until September 1783.

On this date

In 1934, the Mexican Chamber of Deputies voted unanimously that all Catholic bishops be deported from the country.

In 1939, Turkey signed mutual assistance pacts with Great Britain and France.

In 1940, the government of Yugoslavia signed a trade agreement with Nazi Germany.

In 1943, the Conference of Foreign Ministers opened in Moscow.

In 1944, U.S. forces invaded Leyte, an island in the Philippines.

Ten years ago . . . The U.N. Security Council opened a new Palestine debate on two separate complaints by Jordan and Israel. Jordan asked the U.N. impose diplomatic and economic sanctions against Israel for alleged acts of aggression.

Five years ago . . . The United States said it would resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere unless an effective test ban was signed promptly. This followed an announcement in Moscow that the Soviet Union would detonate a 50-megaton nuclear test device later in the month.

One year ago . . . Hungarian diplomat stationed in London appealed to the United States for political asylum. The British said the diplomat already had left Great Britain, but that they did not know his whereabouts.

BOCES Slates Third Seminar For Area Seniors

Wednesday, Oct. 26, Ulster County's Senior Seminar group will meet for the third session at the State University College, New Paltz.

The speaker will be Dr. Harold Fleisher, manager of advanced technology with IBM in Poughkeepsie. He will discuss with the students the topic of The Laser and Its Impact on Our Culture.

Each year the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services and the State University College at New Paltz offer certain high school seniors the opportunity to meet with prominent people in a variety of fields. This year's group consists of 83 students from the central schools of Ellenville, Highland, New Paltz, Onteora, Rondout Valley, Saugerties and Wallkill. They were selected on the basis of their scholastic record, their rating on the National Merit Scholarship Examination, and the recommendation of their principal.

The first two sessions of this year's program were conducted by Dr. George O. Roberts, professor in The Division of Area Studies at New Paltz, who spoke on the subject of Problems of Our Time: Conformity, Discrimination, and Apathy. Parents and students both attended the initial meeting, which also served as an orientation to the entire program, on Sept. 28. The students, alone, participated in the follow-up session on Oct. 5. Dr. Roberts proved to be an extremely stimulating speaker, and more than half of the second session was taken up in a lively discussion of key issues related to problems of the time.

Throughout the year the students will meet with other interesting speakers. Some highlights will be a seminar on Dec. 8, at which Professor Charles Siepman will lecture on Censorship, seminars with Raimund Abraham, architect with visionary designs for 2000 A.D., and with Dr. Arthur Shapiro, director of a psychophysiology laboratory, doing research on dreams.

In addition, they will take three field trips; one to the St. Mark's Playhouse in New York City, one to Norman Rockwell's studio in Stockbridge, Mass., and the third to the Buddhist Church of New York.

Understanding Is Needed by Public On Chest Activity

A public meeting entitled The Community Meets the Community Chest at the Gov. Clinton Hotel this morning indicated that the public needs a greater understanding of the Community Chest and its annual appeal to its 13 agencies.

Among the 10 most common questions asked were: How much was spent on the fireworks at the kickoff and why? How is the money alloted? How can a community or town become part of the Chest? What happenes if the goal is not reached? What happens if the goal is over subscribed? How much is sent by the agencies to national organizations for research? How does the average gift in Ulster compare to communities of similar size?

It was also explained that the Muscular Dystrophy Association is not a member agency of the Community Chest.

Charles E. Raible, co-chairman of the 1967 Drive urged employers to give their employes an opportunity to give where they work so that the Chest can reach every citizen and even out the contribution to all.

S. Sam Fratoni, publicity chairman of the Chest said for any further information interested persons could contact the Chest Heaquarters at the Gov. Clinton where their questions would be answered by officials. Fratoni also suggested reading the Daily Freeman series he is authoring on questions to the Chest.

"And when I asked a non-com in Viet Nam what he needs to win the war—he went like this . . ."

Urges U. S. Declare Victory In Viet, Start Political Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken urged today that President Johnson unilaterally declare the United States the military victor in Viet Nam and announce "that this stage of the Viet Nam war is over."

Such a declaration, the Vermont Republican said, would remove the problem of U. S. military face-saving, restore political rather than military warfare as the dominant theme and open the way to negotiations.

See No Challenge

"It is important to stress that no politician in the United States, in Europe or even in Russia is likely to challenge a unilateral declaration of military victory on our part," said Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for the Senate.

If the Viet Cong, the North Vietnamese or the Red Chinese should challenge the declaration, Aiken said, they would be directly challenging the ability of U. S. military power and thus assuming responsibility for broadening the war.

Aiken asserted that the victory declaration should be accompanied by a gradual redeployment of the U. S. forces around strategic centers and the substitution of reconnaissance for bombing.

Remove Face Question

Aiken said his suggestion was designed to "remove the credibility of U. S. military power — or more loosely the question of 'face' — as the factor which precludes a political solution."

The United States began its military buildup in Viet Nam in 1965 because "there actually existed a clear and present danger of military defeat for the American forces" who already were there, he said.

But, said Aiken, the administration used North Vietnamese aggression, rather than the danger of military defeat, as the reason for escalation.

Aiken argued the situation has changed, contending American forces no longer face a danger of defeat.

Saugerties Motorist Hurt in Ulster Crash

A Saugerties motorist was slightly injured Tuesday night as the result of a two-car collision on Route 9W about 50 feet south of Boice's Lane, Town of Ulster.

Trooper John Kohland of the Kingston substation said Francis J. Mignone, 35, of 79 Apple Tree Drive, Saugerties, was traveing south on Route 9W and Anthony Pino, 56, of Kalina Drive, same community, attempted a left turn into Boice's Lane when the vehicles collided. Mignone sustained lacerations of the lower lip.

Pino was cited by Trooper Carl Van Wagenen on a charge of failure to yield the right of way. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Tuesday, Oct. 25 from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

ARC to Meet Thursday Night

The first general meeting of the new year of the Ulster County Chapter, Association for Retarded Children, will be held Thursday, Oct. 20, at 8 p. m. at George Washington School, 67 Wall Street.

Speaker will be Miss Catherine M. Grace, supervisor of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Poughkeepsie office which serves Ulster County.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8 p. m., president Edward Crosby said. The public is invited.

WHEAT GERM adds zest to stuffed shrimp.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Wheat germ has a pleasant nutlike flavor. These flakes from the heart of the wheat contain excellent nutritional value such as iron, B vitamins and vegetable protein. Combined with other foods, therefore, they add not only their welcome flavor but also a goodly plus in food value.

STUFFED SHRIMP

2 pounds large, raw shrimp, fresh or frozen (about 30)
¼ pound soft butter or margarine
½ cup packaged cornflake crumbs
½ cup wheat germ
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few drops Tabasco
Salt to taste
⅛ teaspoon seasoned pepper
½ teaspoon oregano
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon onion powder

Cook shrimp in boiling water to cover seven minutes; drain; peel; devein and split, cutting almost through. Combine all remaining ingredients; mix well; use to stuff shrimp. Line broiler pan with aluminum foil; grease foil. Place shrimp in pan. Place pan in broiler with shrimp four to five inches below heat. Broil eight to 10 minutes. (Six servings.)

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. DiDonna of Route 1, Kingston, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday, Oct. 8 with an anniversary dinner for the immediate family at the Skytop Restaurant followed by a surprise party given in their honor by their children at their home. There were 100 guests present from Kingston, Brooklyn, Dobbs Ferry, Long Island, Ravena and Amsterdam. Married on October 5 1941, in St. John the Baptist Church in Schenectady by the Rev. James Morley, Mr. and Mrs. DiDonna have five children, Albert Leslie, James Michael, Dennis, Gary and Gina, all residing in Kingston. Mr. DiDonna is the owner of Hy Way Pharmacy and the former D-D's Drive-In.

University Teacher Will Have Exhibit Of Art Works

Alexander Martin of Highland, N. Y., will have an exhibition of paintings, pastels and drawings on Sunday, Oct. 23rd in the Marist College Champagnat Hall Art Gallery Lounge. The exhibition will run through November 15th and includes 40 works inspired by the contemporary scene. A reception will be held October 23rd from 2 to 5 p. m. and it is opened to the public.

Mr. Martin is an instructor of art at the State University of New York at New Paltz. This is his first one-man exhibition in this area. He has previously had one-man exhibitions in New Orleans, Louisiana and Schenectady, N. Y. He has shown in group exhibitions in museums and gallaries throughout the United States and abroad. While living abroad, he exhibited in the Appunto Gallery and Il Numero Galleries in Rome and Florence, Italy and in 1961 was in the Ten American Artists in the Rome Exhibition held at Palazzo Venezia. His work is in private collections in London, Rome, New York, San Francvisco, Schenectady and New Orleans.

Mr. Martin is a graduate of the University of Buffalo and Albright Art School. He studied at the Art Students League in New York and did graduate work at Tulane University in New Orleans.

The paintings and drawings to be shown at Marist College were done during the past year. Their subjec matter is the contemporary human figure: bathers, motorcyclists, girls in boats, road scenes and gas stations. The media used are acrylic, oil, pastel, charcoal and india ink.

TALENTED ART SHOW AT KHS — Mrs. Althea O'Dell, art director at Kingston High School, and Dan Allen, principal, view part of an exhibit by students of the Talented Art Program (TAP) currently on display at the school. The program is sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Region Supplementary Educational Center in New Paltz and will be on exhibit until Oct. 28. The art work is contributed by area school children who worked in New Paltz during the summer on the projects. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr.)

Talented Art Program by Area Students Being Shown at Kingston High School

The Mid-Hudson Region Supplementary Educational Center's Talented Art Program exhibit which was opened by Roger L. Stevens, President's Council on the Arts and Humanities; Chairman, National Endowment of the Arts and Humanities; Chairman, John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts, Washington, D. C., at the Kleinert Gallery, Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen on Sept. 10, is currently being shown at the Kingston High School until Friday, Oct. 28.

Dr. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, Kingston Schools Consolidated and Dan Allen, principal of KHS, were among the first educators to request this traveling exhibit.

This show ,represents the work of some 110 students in the July and August TAP workshops conducted in Woodstock and New Paltz. Viewers will see the work of students from grades four through 12 from the three counties of Dutchess, Ulster, Orange in the craft areas of silver and enameling, weaving, sculpture, photography, leather, and ceramics. The craftsmen contributing their instructional services to these students under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 were: Marie Frey, Iona Plath Alan, Paul deLaura, A. E. Woolley, Doris Robbin, and Donald Jennings.

List Students

The following student's craft work will be on exhibit in Kingston High School during this two-week period:

Campus School—State University College, New Paltz: Daniel Wexler, Donna Tantillo, Ann Tantillo and Austin Sheldon; John A. New Paltz to Present India Programs; Lecture on Radiation

The New York State University College at New Paltz will offer a variety of programs to the general public in the next few days including an India Custume Show, a lecture on the effects of radiation on the human body and a motion picture, The World of Apu. There is no admission for any of the presentations.

The India Costume show is scheduled for Friday at 5 p. m. in the College Theatre and will feature fashions in traditional Indian dress including five styles of the draping saree. Indian folk costumes will also be displayed.

Dr. Robert A. Conrad, a 14-year veteran of nuclear medicine in the Navy, will present his lecture on radiation Oct. 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the Coykendall Science Building Lecture Hall.

Dr. Conrad is in charge of the annual medical survey of the Marshall Islanders who were accidently exposed to radioactive fallout following a bomb test in March 1954 and has been involved in extensive studies of the effects of fallout radiation on these people since the accident occurred.

The World of Apu, one of the most widely acclaimed films in the history of motion pictures, will be presented at the Main Auditorium Saturday at 4 p. m.

An editorial in the New York Times said of the film,"Occasionally a work of art appears which transcends national borders and enables readers or viewers in this country not merely to be entertained but to be enlightened in a luminous way. The World of Apu, the triumphant final piece of Indian triology by one of the international screen's great film makers, Satyajit Ray, is such an expression of art and culture.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

PARENT'S OBLIGATION AS GREAT AS SITTERS

To be a good employer to a baby-sitter is just as important as to be a good sitter. If you have a well-planned, fair program worked out, you will get, and keep, the best sitters. To test yourself, score 10 points for each "yes" answer. Eighty to 100 points: you'll never have trouble getting sitters; 60 to 80 points: you'll have a rapid turnover. Below 50, even the sitter services won't send you any help!

1. Do you leave snacks in the refrigerator for your sitter?
2. Do you spend some time with your young child and a sitter who is strange to her before you leave the house?
3. Do you allow her to use the television and instruct her in its proper use?
4. Do you let her girl friend come over to study with her?
5. Do you forbid her to have boy friends or a mixed group of friends to come in?
6. Do you tell your children that their sitter is boss and that they must mind her?
7. Do you consider it a firm commitment to arrive home at the hour you say you will?
8. Do you take her home, or see that she has a safe means of getting there?
9. Do you pay your sitters overtime?
10. Do you always leave the telephone number where you can be reached?

Does a gentlemen remove his hat in an elevator? This question and many others on everyday etiquette, are answered in the booklet, "Manners in Public." To get a copy, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Born-Bushman Nuptials Are Announced

Miss Maureen Born, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Born Sr., of Tillson, N. Y., wed Robert Bushman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wenzel of Tillson, N. Y., on October 15, 1966 at a 2 p. m. double ring ceremony in the Tillson Reformed Church. Officiating was the Rev. Jacob Wielhouwer. Leslie Barringer was soloist and William Dunn was organist.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory slipper satin empire styled gown with A-line skirt of alencon lace and detachable train. Her stylized headpiece of sequins and seed pearls held her silk illusion veil. She carried a traditional white bridal bouquet.

Diane Rollo of Tillson, N. Y. was maid of honor in a mint green A-line crepe gown with brocade train. She carried a cascade of yellow carnations. Helen Born, Mrs. Lawrence Born and Mrs. Walter D. Born Jr., were the attendants. They wore gold crepe and brocade gowns with matching trains and carried bouquets of mint green carnations.

Ronald Born, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushering were Daniel Born, Lawrence Born and Richard Born, all brothers of the bride.

A reception for 100 guests was given after the church ceremony and the couple left on a wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed in the Shop Rite Pharmacy Department. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by Western Electric in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushman will reside in Glenerie Lake, N. Y.

Consumer Education Program

CARLTON E. WRIGHT

Professor Carlton E. Wright, Extension program leader for consumer education at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, will be guest speaker at the Extension Service annual Christmas Open House. Open House this year will be held in the Port Ewen Methodist Church, 151 Main Street, Port Ewen, N. Y. Mr. Wright will speak at 8 p. m. on "Getting Your Money's Worth When Christmas Shopping."

Except for a recent two year period he has worked on behalf of consumer's through the Extension food farketing program since 1948. At the close of 1964 he returned from Africa where he had served for two years as chief-of-party of Cornell University's contract program assisting in the development and improvement of the University of Liberia.

Prof Wright was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1932 and received the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell in 1937 and 1943. After receiving his M.S. degree, he went to the University of Vermont as assistant teacher trainer and assistant state supervisor of agriculture teachers. In 1939, he became assistant professor at the University of New Hampshire in charge of the applied farming course, which he helped organize, and assistant teacher trainer in agricultural education.

Wright became director of the State University Agricultural and Technical College at Cobleskill in 1944 with the major responsibility of rebuilding the program and student body which had been decimated by the war. He was called from this position in 1947 to become the first director of research and publications of the American Vocational Association in Washington, D.C., which included the responsibility of managing editor of the American Vocational Journal. He held this position until 1948 when he returned to New York State to organize food information work with consumers.

The program, covering the metropolitan area of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, was sponsored jointly by Cornell University, Rutgers University and the University of Connecticut, with the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture cooperating.

During the five years Prof. Wright served in New York City, the food information program there and one in upstate New York were deveopeld cooperatively and became two parts of one program. In 1953, he transferred to the College of Agriculture in Ithaca where his work included the coordination of the program in New York City with that of the state-wide program of Food Marketing Information for Consumers.

He has served on a number of college committees and is a member of both Phi Kappa Phi and Epsilon Sigma Phi.

He is author of a book entitled "Food Buying; Marketing Information for Consumers," published in 1962.

Brokenshaw Paintings Will Be Exhibited At Philharmonic Wine and Cheese Gala

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society today announced plans for the presentation of a one man show by Brock Brokenshaw of Shady, N. Y. at the Wine and Cheese Tasting gala on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23 in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton hotel.

Brock and his wife Louise, long time subscribers and supporters of the Philharmonic orchestra, plan to include a myriad of canvasses some of which have been shown at area exhibits while others have been exhibited only abroad.

Celebrated for his deft draftsmanship and his elusive capture of colors in oils, the world over, Brock has achieved artistic stature with his massive collection of oils, watercolors, wash drawing in black and white.

Born in Cornwall, England, Brock grew up in India, where he lived until he was five, speaking Hindustani as a second language. Upon his return to England, where he began his education, he immediately evidenced his preference for art and music. Swiftly he progressed from the academic to the abstract, with his initial solo show of oils, watercolors and drawings at the age of 19. His reputation as one of the avant garde abstractionists was established.

Continuing his art studies in Paris, he met his talented wife, Louise, a popular model and art student. After an extended honeymoon in Spain, they returned to Antwerp to continue formalized academic training.

Three years prior to the United States involvement in World War II, Brock enlisted as a volunteer in the Black Watch regiment of Montreal's Canadian army, serving from 1939 until his demobilization in 1942. Upon discharge, the Brokenshaws visited in New York City before moving to Shady where they have since been in residence.

Brock paintings can be found in important collections in Europe, America, Canada, Kingston and Woodstock. Discerning collectors include Edward Elicoform, Brooklyn attorney, who in 1946 purchased two Durer portraits from an itinerant salesman for $200. Later it was revealed that these prime pair of portraits were painted in 1499 by the Renaissance German master, Albrecht Durer and stolen during World War II from the collection of the Weimar museum, now in East Germany. Current approximate value is in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, so Mr. Elicoform keeps them in a Manhattan bank vault fearing he may one day be obliged to return them to the museum now in East Germany. Reviewing Brock's Upper Grovenor Galley show, and American Embassy Show, London, 1965, C. Burland Ceading, art critic in the Arts Review proclaimed Brock "lyrical in his painted poetry." Of his free brush with ink, Burland continued that the Brock studies had the "simplicity of cave paintings coupled with a somewhat Oriental appearance simply because the brush and ink work only that way in the hands of a competent artist."

Added interest at the Wine and Cheese Tasting soiree sponsored by the Mid Hudson Philharmonic Society will be a few choice terra cotta pieces by Brock.

These three dimensional art forms reflect understated elegance and soft fluid grace, both hallmarks of Brocks work.

In his 1964 show at the Albany Institute of History and Art Brock received national attention through the Hearst syndicated reviews of Daniel L. Cusick of the Knickerbocker News who wrote his presentation as "the most prolific of this century" and stated that the show was "truly the greatest ever in Albany." Both the artist, Brock and his wife, Louise will greet guests at the upcoming party.

Kingston Delegates To N. Y. Conference Are Announced Here

Kingston, New York, will have three representatives at the Tenth Annual Luncheon of the Women's Planning Committee of the Japan International Christian University Foundation. This luncheon will be held in New York City in the Grand Ballroom of The Waldorf-Astoria on Friday, Oct. 21, 1966.

Among more than 800 guests present will be Mrs. Everett Landers, Mrs. Harold Schadewald, and Mrs. James Shelhorse of Hurley.

The luncheons are given each year to stimulate interest in International Christian University in Japan, the coeducational, graduate-level institution which the Women's Planning Committee helps to support. The membership of this committee includes over 1900 women throughout the world who are active in church, education and social service.

Principal speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. James A. Perkins, president of Cornell University, who will speak on "The University at Home and Abroad." President Perkins, author of The University in Transition, published this year, is personally acquainted with the educational programs of a number of leading universities around the world. In September, 1965, he attended the fourth general conference of the International Association of Universities in Tokyo, Japan, where he conferred with President Nobushige Ukai of International Christian University in Japan and officials of 285 other universities from 87 countries.

Mrs. Morgan (Elizabeth Gray) Vining, chairman of the Women's Planning Committee and former tutor to Crown Prince Akihito of Japan, will preside at the luncheon. Mrs. Paul Moser, chairman of the Committee's Executive Committee, will give the Invocation. Others on the program will be Mrs. Harper Sibley, honorary chairman of the Women's Planning Committee, and Mrs. W. Earl Ledden, chairman of its 1966 Project.

The program also includes the performance of two classical Japanese dances by Miss Suzushi Hanayagi, who has appeared at recitals on both sides of the Pacific.

Guests are expected to come from across the United States, as well as Canada, Japan, and other parts of the world. Among the special guests will be alumni and former faculty members of International Christian University.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett N. Aldrich of 125 Harding Avenue, and Mrs. Francis J. Vetort of Shaw Air Force Base, Sumter, S. C., recently visited Mrs. Vetort's uncle, John R. Redican of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is critically ill at Lefferts Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Redican, a former resident of Kingston, is a consultant with the New York State Dept. of Commerce, and, a Past Exalted Ruler of Kingston Elks Lodge 550 BPOE. Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich accompanied Mrs. Vetort on her return to Sumter, South Carolina.

Miss Lorraine Napaletano of 371 Albany Avenue, Kingston, has been accepted for the freshman class at Junior College of Albany, two-year co-educational division of Russell Sage College.

SANDY KOUFAX

GARY PETERS

New Record for Sandy

Koufax and Peters Top ERA Ratings for 1966

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers set a major league record by leading the National League in earned run average for the fifth straight year in 1966, the final averages disclosed today.

Koufax compiled a 1.73 mark. Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox topped the American League with 2.03.

Koufax gave up only 62 earned runs in 323 innings for the 1.73 which was his lowest mark during his 12 years in the majors. He paced the NL with 2.54 in 1962; 1.88 in 1963; 1.74 in 1964 and 2.04 in 1965.

The brilliant left hander who won 27 games the past season had shared the standard for most consecutive ERA championships with Lefty Grove, another southpaw, who led the American League with the Philadelphia A's from 1929 through 1932.

Peters, the AL leader, yielded 46 earned runs in 204 innings, winning 12 games and losing 10. Peters also was the circuit's leader in 1963 with a 2.33 mark.

Mike Cuellar of Huston was the runnerup to Koufax with a 2.22 average. He permitted 56 earned runs in 227 innings. Juan Marichal, 25-game winner for San Francisco, was third in ERA with 2.23. Then came Jim Bunning, Philadelphia, 2.41; Bob Gibson, St. Louis, 2.44; Al Jackson, St. Louis, 2.51; Jim Maloney, Cincinnati, 2.80 and Claude Osteen, Los Angeles, 2.85.

Joe Horlen of the White Sox was runnerup in the AL on a yield of 57 earned runs in 211 innings for a 2.43 average.

Steve Hargan of Cleveland finished third with 2.48 followed by Jim Perry, Minnesota, 2.54; Tommy John, Chicago, 2.62; Jim Kaat, Minnesota, 2.72; and Sonny Siebert, Cleveland, 2.80.

Sam McDowell, the Indians' fireballing left hander who won the ERA crown with 2.18 in 1965, was eighth last season with 2.88.

Unbeaten Cadet Squads Hit Road

WEST POINT—With the exception of the football team which hosts Pittsburgh, Army athletic teams hit the road Saturday.

All three road squads—in soccer, cross country and 150-pound football—are undefeated. Soccer team will be at Brown, cross country at NYU and football at Columbia.

Army booters, 4-0-1 through the first five games, face perhaps their stiffest assignment to date against the Bruins. Brown won the Ivy League championship last year and advanced as far as the quarter finals of the NCAA, only to bow to Navy.

In defeating Merchant Marine Academy, Notre Dame, Coast Guard and Penn State, the Cadets netted a total of 36 goals, while yielding the opposition just four. All-American Joe Casey and John Boretti are setting the scoring pace, Casey with nine goals and seven assists and Boretti, with 11 goals and three assists.

Army's cross country squad, unbeaten in seven meets this fall and 19 over the span of two seasons, will have its hands full agaist NYU at Van Cortlandt Park. Army has both good and bad news for this one. Captain Jim Warner, second in last year's Heptagonal and fourth in the IC4A, refturns to duty after a bout with mononuclepsis. But Heptagonal champion Paul DeCoursey won't run again this year because of a circulatory ailment.

Tickets on Sale For Ferraro Fete

Tickets for the testimonial dinner for New York Yankee infielder Mike Ferraro are now on sale. They may be purchased from committee members or from the Chamber of Commerce office in the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Ferraro, the first Kingston resident in more than 40 years to make the major leagues, will be feted on Thursday, Nov. 10 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Co-chairmen Frank Koenig and Ed Palladino said that tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

Other committee members selling tickets are Frank (Bing) Van Etten, John Bach, Bill Burke, John Gilligan, Fred Davi and Andrew J. Murphy III.

In addition to the Chamber of Commerce office, tickets may also be purchased at Buster Ferraro's Golden Cue and at Chic's Plaza Restaurant.

James Martin has been added to the committee planning the testimonial.

Cadets Feature Ex-New Rochelle Star as Passer

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Last year when New Rochelle beat Kingston, 19-0, a junior quarterback threw a pair of touchdown passes. His name is Ed Mangels and he's still throwing a football but this time for Cadets of Cardinal Farley Military Academy. Coach Bill Hurley's Maroon players will travel to Rhinecliff Saturday to oppose the Cadets and they will have to figure out a way to stop Mangels.

Farley won its first game of the season Saturday, beating New York Military Academy, 30-7. Mangels threw a pair of scoring passes and ran the club the way a good quarterback should.

The quarterback ace was hurt when Farley was trounced, 45-0, by Middletown. He saw limited action in its 40-33 setback at the hands of Xavier. Last week he was at full strength and you can see what a difference he made in the team.

Those who have seen Kingston win three of its four games know the passing defense is causing Hurley and assistant coach George Neher much concern. In the 19-0 win over Albany, the upstaters weren't too successful with the forward pass, but only because they didn't have a good thrower.

In the 12-6 setback at New Rochelle, the Purples clinched the decision with a long scoring pass. The next week, Poughkeepsie made a gallant try in its 13-6 loss, setting up a touchdown with several pass completions.

Last Friday night at Dietz Stadium, Port Jervis was stopped cold on the ground. So, what happened? Quarterback Bill Gastmeyer threw the pigskin 35 times. He had 13 completions and his receivers dropped at least six more as the Porters bowed, 32-13.

Now comes Mr. Mangels and he may be the best passer Kingston has met thus far. His best receiver is end Harold Smith. To keep the defenses honest, the Cadets send back Sandy Bonanno through the lines.

Expected to Be Ready

The Maroon squad came out of the bruising game with Port in good shape. Quarterback Pete Watzka and safetyman Charlie Lay suffered slight ankle injuries but they are expected to be ready for Saturday's non-league tussle.

Gerard Boggs and Bill Dugan, who are developing into a small version of the famed Blanchard - Davis combination which rocked West Point football foes during World War II, turned in outstanding performances against the Raiders.

Defensively, the KHS forward wall has been stingy in giving up yardage. If the pass rush can be improved and if the safetymen can get in the way of some passes, the round ahead might be smooth.

Not only Mangels can throw the ball, but Middletown quarterback Paul Hughes and Wayne Youngs, Mr. Everything of Newburgh, can also pass. You can be sure they will be trying to beat Kingston in the air. It looks near impossible to do it on the ground.

Fisticuffs Mark Knicks' Victory Over Los Angeles

NEW YORK (AP) — If Cassius Clay is looking for action after his fight with Cleveland Williams, the New York Knickerbockers may have the man for him.

The Knicks unveiled the National Basketball Association's newest heavyweight contender Tuesday night when Willis Reed took on the whole Los Angeles Laker bench and won.

The Knicks came out on top, too, but by a somewhat closer margin than Reed. New York blew most of a 18-point lead and just held on for a 122-119 victory over the Lakers.

It was in the third quarter that Reed went after the Lakers. He was lined up next to Rudy LaRusso at the foul line as Elgin Baylor, who led all scorers with 31 points, attempted a free throw.

"He hit me in the head with an elbow," LaRusso said later. "After that I swung at him."

Admits Jostling

Reed admitted jostling with LaRusso as Baylor shot but said it was nothing more than what ordinarily goes on in the lane on free throws.

Both benches emptied and when things calmed down, Reed and LaRusso were ejected from the game, Laker rookie John Block had a broken nose and Los Angeles center Darrell Imhoff had a one stitch cut over his left eye.

Lost in the excitement of the Reed-LaRusso main event was the debut of the Knicks' $200,000 rookie, Cazzie Russell.

Still troubled by a sore ankle, Russell played only eight minutes and made one of four shots from the floor.

Someone asked the All-America from Michigan where he was when the fists began flying. "Right in the middle," Cazzie replied, "observing."

In other games Tuesday night, Chicago topped San Francisco 119-116 and Detroit edged Cincinnati 114-112.

Knicks Launch TV Schedule Tonight

New York Knick fans will have an opportunity to see the club in action on the road tonight, as Coach Dick McGuire's team taps off its weekly Wednesday night TV series on WOR-TV (Channel 9), against the Bullets from Baltimore starting at 9:30 p. m.

This will be the first of 20 National Basketball Association contests presented by the Knicks.

Barber Likes What He Tastes

CARLSBAD, Calif., (AP) — Miller Barber tested the La Costa Country Club's rolling acreage of golf course and said today he found it to his liking for the $60,000 Haig Scotch Mixed Championship.

The unique 72 - hole event, which pairs leading PGA guy and gal professionals on a best ball basis, gets under way Thursday over the par 36-36—72 course.

Perry to Attend Basketball Clinic

Mike Perry, basketball coach at Ulster County Community College, is slated to attend a basketball clinic at LeMoyne College in Syracuse Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The chief speakers at the clinic will be Dr. Jack Ramsey, general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers, and Larry Costello, a player for the professional basketball team in the National Basketball Association.

Frank's Surprise Vans In YMCA League, 78-76

Frank's Hunting Lodge, an all-Saugerties combine, finished with four players and still managed to hand Donnie Van's their first YMCA basketball setback, 78-76 Wednesday night.

The defeat ended Donnie's three-game winning streak, while Frank's evened their record at 2-2. Ken Gilligan potted 21 and brother, Bruce, added 19 for Donnie's.

Stone Ridge ended a three-game losing skein with a decisive 81-55 triumph over Tony's Pizzeria, now 2-2. A 56-42 second half margin cemented the Stone Ridge win.

Bill Egan led the winners with 27 points and Cliff Schoonmaker Jr. added 21. Bill Huber scored 22 for Tony's.

Joe Koskie Slams 297 and 680

High singles were the order of the night Tuesday, as Joe Koskie fired the season's highest solo—297—and 680 triple in the Ferraro Booster. His other sets were 229 and 154. He left 3 pins after 11 strikes in a row.

Larry Weishaupt overcame a 137 start with a 279 solo in the third game of a four-game set, while Rich Michaelis decked 266 as part of a league leading 848 foursome in the Mid-City Classic.

Marion Sanford led the distaff shooters with 565 in the Monday Night Mixer at Saugerties.

Fred Regg was runnerup with 833 in the Mid-City Classic. Larry Petersen hit four twin centuries for 828.

Sis Balash's 553 in the Sangi Bowlerettes and Maud Simmons' 551 in the Monday Mixer were other top women's efforts.

George Boisvert posted 611 in the Ferraro Booster.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Cassius Clay, the world's heavyweight champion who prefers to be known as Muhammad Ali, is being called a lot of other things by many men in many places.

Take Mickey Walker, for instance. The 65-year-old former world's middleweight and welterweight champion, blandly told a Saugerties Lions Club gathering Monday night: "Jack Dempsey, who is past 70, could lick Clay with a couple of weeks training right now."

Was the 65-year-old former Toy Bulldog of boxing's Golden Age exaggerating? Perhaps, but his contempt for Clay was matched only by the substantial girth of the Flamingo's proprietor, Michael (Sparky) Greco, who like the others were thoroughly delighted by Walker's colorful comments on the modern boxing scene.

Walker suggested that a Dempsey-Clay bout might draw a "a billion dollar gate" with TV and Telstar beaming it around the world. He neglected to mention if Dempsey had been approached on the matter.

• Can't Fight a Lick

"Clay has a nice personality and good showman, but he can't fight a lick," said the scornful Walker.

What about Mickey's chances against Cassius?

"Not me," he politely declined. "I don't want to work myself back into shape. I can't even lick my wife these days."

The Lions listened with respect as the old boxing lion betrayed what many old athletes do—an inseperable tie with the past. His comments about Clay and boxing in general reflected the contempt the Old Guard has for the moderns. Mickey Walker had a right to be proud of his past. While the nation was involved in what has been called an Era of Wonderful Nonsense, Walker was part of the Golden Age of Sports. It was the era of Jack Dempsey, Bobby Jones, Red Grange, Bill Tilden and a handy guy named Sande.

• Dempsey the Greatest

Walker's allegiance to Jack Dempsey borders on idolatry. "Dempsey was the greatest," he said. "Nobody came close to Jack at his peak.

The toughest fight he ever fought?

"That's easy," said the durable lion. "I'd have to pick Harry Greb." It is interesting to note that Greb, never a champion, is the only boxer who ever beat Gene Tunney and Tunney is the man who dethroned Mickey's pal Dempsey.

For Walker, the heavyweight division ended with Rocky Marciano, "the last great puncher." Such as Clay, Ingo Johansson, Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson are relagated to nonentities by Mickey. "Patterson was game and willing but lacked the equipment he observed.

Walker conceded that over exposure on TV and the mob-controlled syndicates wrecked the boxing game. He added a third dimension—cultural elements—but left his listeners hanging on what he really meant. He candidly admitted mob influence even in his time but "the big name managers controlled the boxer, not the mob." The dearth of legendary managers like Jack Kearns, Dumb Dan Morgan, Jack Hurley and others is one of the major weaknesses of boxing today.

• His Lost Decisions

Once renowned as a classic brawler in and out of the ring, Walker doesn't touch the stuff anymore, even though he does public relations for a major national liquor concern. He is still a sturdy physical speciman living the quiet urban life.

Walker startled the Lions with his "confession that "I lost more decisions in my old Kingston place (Hole-in-the-Wall) than in the ring." The delightful session ended on this historic, if hilarious, footnote.

Rep. Celler Vows to Continue Battle Against Pro Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high cost of signing players is a major reason why National and American Football League owners want to merge, says Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

"They are poor labor negotiators and are asking Congress to rescue them from their own ineptitude and folly," says Celler, chairman of the House antitrust subcommittee.

Passage of a bill exempting the merger from the antitrust laws is regarded as a certainty. But Celler, who had hoped to hold up the legislation until he could explore its consequences fully in public hearings, is going down fighting.

He said Tuesday he will try to eliminate the merger provision from an administration tax bill, to which the Senate added it in a maneuver to get around Celler. There was a possibility the bill would come up in the House today.

Celler said the hearings that were held made it clear the desire for a common draft that would end the bidding between leagues for star players was a powerful factor in launching the merger.

Charges Abuses

Celler said when the merger is given antitrust immunity, the owners will have virtually unlimited power over the players, who he said would have to play for the team that drafts them at the price offered or not play at all. And the players would have no safeguard against abuse, he said.

"This would not be permitted in any other business," he said. "Now when a player is abused, he may bring an action under the antitrust laws. After this bill is enacted he will have no direct and effective remedy. It is a shameful thing to do to any group of employes."

The Senate, which twice passed the bill unanimously, never held any hearings on it.

Celler said the senate action of forcing acceptance of the merger provision as part of an important tax bill, with no chance to consider it separately, was "an affront to the deliberative process of Congress."

OCS, Minisink Harriers Tie

Onteora and Minisink Valley tied with 33 points each and host school Wallkill finished with 50 in a triangular cross country meet Tuesday. It was the first cross country triumph for Onteora over Wallkill since 1959.

Bill Wilbur of Minisink took individual honors over the 2.5 mile course, being timed in 12:49. Craig Hubbell and Homer Miller of the Indians finished second and third.

Coach Bernie Stahl's Indians, who now have a 7-1-1 record, will take part in the Fordham University meet Saturday at Van Cortland Park in New York.

Game Is Sellout

Army to Host Pitt Saturday

WEST POINT — Army moves into the second half of its 1966 football season with a 4-1 record Saturday, well ahead of the victory pace of recent years. Those four wins match the victory output of each of the past two seasons.

The target for this week at Michie Stadium is Pittsburgh, a team as new in as many ways as the Cadets are, but one which hasn't enjoyed the success Army has.

The Panthers have a 1-4 record to date, that win coming against West Virginia, 17-14. In other games, Pitt lost to UCLA, 57-14; Duke, 14-7; California, 20-15; and Navy, 24-7.

Army's only defeat was by a 35-0 score to unbeaten Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 squad. The Cadets won over Kansas State, 21-7; Holy Cross, 14-0; Penn State, 17-0; and Rutgers, 14-9.

Resemble Middies

Coach Dave Hart, formerly an assistant at Navy, has come up with a team that resembles the Middies in many ways. They are smaller than the Pitt teams of the past, employ the I formation and aren't reluctant to throw the ball. Quarterback Ed James handles the passing chores and with good success. Through the first four games he was ranked 19th nationally in total offense.

Army finds itself with an offensive backfield problem — the case of the fading fullback. Just when things looked good, veteran Mark Hamilton went out with a bruised thigh and reserve Chuck Jarvis hurt his knee. That put two of the top three groundgainers out and it was evident against Rutgers last Saturday. Halfback Carl Woessner rolled up 77 yards in 19 carries, and grabbed four passes in addition.

The fullbacks playing after Hamilton left the game early in the first period were sophomores Jodie Glore and Bob Allardice. Glore had seen action at Notre Dame the week before. The duo carried eight times and made 36 yards, offering hope for the weeks to come.

Coach Tom Cahill will work with offensive mentor Bill Meek to bolster the Cadet offense before the Pitt game. The passing attack produced but 62 yards at Rutgers, or seven completions in 20 attempts. So both the passing and running need attention.

The defense limited the Scarlet Knights to 34 yards rushing in 35 plays. The passing effort went for 132 yards, but the Cadets came up with three more interceptions, running their season total to an even dozen. Hank Uberecken has grabbed four of them to set the individual pace.

Bribe Charge New Headache For Man Who Has Had Many

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — At the end of the 1961 collegiate football season Charlie McClendon was offered two head coaching jobs—Kentucky and Louisiana State.

Kentucky was his alma mater. He played for the Wildcats under Paul (Bear) Bryant. The Kentucky post offered more money and a longer contract.

Nevertheless, McClendon — because he knew the personnel he would inherit—chose LSU—where he had been chief assistant under Paul Dietzel.

The soft-spoken native of Lewisville, Ark., has had one big headache after another as LSU's coach.

The latest is the arrest of Samuel Joseph Graziano, 26-year-old Baton Rouge barber, by the FBI on charges of tempting to bribe three Tigers backfield stars to shave points. The trio reported the bribe attempt to federal agents and cooperated closely with the FBI, which arrested Graziano Tuesday.

Didn't Know It

"I didn't know about it," said McClendon. "Of course I knew that the FBI had been working on gambling in general on LSU games for over a year but any further comment would have to come from the FBI."

McClendon assembled his squad later in the day and told them not to ask the trio—Gawain DiBetta, Billy Masters and Jim Dousay—any questions.

McClendon's biggest worries until now have been injuries and unsympathetic fans.

Each of his first four years saw McClendon lose his No. 1 quarterback because of injuries.

The Tigers went to a bowl each season, however, winning three and twice upsetting unbeaten squads.

Even with the key injuries, McClendon, who turned 44 two days ago, posted a record no other head coach can match for his initial four years as a chief mentor.

Three of the four years he wound up in the Top Ten and had a 32-10-2 record including post-season games. His 1966 club is 3-1-1.

Willie Davis NFL Lineman of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Davis does an all-pro job for Green Bay every Sunday afternoon but last week was something extra special. Something about playing the Chicago Bears seems to bring out the best in any Packer.

Rudy Bukich, having a mediocre year for the Bears, still had been thrown only once while trying to pass in four previous games. The Bears were proud of their pass blocking record. No more. Willie Davis plucked Bukich twice in one afternoon while the Pack rolled over the Bears 17-0.

While Willie was throwing himself over Bukich he was helping the Packers throw a blanket over speedy Gale Sayers, who was held to 29 yards in 15 carries.

"It was the finest defensive job I've ever seen since I've been playing in the league," veteran guard Fuzzy Thurston said.

"A great game," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "The kind of a a game Willie gives you every week."

Davis has been named by The Associated Press as the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League. Francis Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings was picked as the offensive star of the week.

Ski Guide Lists 120 NY Centers

Nine new areas have been added to the roster of ski centers in New York State to give the Empire State 120 areas for this winter season, according to the New York State Department of Commerce. A free guide, "Ski New York," issued by the Commerce Department, lists the centers and their facilities.

The number of slopes and trails are given, and the lifts at each area. Rental equipment and daily fees also are tabulated. The operation of the New York State Snow Reporting System is explained with telephone numbers of obtaining reports.

The general location of each center is indicated on a map. The 16-page booklet is illustrated with color photographs.

Purdue's Burke Is Best Lineman

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Burke boys—Frank Jr. and Chris—have a new football, and thanks to their dad, Purdue has the best shot at the Big Ten's berth in the Rose Bowl.

Frank Jr., 2, and Chris, 9 months, got the ball last Saturday night, a few hours after Frank Sr. grabbed it and scored the touchdown that gave Purdue a 22-21 victory over Michigan.

And for grabbing the ball after blocking a punt, Frank Sr. was named College Football's Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press today.

"When I got home Saturday night, the ball was the first thing my boys got hold of," said Burke, a linebacker, who at 27 is the oldest member of the Purdue squad.

Because Michigan State is ineligible to return to the Rose Bowl, the winner of the Purdue-Michigan contest would be considered the leading contender for the postseason classic.

Some seven minutes remained in the game, and Michigan's Stan Kemp dropped back a couple of yards in the end zone to punt. Burke broke through the Wolverine line at the snap.

"I kept charging," he explained, "then put my hand up in the air and blocked the kick."

The ball popped into the air, Burke outleaped the desperate Wolverines, pulled the ball in on the one and stepped gingerly into the end zone.

Burke, a 6-foot-1 215-pounder who played service football for three years in Germany, carried the ball off the field with him, surrending it only to his sons when he returned to Lafayette, Ind., that night.

Mexico City Altitude Rough On Little Olympic Athletes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "My chest was so tight, I thought it was going to pop and spew my ribs on the track," said 17-year-old Billie Gaines of Mullica Hills, N.J.

"At first, I almost blacked out — my eyes got woozy — but I took some deep breaths and was all right," said Tommie Smith of Los Angeles.

Even the sprinters now claim they are feeling the effects of Mexico City's 1½-mile altitude in their tune-up for the 1968 Olympic Games.

Smith, stringbean world record holder in the 200 meters and 220 yards, and Gaines, the amazing schoolboy from New Jersey, finished second and third, respectively, Tuesday to Cuba's veteran Enrique Figuerola in the 100-meter dash of the Little Olympics.

Both Figuerola and Smith were timed in 10.4 seconds, with Gaines one-10th of a second behind.

Smith, who along with other members of the U.S. track and field team didn't check in until Tuesday night, said he believed it would take at least two weeks at this altitude to get ready for the 100 and three weeks for anyone running 400 and above.

The United States extended its medal lead when a dark horse, Neil Steinhauper, who was not even listed with the official U.S. squad, won the shot put with 61 feet, 5 inches (18.72 meters). Smith got a silver and Gaines a bronze in the 100-meter dash.

This gave the Americans a total of 18 golds, 12 silvers and nine bronze compared with Russia's 13-11-9 ratio.

Valeriy Shorzkov of the Soviet Union won the high jump (2.12 meters, 6 feet, 11½ inches) and the Russians got a bronze in the 5,000 meters where Jurily Zuring finished third behind Colombia's Mohamed Gammoudix (14:20).

Poland scored a double when Ewa Klobukowska won the women's 100 meters (:11.3) and Irena Kirszenstein the broad jump (20-1¾). Other track and field titles went to Hilda Ramirez of Cuba, women's discuss (39.58 meters, 129-10¼); Van Eyk Vos of Holland, women's 400 meters (:45.7), and Roberto Frinolli of Italy, 400-meter hurdles (:49.6).

Olympic champion Jiri Daler of Czechoslovakia won the men's 400-meter individual pursuit in cycling while Jurgen Julitz of West Germany moved to the front after three events of pentathlon with Jim Fresley of Niles, Mich., an Army corporal at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Wiltwyck Names Mrs. Carpinelli

Wiltwyck Country Club women's division has elected Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli president for the 1967 season. She succeeds Mrs. Sidney Pauker.

Other officers named at the annual election meeting were Mrs. John Hall, secretary; and Miss Dorothy Kennedy, treasurer. Mrs. Werner Kolln was designated golf chairman.

Mrs. Pauker, the outgoing president, thanked all committees for their excellent assistance during the 1966 season. Miss Kennedy served as treasurer and Mrs. Gerald Overbagh was golf chairman.

Louisville Star Named Top Back

By MICHAEL SULLIVAN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Benny Russell, the Associated Press Back of the Week, credits a "quarterback's coach" with his development as a passer.

"Coach Frank Camp watches me continually," Russell said in an interview. "He doesn't give me a chance to get bad habits started."

The slender, soft-spoken University of Louisville senior from the tiny town of Jay in northwest Florida displayed no bad habits in passing and running 474 yards against Drake in a 66-28 victory last Saturday.

Russell threw four touchdown strikes and ran for two more — breaking a Louisville record set by Johnny Unitas, now of the Baltimore Colts, and becoming the school's first player named Back of the Week.

Russell, a future draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL, said frankly that he was not surprised by the team's performance.

"We were tight and tense, but right on the edge of jelling in those close ones we lost to North Texas State and Dayton," he said. "Against Drake our blocking and pass receiving was fantastic."

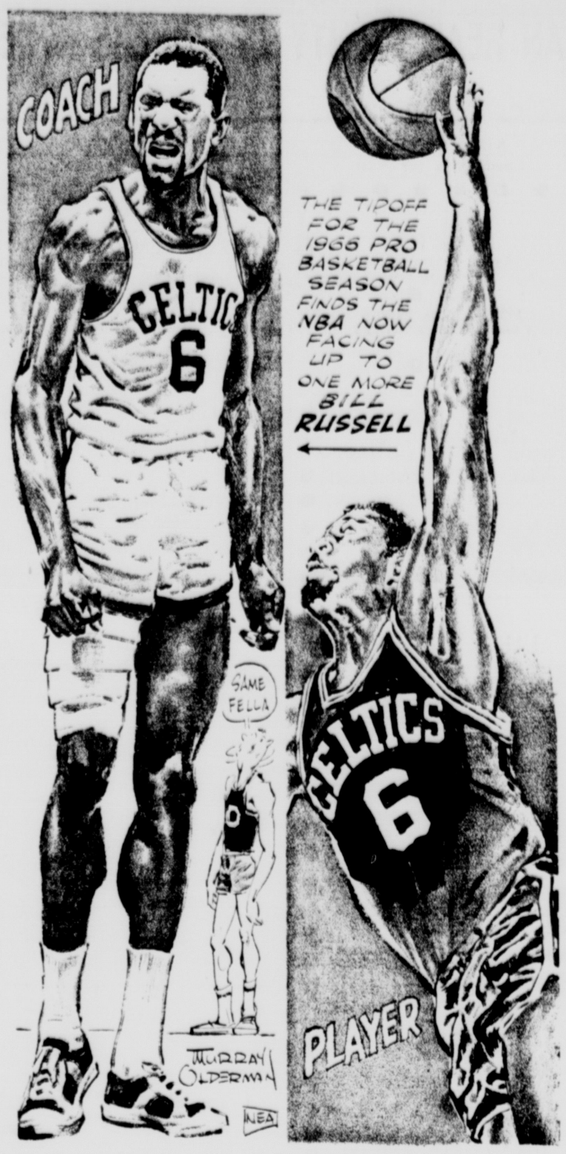

Last year, the Cardinals dropped two one-point decisions and finished 6-4. Now their record stands 2-2 and Russell says pre-season visions of a bowl trip are still alive.

Dolphins Claim Charger Faison

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Earl Faison, four-time All - American Football League defensive end placed on waivers by the San Diego Chargers, has been claimed by the Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-5, 265-pound Faison, rookie of the year in 1961, was waived by the Chargers Tuesday with a comment from coach Sid Gillman that Faison "will be better off with some other team."

SPLIT PERSONALITY

Roquepine Wins 100G U. N. Trot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The French mare Roquepine returns to her homeland today, fresh from a debut in the winner's circle in the $100,000 United Nations Trot.

The 5 - year - old captured the harness racing classic Tuesday night at Yonkers raceway, defeating native entries Speedy Rodney, Short Stop, Nobel Victory and Earl Laird.

Roquepine, the 7 - 5 favorite, let Noble Victory set the pace for the first mile, then took the lead and outlasted Speedy Rodney in the 1½ - mile event. Speedy Rodney broke stride at the finish, three-quarters of a length behind the mare, and was placed fourth, behind Short Stop and Earl Laird. The time was 3:06 1-5.

The Russian-owned entries of Apex Hanover was fifth and Osman, a 99-1 hazard, eighth.

Roeuqpine returned $4.80, $3.20 and $3.00. Her share of the purse was $50,000.

In Harness action at other tracks in New York State:

Saratoga Raceway — Lizzie Tish ($5.20) defeated Yankee Joy by 2 lengths and won the $1,500 trot in 2:07 2-5.

Batavia Downs—Director Pick ($12) won the $1,200 pace by 3 lengths over Lonesome Road in 2:09 2-5.

Vernon Downs—Miss Tar Heel ($6.80) posted her first win in 27 starts when she defeated Tarport Betty by 2½ lengths in the 800 pace. The time was 2:04 2-5.

Russell Is New Offense Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Russell's 472 yards gained in Louisville's 66-28 victory over Drake last Saturday night has moved the 6-foot-1 senior quarterback from Jay, Fla., into the total offense lead among the nation's major-college football players.

Statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that Russell's performance enabled him to climb from 15th place. He has gained a season total of 1,165 yards. Bob Davis of Virginia is second with 1,134 yards.

Pittsburgh Wins 3rd Hockey Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Hornets, stinging twice from the blue line within eight seconds, have run their early-season American Hockey League winning streak to three games.

The unbeaten Hornets snapped a 2-2 tie in the third period Tuesday night when defensemen Brent Hughes and Tony Geogan buzzed in long slap shots only eight seconds apart, then held off the Baltimore Clippers 4-3.

In the only other game scheduled, Quebec trimmed Buffalo 4-2 on goals by Wayne Hicks and Claude Laforge.

Nab Market Thieves

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When a market was robbed of $850 Tuesday a police helicopter and 29 prowl cars roared after two men who had fled on foot after abandoning their getaway car.

One man was quickly caught, but the other eluded officers long enough to knock on a door and ask a housewife if he could use her telephone.

He called a cab.

But officers said they caught him an hour later with most of the loot.

Deer Permits Due By the Weekend

The State Conservation Department today assured New York deer hunters anxiously awaiting the Oct. 25 opening of the northern zone big game gunning season that validated permits to take a deer-of-either-sex would be in the hands of sportsmen by the weekend.

The Department is currently processing approximately 27,000 permits for the northern New York areas "A", "B", "C", "M", and "N" and all northern zone permits will be in the mail by Oct. 21, a Department spokesman said.

Earlier this month, persons applying for the special permits were notified that a validated permit and party "armband" would be returned prior to the start of the gunning season. Under New York's party-permit program, a group of hunters may take a deer-of-either-sex in addition ot the one deer legally allowed individual members of the party. Only the party member wearing the "armband" may shoot the "bonus" deer.

The Department also said it will begin mailing an additional 38,000 southern zone permits on Oct. 24. The gunning season in the State's southern and western areas starts Nov. 21.

Bass New Leader In NFL Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Bass skipped past the idle Leroy Kelly in the National Football League rushing race over the weekend but the Cleveland halfback still is first on average gain.

Because of the weekly bye in the NFL, the individual statistics are tricky this season. At the end of the year everybody will have played 14 games but right now Bass and the Los Angeles Rams have played six and Kelly's Browns have played only five.

Bass has 489 yards but a 4.9 average. Kelly has 465 but averages 5.5. Ernie Green of Cleveland, fifth in total yardage, also has a better average than Bass with 5.3.

Bart Starr of Green Bay took over the passing lead in the standings based on a combination of percentage of completions, 62.9, touchdowns, eight percentage of interceptions, 2.3 and average gain, 9.18.

U.S. Losses About $8 Million In Taxes From Twin Double

NEW YORK (AP) — Uncle Sam is reported to be an $8 million loser during the three-month harness race meeting at Yonkers Raceway that closed Tuesday night.

The figure — representing taxes never collected from twin-double winners because of fraud — was estimated Tuesday following the arrest of three more employes of the suburban raceway.

The twin double was abandoned at Yonkers two weeks ago. The management said it felt that an undesirable element was dealing illegally in the twin double. It said it had reported the situation to the Internal Revenue Service, and felt that abandonment of the twin double was the only way to clean things up.

A Million A Week

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau made the estimate of the government's tax loss — about 1 million a week during the approximately eight weeks that the twin double system was used.

Morgenthau said a high percentage of winning twin double tickets were cashed by "ten percenters," who defrauded the government of taxes due.

A bettor has to pick the winners of the last four races to win a twin double.

A number of winning tickets have been worth more than $100,000 each. A winner of more than $600 is obliged to identify himself (by a Social Security card or something similar) for tax liability purposes before a cashier at any racetrack would pay him.

Here's where the "ten percenter" gets in the act. He cashes someone else's winning twin double ticket, and usually gets 10 per cent of its value. He might use stolen credentials or his own Social Security card. The three were accused of introducing winners to ten percenters.

Three Arrests Made

The three new arrests raceway employes were made by federal agents Monday night, and announced Tuesday. The three, all employed in the parimutuel department that sells tickets and cashes winning tickets, were charged with aiding and abetting fraud and making false statements to the Internal Revenue Service.

The arrests brought to 38 the number of Yonkers Raceway employes arrested. Undercover agents of the Treasury Department were at the track nightly during the meeting that just closed.

Morgenthau said: "We don't think by any means we've arrested everybody involved. The investigation is still going on."

The three arrested were listed as Harry Tandler, 58, of Jersey City, N.J., also a lawyer and an investigator for the Veterans Administration; Henry F. Smith, 51, of Yonkers, and Martin Levinstone, 47, of Manhattan, a lingerie salesman during the day.

Tandler's home is at 260 Harrison Ave., and Smith's at 162 Bennett Ave.

The three men were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishopp and released in $50 bail each for federal grand jury action.

Wilson Is Hailed For Ending Long Meredith Streak

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis safety Larry Wilson has ended Dallas quarterback Don Meredith's string of 156 passes without an interception this season.

The rangy, 6-foot, 190-pound Wilson was falling backward Sunday when he grabbed the ball that had been intended for a first-quarter Cowboy bomb.

"You have the greatest free safety in the game in Larry Wilson—and I hope you know it," said Dan Reeves, the Cowboy who scored the only Dallas touchdown in the 10-10 tie between the two unbeaten National Football League Eastern Division teams.

Reeves spoke to a St. Louis Quarterback Club luncheon the day after the game.

Wilson's steal was the first of three for the ball-hawking Cardinal secondary in the battle with the aerial-minded Cowboys who have scored 16 of their 26 touchdowns this season by passing.

Jerry Stovall and Jim Burson each picked off one of Meredith's tosses.

Bob Hayes, the fleet Dallas flanker who has caught most of Meredith's passess this season, was held to a meager 24 yards on only three pass receptions by the sticky defending of Wilson.

"Our front four was giving Meredith the big rush," said Wilson, the seven-year NFL veteran from Utah who has intercepted 24 passes in his career. "They were rushing him and we were keeping on the receivers pretty good most of the time."

That Cardinal defense severely limited the Cowboy offensive powerhouse that has averaged 45.75 points a game in its four victories and one tie.

Tobin Rote Through With Denver Broncos

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos, who gave San Diego a future draft choice for the opportunity to sign up veteran quarterback Tobin Rote three weeks ago, put him on waivers Tuesday.

Rote had been retired for a year and a half when the American Football League team talked him into playing for them. He appeared in three games for Denver, but saw a total of less than five minutes action.

Release Piersall

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Veterans Jimmy Piersall and Frank Malzone have been released by the California Angels' baseball club.

But the colorful Piersall will get a chance to make the team during 1967 spring training, said General Manager Fred Haney Tuesday.

Michigan State, Irish Saturday Grid Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — There were exactly 7,291 persons who picked all 15 winners in last week's football contest conducted by the New York Daily News. This forecaster had 47 correct picks among the 61 major college games played.

Here's hoping for improvement with this week's major predictions:

Michigan State over Purdue: Each had a rugged game last weekend but the game is being played in East Lansing and that should be enough to spur Michigan State to super efforts.

Notre Dame over Oklahoma: The Irish showed against North Carolina that they can gain on the ground, too, by unleashing Nick Eddy. That's too much for the rebuilding Oklahomans.

Alabama over Vanderbilt: With ease.

Nebraska over Colorado: Unless the Buffaloes are higher than their Rocky Mountain altitude. Bob Churchich continues to guide the Huskers toward their fourth straight Big Eight title.

UCLA over California: Mel Farr and Gary Beban too much for the Bears.

Dartmouth over Harvard: It is only midseason, but the Ivy League title likely will be decided in this one. Harvard is the surprise of the league.

Florida over Louisiana State: Steve Spurrier will win this one for Albert, the Alligator.

Baylor over Texas A&M: This could be the greatest aerial battle since World War II with the Aggies' Edd Hargett and Baylor's Terry Southall doing the flinging.

Arkansas over Wichita: By whatever score the Porkers wish.

Southern California over Clemson: The Trojan defense has allowed only 30 points this season, but the club will be without Don McCall, its ace running back this week.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: The New Orleans Greenies are on the way back but haven't progressed far enough to beat Tech.

NHL Commences Season Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

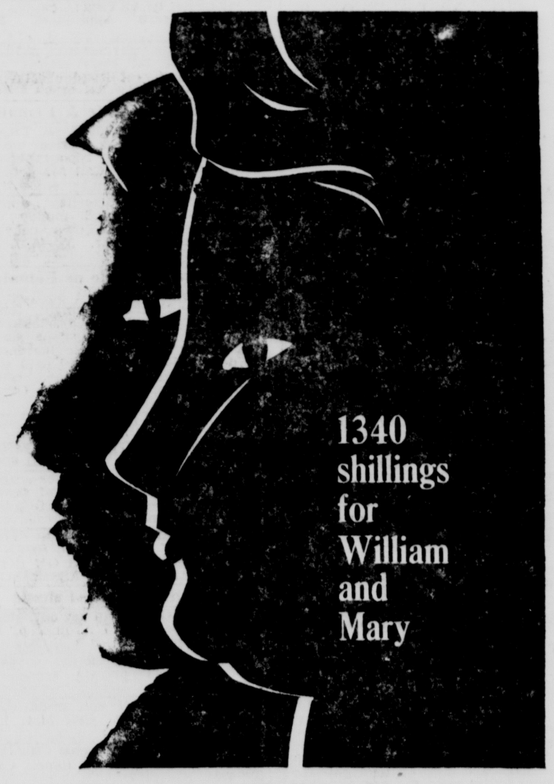

The Chicago Black Hawks, led by 54-goal scorer Bobby Hull, invade New York and the Detroit Red Wings, sparked by 20-year wonder Gordie Howe, visit Boston as the National Hockey League — a year away from mass expansion—begins its 50th season tonight.

Tonight's openers — and the Montreal and Toronto sendoffs Saturday night — will be the last for the NHL as a six-team circuit. The league will be doubled next season with the formation of a second division, with franchises in Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Minneapolis-St. Paul and St. Louis.

Hull, who scored his record-breaking 51st goal last season against the Rangers, may find the current New York club less vulnerable. The Rangers, who slipped into the league cellar in 1965-66, are bigger, hungrier — and "25 per cent improved," according to peppery Emil Francis, their general manager-coach.

Detroit's Howe, 38 years young and 624 goals rich, starts his 21st NHL campaign against the young Bruins, whose brightest prospect, defenseman Bobby Orr, was born during Gordie's third year in the league.

The Canadiens and Maple Leafs each open at home Saturday night, Montreal entertaining the Bruins and Toronto taking on the Rangers.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employers engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y., 10452, WYandotte 2-1235.
IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

LIFE INSURANCE
SALES
ADVISORY SERVICE
Are you interested in investigating an opportunity in life insurance sales? Are you confused by ads, offers, salaries, training allowances and promises? Would you want to be reasonably sure that IF you belong in the business, you start in the RIGHT Agency for You?
If the answers to these questions are "Yes"—we can help you!
WE will WITHOUT fee give you a battery of Aptitutde Tests in addition to in-depth interviews. We will, WITHOUT FEE, direct you to the Agency which best suits your personality, abilities and needs.
Yes, we are associated with a leading Agency of a major company. However, we are rather selective for what we consider a unique operation and we have found that many candidates who are not quite right for our connection may succeed in other fine life agencies.
Therefore, in return for the opportunity of getting the "first look" at you we can afford to give you the advantage of our experience and advice in locating the best life insurance connection for you. If you are right for us we offer up to $10,000 plus commission.
Send us your name and telephone number to Box 22, Downtown Freeman for a confidential interview. All replies answered.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Board Sets Hearing on Tax Relief; Advertises Truck

Saugerties Village Board has set the date for a public hearing to discuss possible tax relief for senior residents of the Village of Saugerties. The Saugerties Town Board has already held such a hearing, which elicited much interest and a large attendance. As a result, the Town Board adopted a resolution to give tax relief to residents who qualified under the law.

The Village Board hearing has been called for Monday, Oct. 24, at 8 p. m., in the Roger Donlon Auditorium. Based on results of the hearing, residents of the village who are 65 years of age or older, own real property and have an income of $3,000 or less yearly, could receive a 50 per cent reduction in assessed valuation next year, thus giving them some relief from high taxes.

ing Monday night, the board voted to advertise for bids on the purchase of a four-wheel drive truck. Bids are being asked on a heavy duty truck for use in snow removal and other major highway jobs and will be opened Oct. 27, at 8 p. m. in the office of Village Clerk James V. Gage. Purchase of the truck will be one of the major expenditures of the village this year. Specifications on this piece of equipment are now available at the office of the village clerk.

1,000 Hats Distributed

At this week's meeting, members of the board heard Fire Commissioner Donald R. McCaig report that during Fire Prevention Week here, more than 1,000 fire hats and fire badges were given to the children of Saugerties. McCaig thanked the area news media for the fine publicity given to special activities during the week. He also thanked all local volunteer firemen for the time and effort spent in promoting Fire Prevention Week. He noted that on Saturday, the siren will be sounded at 1 p. m. to kick off the local Muscular Dystrophy Fund Drive, when men from all fire companies will canvass the village door-to-door for this worthy cause. The commissioner also reported that the pump on the R. A. Snyder Hose Co. truck is being repaired and the truck should be back in service this Friday.

Street Commissioner Maurice L. Clements noted that work is progressing on the new water main being installed on Dock Street. He suggested that the village clerk again write to the Saugerties Town Board, requesting relief on highway taxes for village residents. Clements received permission to spend up to $250 for the purchase of 50 trees to be used to start a tree bank at the reservoir property in Blue Mountain. These will also be used to replace dead trees which have been felled throughout the village.

A request by Parks Commissioner Richard J. Underhill that the board send a letter to the Seamon Park Board, congratulating this group on the beauty of the local park and thanking them for the fine job they are doing, resulted in a vote to write such a letter.

3 Teams Tied For Lead in Dartball League

The early tie in Saugerties Dartball League standings, which has been see-sawing back and forth since the season opened, showed three teams locked in first place this week. Only two weeks ago, six teams were slugging it out for the lead and all were tied for first place with four games won and two lost.

Following tough games Monday night, Quarryville, Centerville and Malden-West Camp stand on the top rung of the ladder, with eight games won and four lost.

In play this week, two teams scored sweeps, with High Woods besting Centerville Vols 3 to 0 and Saugerties Contractors scratching off Southside Men's Club by the same verdict.

All other games played ended in 2 to 1 splits, as follows: American Legion over Cementon; West Camp over Golden Eagles; Malden-West Camp over Quarryville; and Centerville over Trinity.

Standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Quarryville	8	4
Centerville	8	4
Malden-W. Camp Vols	8	4
Trinity	7	5
Contractors	7	5
Golden Eagles	6	6
West Camp	6	6
High Woods Sports	6	6
American Legion	6	6

M-WC Auxiliary Elects Officers

Mrs. Dorothy Emerick, of Evesport was elected president of Malden-West Camp Fire Company Auxiliary at the annual meeting Tuesday night at Malden fire station.

She succeeds Mrs. Margaret Moose, who headed the auxiliary for the past two years.

Others elected were Mrs. Marion Pesce, first vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Tienken, treasurer; Mrs. G. Sowles, recording secretary, and Mrs. Martha Gardner, corresponding secretary.

The next regular meeting will be held at West Camp fire station on Tuesday, Nov. 15 at 8 p. m. Eighteen members were

3 Canadians Face Bogus Bill Charges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Three Quebec residents face a U.S. commissioner today on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 Canadian bills in the Saratoga Springs and Glens Falls areas.

Arrested Tuesday by State Police and Saratoga Springs police were Roland Masson, 39, Louise Pepin, 34, both of Montreal, and Ovila Allard, 48, of Aston Jonction.

Troopers said the trio had been in the Upstate area for about a week. They added that a total of $1200 in bogus bills had been reported passed during that time.

The three were brought to Albany in the custody of U.S. Secret Service agents.

Arrives in Viet Nam

Army Private First Class Frederick J. Van Amburgh, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Amburgh Sr., Route 9W, Marlboro, just arrived in Viet Nam with the main elements of the 4th Infantry Division. One brigade of the division — 4,000 strong — arrived ahead of the main body on Aug. 6. The unit was last stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

P.F.C. Van Amburgh is a grenadier in Company A of the division's Second Battalion, 12th Infantry. He entered the Army in December 1965.

Call Off Search For Young Girls, Were With Friend

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP)— Two young girls, who were the objects of a search Monday by State Police and bloodhounds, were found late Tuesday night in the apartment of an older girl friend here.

The girls, Linda Starkweather 16, and Carolyn Pries, 12, both of the nearby hamlet of Johnson, were taken home by police.

State Police, using bloodhounds, began their search Monday night in a densely wooded area about eight miles east of here, after the girls' parents had reported them missing.

The search was abandoned after four hours when, police said, a note that the girls were running away was found in Linda's bedroom.

Linda lives at 1948 Johnson Creek Road, and Carolyn at 1932 Johnson Creek Road.

Plan Vote on $30,000 Bond Issue for New Fire Trucks

Continued expansion of housing buildings and a new school in Centerville Fire District has created a need for expanding and improving the volunteer fire service inn that area.

To meet this vital protection need in the district, the Board of Fire Commissioners has been conducting a study of the district for the past year. Recently the board concluded that additional and more modern fire fighting equipment is needed.

Nearly Doubled

In 1956 the assessed valuation of the fire district was $1,451,071. The latest figure on the assessment rolls is $2,205,595 which is expected to increase this year to more than double the 1956 total.

The district is protected by two firecompanies, Centerville and Cedar Grove. Each company houses two district trucks. One in Cedar Grove is a tank truck.

Both are volunteer companies and its members and officers serve without compensation.

In addition to the many new homes and buildings, the district also protects the new Dr. Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Blue Mountain.

The commissioners announced this week that plans are under discussion for the purchase of two Pioneer-American La France 750-gallon pumper trucks, one for each firehouse in the district. The trucks have two-cycle diesel motors, six cylinders and are equipped complete with 750 gallon-per-minute pumps, two reels of high pressure booster hose equal to 1,250 gallons of regular water pressure. Each truck holds five men forward.

Service and maintenance is available in Kingston. The cost of the trucks complete is a total of $41,850.

Purchase of the new equipment will require the floating of a $30,000 bond issue with the remainder of the money taken from the district's current budget.

The commissioners plan to keep the two older trucks in the district, both 1947 Dodges, for the additional service of fighting brush fires and other emergencies.

Purchase of the trucks will also require expansion of housing facilities at both fire stations, already in the early planning stages. The cost of the fire station expansion is borne by the individual fire companies at no cost to the taxpayer.

Members of the commissioner's board include Percy Mower, chairman; Robert Thein, secretary; John C. Paige, Francis Wolven, and Foster Finger.

Arrangements will be announced for voting on the bond issue and estimated tax rate to pay off the bond in five years.

Has Rolling Car Trouble

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — When Evelyn Carson parked her car on the crest of a small hill recently, she noticed that the car in front of her had begun rolling forward.

In it were two children.

She chased the rolling car, jumped in and stopped it seconds before it would have rolled into a busy intersection.

Her own car, meanwhile, rolled backward down the opposite side of the hill, into a parking lot and struck a truck. No one was injured.

Dissidents Could Doom Ky's Unity Plan for Manila

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's on-again-off-again political crisis exploded again today as seven southern civilian Cabinet members insisted today that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky accept their resignations immediately.

Tries to Woo Some

Ky was said to have accepted the resignations but was reported trying to win three or four of the ministers back and to fill the other vacancies with new men.

The dissident ministers' action appeared to doom efforts by Ky to patch up a facade of unity for the Manila conference on Viet Nam next week. He was expected to minimize the significance of the crisis at the Manila meeting but he will be unable to hide the fact that South Viet Nam is still wracked by unresolved political pains.

Shrugs Off Crises

"There have been many crises," Ky told newsmen earlier this week. "One more or less doesn't make any difference."

But an announcement of the ministers' resignations, attributed to high government officials, also contained statements that could prove highly embarrassing to Ky at Manila and provide Communist North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong with propaganda fodder.

The ministers said they were concerned that South Viet Nam "is becoming a police state," that the military should "stop poking their noses into business they know nothing about," and that they had demanded "the government show some signs of accomplishing something to better the life of the people in general."

Those Who Resigned

The dissident ministers, who said they put their resignations on Ky's desk this morning, included Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien, and Finance Minister Au Truong Thanh, both members of South Viet Nam's delegation to the Manila meeting.

The crisis stems from resentment by South Vietnamese natives in the Cabinet against domination of the government by men from North Viet Nam who came south after the Communists took over in 1954.

Ky and most of the military men who hold the real power are northerners. Civilians in the Cabinet, including most of the southerners, have been confined largely to administrative roles.

Governor Unveils

Rockefeller described the battle for a third term as "the toughest I've ever been in."

Later, in Syracuse, Rockefeller encountered his largest and most enthusiastic audience of the long day when he spoke at a public affairs lecture sponsored by the Syracuse University Maxwell School of Citizenship.

There, Rockefeller outlined a proposal to appoint regional coordination officers to help state and local governments work out problems requiring large- scale planning.

The officials, one from each of the state's 12 planning districts, would also coordinate projects and plans involving the federal, state and local governments, he said.

Hotly Defends Party

A brisk question and answer period found Rockefeller hotly defending the Republican Party. He was asked if he thought that because Republicans in Congress did not support the civil rights law this year they could be regarded as the party of reaction.

Rockefeller flushed and his voice took on an edge as he said that it was a Democrat responsibility to get the bill through. He noted that the Democras control both houses of Congress by wide margins.

"So lets not blame it on the Republicans. This is an issue that goes beyond politics. I think it affects all people, no matter what their party."

The governor also toured highway construction areas in Syracuse and gave a brief welcoming address to the National Conference of School Superintendents meeting in Syracuse.

The new Institute for Heart Research, Rockefeller said today, would be operated by the State Health Department and its location near Roswell Park would save money through joint utilization of many facilities.

Seven-Story Building

Rockefeller said the seven-story building would provide modern laboratory services to aid in studying heart disease and would also provide for three degrees of care.

Some units would have fully monitorized beds for acute cases, others would be semi-monitored for continuing care and the third section would provide for diagnosis and research.

Rockefeller noted that heart disease accounts for 40 per cent of all deaths in the state each year.

In addition to the study of heart diseases, research at the new center will also include diseases of the kidneys and blood vessels, Rockefeller said.

PUSH-BUTTON FARMING may not be such a farfetched idea if technology continues the rapid pace of recent years in lightening the farmer's load. A new development is a remote-control system for tractors consisting of a transistorized radio transmitter, held by the farmer at left, and a receiver mounted on the tractor. Called "Teletractor IV," it is being demonstrated by the Ford Motor Co. in rural areas of Switzerland. At right, the farmer pushes buttons to put the driverless tractor through its paces in the field.

Governor Cites GOP Record As O'Connor Hits Successor

By JON KAPSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

Gov. Rockefeller itemized his record before Upstate voters today, while Democrat Frank D. O'Connor challenged the GOP administration's history during a Long Island tour.

The Republican governor listed addresses today in Buffalo, Fulton, Lowville and Watertown and said he had provided "good schools, good roads, a good economic climate where jobs and business flourish, and a good, hard fight against pollution of the environment."

Charges 'Smear'

Meanwhile, O'Connor traveled to Nassau and Suffolk counties, fresh from an onslaught in which he characterized his successor as Queens district attorney, a Republican, as engaging in a "vicious, nasty, deliberate political smear."

Besides the two major candidates, Conservative Paul L. Adams set forth for a news conference in the Capitol at Albany today, and Liberal candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. strived for votes in the New York City area.

In New York Tuesday, O'Connor accused Nat Hentel, who was appointed Queens district attorney by Rockefeller, of leaking to the New York World Journal Tribune information that a grand jury was investigating the "disappearance" of a 1957 police report on gangster - labor racketeering from police files.

Gives Excuse

The New York City Council president said no action was taken on the report when he held the Queens position because he and his aides decided it was all hearsay with nothing concrete.

"I say Hentel is responsible for this leak and Hentel is Rockefeller's personal appointee. Let the public draw its own conclusions," O'Connor said and departed today on a handshaking, meet-the-voters tour in the Long Island counties.

Elsewhere on the newspaper front, Rockefeller gained further endorsements today, including an editorial vote of approval from the New York Times, which said the state "has a long tradition of electing first - class governors."

Of O'Connor, the Times said, he "had an unimpressive legislative career in Albany" and "is clearly allied with and backed by the tired old party hacks and hangers-on."

More Labor Support

Additional support brightened the governor's 15-hour campaign tour Tuesday when labor leaders representing about 60,000 members threw their weight behind Rockefeller.

Among the labor groups were the 40,000-member State Conference of Musicians and 12 Rochester-area unions.

Turning to other matters, Rockefeller announced plans in Buffalo today for a $5 - million Institute for Heart Research, to be located near the Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

Besides health programs, aid to education lingered in the background as Rockefeller said such aid was "the big imponderable factor" in determining the state's future tax picture.

Evades Talk on Taxes

Rockefeller, whose mind obviously was on his "no tax increase" pledge of 1962 and his subsequent admission that the pledge was a "blooper," declined to commit himself on a tax program.

"But," he said Tuesday, "what the public school system, which is the biggest consumer of state money," demands in the future "will be the key to what happens in that area."

At the same time, Roosevelt came out against repeal of the Blaine amendment to the state constituion that bans public aid to parochial schools.

Roosevelt, speaking in Seneca Falls, became the first candidate to discuss the issue, which provoked a court battle earlier this year and is expected to raise a storm at next year's constitutional convention.

Roosevelt, an Episcopalian, said proponents of repeal assert that the Blaine amendment was passed in 1894 in a wave of anti-Catholic feeling.

On the contrary, he said, the amendment was supported by Catholics, who felt that an 1844 constitutional amendment did not adequately prevent teaching of Protestantism in public schools.

Roosevelt also predicted it would be too expensive to repeal the amendment. To give free textbooks to parochial school pupils, he said, would cost the state $500 million.

Report Soviet A-Test

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — A new Soviet underground test explosion in the Semipalatinsk test area in central Asia was recorded today by the seismological institute here.

The blast was around three times as strong as explosions in the same area Aug. 5 and Sept. 30, institute head Marcus Baath said.

Asked whether he could say if the underground explosion definitely was a nuclear test, Baath replied: "We never use the term nuclear explosion. You have to be very careful about conclusions as we have no possibility to distinguish between various explosions.

"However, the location of this explosion in the Semipalatinsk area — said to be the Soviet counterpart of the U.S. nuclear testing site in Nevada — certainly points strongly toward a nuclear test as the explosion is similar to previous ones there identified as such."

Thruway Driver Gets Gasoline, Forgets to Pay

A Maryland motorist was apprehended on the State Thruway north of Kingston Tuesday afternoon and later turned over to Newburgh State Police to face a charge of petty larceny involving the alleged failure to pay for gasoline he purchased.

Sergeant Henry Ganss of the Thruway detail, Kingston, said Columbus Gallaway, 28, of Baltimore, Md., stopped on the superhighway near Newburgh when his car ran out of gasoline. A service truck provided gasoline and Gallaway allegedly drove off without paying and headed north.

Troopers in this area were notified by radio and Gallaway was stopped about two miles north of Kingston. He was charged with driving a motor vehicle with unsafe tires. Taken before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster, the motorist was held in $20 bail until Newburgh troopers took him in custody on a warrant charging petty larceny.

Gallway was returned to Newburg for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Angelo Darrigo.

Obey Court Order

6,000 Employes Of GE Return To Jobs Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Obeying a federal court order, more than 6,000 employes were returning to their jobs today at a General Electric Co. plant near Cincinnati, Ohio, that produces jet engines for a type of warplane used extensively in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department was reported keeping tabs on strikes at eight other GE plants in five states to see if any of these stoppages is slowing war production.

U.S. Dist. Judge Carl A. Weinman issued a temporary injunction in Dayton, Ohio, Tuesday ordering the striking workers at the Evendale, Ohio, GE plant back to their jobs. Acting on a request initiated by President Johnson under the Taft-Hartley Act the judge halted the walkout for an 80-day cooling-off period.

The White House said Johnson plans no action now against strikes at the eight other GE plants that have idled about 25,000 workers. It said the Pentagon is keeping an eye on the situation.

Striking members of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union and the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists began returning to their jobs at the Evendale plant at midnight.

The strike at the Evendale plant was over local issues, as are the disputes at the eight other GE plants. A nationwide walkout against the major defense supplier was averted last week when the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 other unions reached a national agreement with the company.

Lanesville

LANESVILLE — A2c Arthur (Bud) Devoti Jr., who just returned from Viet Nam is spending a furlough at his home here.

Steven Jennings of New York City and his brother John of Swan Lake, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Bowser.

Mrs. Alistar Mackenzie of Norwood, N. J., spent a few days with Mrs. Sydney Bowser. They called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Yerry in Shandaken Monday.

Miss Addie Jansen, formerly of Lanesville will be 90 years old on Wednesday, Oct. 19. She is now at the Bethel Methodist Home, at 19 Naragansett Avenue, Ossining, N. Y. 10562.

Mrs. Chauncey Schoonmaker of Phoenicia, Thomas Sickler of New York City, Mrs. Stella O'Keefe and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sickler will attend special memorial services Tuesday at Fort Eustus, Va., for the boys who were graduated in the class with Mr. and Mrs. Sickler's son, the late Specialist 4th Class Harry Joseph Sickler, and were killed in Viet Nam.

Resnick Gets Support Of Upper Hudson Labor

The Upper Hudson Labor Council, AFL-CIO, today unanimously endorsed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick for re-election because, "Joe Resnick has brought new hope and prosperity to the Hudson Valley."

The action by the Upper Hudson Labor Council makes a total of 42 major unions in the 28th Congressional District that are working actively in behalf of Congressman Resnick.

Harold Van Etten, president of the council, said, "In all my years as a union leader, I have never known a freshman congressman to get done nearly as much as Joe Resnick has accomplished for the people of the 28th Congressional District."

"By winning fight after fight for increased federal aid to our area, Congressman Resnick has brought new hope and prosperity to the Hudson Valley. This has meant thousands of new jobs for working people in the 28th District."

As union leaders and leaders on our local communities, we are proud of Joe Resnick's record of action in solving the problems of the hundreds of people who come to him for help. Union members will not soon forget Congressman Resnick's leadership in the fight for federal aid to education, his important vote in favor of medicare, his strong support for an increased minimum wage to stop industry from leaving the Hudson Valley, and his tremendous victory in the fight to save the veteran's hospital at Castle Point."

"Members of the 30 unions in the Upper Hudson Labor Council will campaign actively to insure that the 28th Congressional District can look forward to two more years of representation in Washington by a fighting Congressman, Joe Resnick."

Mother Gertrude Bodkin

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Rev. Mother Gertrude Bodkin, former provincial of all houses of the Roman Catholic Order of the Sacred Heart in the eastern United States, died Tuesday at the order's Kenwood convent here. She was 91.

Mother Bodkin was the eastern provincial for more than 20 years, beginning in 1932. She also had served as superior at Kenwood, at Manhattanville College and at Maplehurst, N.Y. and Greenwich, Conn.

She was a founder of Newton College of the Sacred Heart in Massachusetts.

A native of Ireland, she came to the United States in 1909 to serve as mistress of novices at Kenwood.

Will Not Award '66 Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian Nobel Committee decided after a two-hour meeting today not to award the Nobel Peace Prize for 1966.

First in 10 Years

It was the first time in 10 years the peace prize had been withheld and the 11th time since the award was established in 1901 under the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Under previous practice, the prize money now is held over until next year when the committee can decide whether to let it revert to the prize fund or award it.

The peace prize for 1965 went to UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund). In 1964 it went to the U.S. civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King.
